FESTIVAL OPENS SUNDAY

Drama Experts Arriving For 'Overture'

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Experts in various fields of drama from all parts of Canada converged on University of Victoria's Phoenix Theatre this morning.

Their arrival marked the beginning of a triple theatre conference that will serve as overture to the opening Sunday night of the Dominion Drama Festival finals at McPherson Playhouse.

This is only the second time in DDF history since it became a full-length play festival in the late 40s that the finals have been held in Victoria.

100 REGISTER

The three preliminary days of joint conference of Western Canadian Educational Theatre, Canadian Child Drama Association and Dominion Drama Festival, drew early registration this morning of close to 100, but many more were expected to arrive later in the day and on Saturday.

Western Educational Theatre and Child Drama held the stage today. Welcome and official send-off was given by Uvic president Dr. Malcolm Taylor.

Theme for the opening address was a broad one — Canadian Theatre, Here and Now. Speaker was Tom Hendry, executive secretary of the Canadian Theatre Centre and founder, with John Hirsch, of the Manitoba Theatre Centre.

Mr. Hendry referred to the Canada-wide burgeoning of theatre activity and the role played by some provincial governments—particularly Ontario, Quebec, Saskatchewan and Manitoba—where notable leadership has been shown.

ONE IN 20

But he balanced his optimism by pointing out only one million, or one in 20 Canadians go out to see live theatre, opera and ballet.

No one seems to know the reason why, he commented, but he felt that leadership at a provincial level, such as legislation to form a government arts council, would have an important bearing on the problem.

Tonight playwrights will gather in a workshop session with one of Canadian theatre's most outstanding women, Norma Springford, who was a DDF regional adjudicator last year.

Saturday's sessions will see the opening of the DDF conference with a keynote address by Guy Beaulne, Director General of Artistic Training, Department of Cultural Affairs, Quebec.

In the evening there will be a special conference performance of Ionesco's Rhinoceros by the Uvic Campus Players.

Driver of Fire Truck Charged

VANCOUVER (CP)—A summons charging criminal negligence has been issued against fireman James B. McGuckin, alleged driver of a fire truck involved in a collision which claimed two lives.

Police said the fire truck's full emergency equipment was operating March 10 when the truck, en route to a sawmill yard fire, smashed into the side of a car driven by Douglas Hoyt, 50, of Vancouver. Hoyt was killed.

Fireman Donald McCavour, 44, of suburban Burnaby, was thrown to the roadway on impact and died in hospital five days later.

The summons charges two counts of criminal negligence.

BIGGEST OF WAR

Massive Air Raid Hits N. Viet Nam

135 Missions Blast Targets

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots hit North Viet Nam with 135 missions in the greatest air raid of the Viet Nam war, a military spokesman said today.

The American air armada raged up and down the Communist nation Thursday, smashing military and communication targets and shot down a Communist MiG that Red China claims was hers.

The air force sent 86 missions and 7th Fleet carriers 49 missions over North Viet Nam, striking bridges, storage areas and automatic weapons sites near Hanoi, Dong Hoi and Vinh.

150,000 LABORERS

The pilots also returned to the Mu Gia Pass that leads into the main infiltration routes to the South. The pilots have been hitting the pass regularly for weeks, but the Communists consider it so important they have put an estimated 150,000 laborers to work clearing it.

It was 50 miles south of Red China and 105 miles northwest of Hanoi that a Phantom Jet blew apart a MiG-17 with a heat-seeking Sidewinder missile.

Communist China claimed American jets violated its air space and shot down the Communits plane while it was on a training mission in southern Yunan province 25 miles on their side of the border.

Meanwhile a Washington warning that North Viet Nam's three jet airfields may be bombed raised the possibility today of a stepped-up air war in Southeast Asia.

U.S. officials implied that the bombing of the airfields—an action which could be regarded as a major new step in the Viet Nam war—might take place if American planes began to suffer losses from MiG fighter attacks.

This was the first time the prospect had been raised that bombs would be dropped on the air bases, which are situated within a dozen miles of the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi.

Officials said the raids on N. Viet Nam Thursday destroyed two anti-aircraft sites, 18 railway boxcars, 13 warehouses, dozens of junks and cargo barges, several bridges and military warehouse. The navy struck along the coastal areas and the air force ranged further inland.

The largest previous U.S. air assault on North Viet Nam was on April 4, 1965, when U.S. pilots flew 250 sorties against the Communist nation.

Internal Split Complicates Lenkurt Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—A bitter labor dispute that has produced two days of chanting picket lines and open clashes with RCMP erupted in a different direction Thursday night.

A union business agent was deposed by international officers and some rank - and - file members chased after the man who said he was taking over.

The dispute started April 26 at the big electronics plant of Lenkurt Electric Co. in suburban Burnaby when about one-quarter of the 800 workers walked off their jobs in a disagreement over working overtime.

Lenkurt termed the walkout illegal and promptly fired all of the strikers, members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (CLC).

Scuffles that broke out Wednesday morning on the picket line changed Thursday morning into battles with three dozen RCMP officers called out to help non-striking Lenkurt employees get into the plant.

Eight pickets were arrested for obstructing or assaulting police officers. The pickets included members of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, the International Woodworkers of America and the Vancouver Labor Council.

STRIPPED OF POWERS

Thursday night an open split developed between Angus Macdonald, IBEW local president, and business agent Art O'Keefe. International IBEW officers stripped O'Keefe of his powers and gave them to Macdonald.

At a member's meeting Thursday night, Macdonald was thrown out, and O'Keefe accused international union leaders of breaking the union's constitution by interfering with the local's affairs.

China 'Invasion' Denied

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Air Force today strongly denied Peking's charge that American fighters intruded into China to shoot down a Chinese plane Thursday.

The air force said one of its missile-firing F - 4C Phantoms brought down a Communist MiG-17 over North Viet Nam 20 to 25 miles south of the Chinese border. A U.S. spokesman indicated the Americans think the plane was North Vietnamese, not Chinese.

China's first acknowledgment of any plane losses in the Vietnamese war placed Thursday's air battle northeast of Makwan, 25 miles north of the border, in China's Yunnan province. It called the incident "an act of war provocation" and said "the debt in blood owed by U.S. imperialism to the Chinese people must be cleared."

The spokesman said the American pilots did not see the markings on the Communist jets. The closest they got to any of the MiGs was 1¼ miles.

MARKINGS SIMILAR

North Vietnamese and Chinese aircraft markings are strikingly similar and would be difficult to distinguish at the supersonic speeds involved, he said.

Maj. - Gen. Gilbert Meyers, deputy U.S. Air Force commander in Viet Nam, cast doubt on speculation that the Chinese had committed their planes to the war. He told reporters: "We have no evidence that the Chinese have come in."

Meyers also said it was "inconceivable" that the Phantoms could have strayed into China Thursday. He said they were with an RB-66 which carries a highly experienced navigator and advanced radar and electronic gear.

Peking's New China news agency said five U.S. fighters attacked a training flight of Chinese planes at 4:17 p.m. Thursday and shot down one of the aircraft with an air-to-air missile. The type of plane was not specified.

The broadcast said the Chinese planes counter - attacked but the American aircraft fled to the southwest. No U.S. planes were reported shot down.

'Next Few Months Critical'

HONOLULU (AP)—Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, expects the next few months to be critical in the war, but adds "the war will not be over in a matter of months."

Westmoreland spoke to reporters in Honolulu Thursday on arrival for a week of conferences.

Asked if he had enough manpower to win the war he replied: "That depends entirely on the action of the enemy and the way the war develops during the future months."

There are indications, Westmoreland said, "that the North Vietnamese army forces are down in the south in strength and will attempt some major initiatives in the monsoon season."

The monsoon season has arrived and Westmoreland said it is "much more intensive this year than last year."

Westmoreland said "the political unrest seems to have settled down quite a bit although it remains quite a problem . . . in the three northern provinces."

"We're mired down in mud more than political problems at the moment," he said.

Heavy Snow, Rain

CALGARY (CP) — Heavy snow, turning to rain in several areas, fell across southern and southwestern Alberta today.

Thatcher Firmly Opposed To Export of Water to U.S.

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Saskatchewan government feels Canadian waters are not continental waters and would strongly oppose any program to export water to the United States, Premier Ross Thatcher said today.

Mr. Thatcher, speaking to the Canadian Club here, said there have been suggestions Canada should participate with the United States in a giant $100,000,000,000 research and diversion program but Canada must look after its own needs first.

"Let us not as a people lack the courage to make whatever investment is required to utilize this valuable resource. We can be pretty certain that if we don't develop our water resources sooner or later the Americans will."

He said there are 30,000 gallons of water available daily for per capita consumption in Canada compared with 5,000 gallons in the United States and 2,000 gallons in Europe.

"Let us make certain we conserve and make good use of this priceless resource."

Irrigation projects such as the South Saskatchewan irrigation project and plans to study the Nelson-Saskatchewan River basin will transform the Prairie economy but, Mr. Thatcher said, have only scratched the surface.

The premier said in view of the increasing water shortage throughout the world and the problem of water pollution, the Prairie Economic Council should give the matter top priority.

On taxation, Mr. Thatcher said present corporation tax rates of 51 or 52 per cent work a major hardship on expanding industry.

New Proposal Raised To End Civic Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new proposal for ending a civic outside workers' strike was presented by the union Thursday while the strikers staged a mass demonstration around the City Hall.

Their placards read: "City Council Settle Strike by Negotiations."

City council, meanwhile, scheduled a special meeting Monday to discuss the new union approach—a suggestion that the council and the union ask the provincial labor department to appoint a mediator.

Jack Phillips, secretary of the Civic Employees' Union (Outside Workers), declined to discuss the proposal so that nothing "provocative" might be said "in view of the fact we are moving close to a settlement."

Wilson Plea Rejected

WIRE BRIEFS

Extradition Starts

VANCOUVER (CP) — Extradition proceedings have begun against a former city accountant now living in San Francisco, wanted here in connection with an alleged swindle involving $1,023,420 in federal airport construction funds. The extradition hearing against John Blandy Jenkins, former comptroller of City Construction Company Ltd., opened in city police court Thursday.

Egg Heads Talk It Over Before Hatching

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Margaret Vince of Cambridge University says she has proved quail eggs send signals to one another in the 48 hours before they hatch.

She says they do this to make sure they all hatch together, although they were laid at different times.

The scientist has been working on this project for three years and reported in an interview Thursday:

"We have discovered that synchronization of the hatching in some species of birds—such as quail and one or two others—is due to the activity of the embryos themselves.

"The embryos make a clicking noise and these signals mean the embryos can either bring forward or retard the hatching time."

She said they can slow the hatching time of an advanced embryo.

"We have found they make sounds and movements almost continuously in the two days before hatching," she added. "Moreover, we can feed artificial signals to the embryos. We do this on a machine which amplifies the noises we have recorded from other embryos."

By tricking the eggs in this fashion, the scientist said, she and co - workers have been able to bring forward the hatching time.

"We have experienced trouble in trying to retard it," she added.

She said she believes the embryos make their signals by breathing and not by knocking on the inside of their shells.

"The eggs must be in actual contact with one another in the nests," she explained, "for the signals to get through."

She described her three years' work as fundamental research and said that she hopes in the years to come to discover much more about the hatchability of eggs and what effect the signals may have on the birds in later life.

In hatchings under natural conditions, the shorter the over-all time between the appearance of the first and the last chick, the lighter the nesting burden on the hen, which would be hard-pressed to guard and feed a lively bunch of chicks while still keeping unhatched eggs warm.

POLICEMAN INHERITS VAST KING FORTUNE

CHICAGO (UPI)—A spinster heiress to the King ranch fortune in Texas has willed her entire estate, which may be worth $10 million, to a Chicago policeman, "my dearly beloved friend."

Miss Alice B. Atwood, who died last Dec. 11 at the age of 85, was the granddaughter of Capt. Richard King, founder of the famed King ranch. The ranch once totaled more than a million acres.

The policeman is Michael J. de Bella, 34, father of five children. He has been on the police force for eight years.

De Bella is not related to Miss Atwood but had been friends with her for a number of years.

The will stated Miss Atwood's intention and desire to specifically disinherit two brothers and a sister. It was dated Dec. 2, 1964, and was admitted to probate April 1.

Most of Miss Atwood's wealth reportedly was her interest in about 100,000 acres of the King ranch, which has extensive oil production as well as cattle.

De Bella refused to discuss the matter.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Mayor A. W. Toone is pricked with a barbed needle in the current edition of Trade and Commerce, a magazine reporting on western Canadian business.

In a column one of the writers expresses his disappointment at not getting an interview with the mayor of the city "that always reminds us of a lavishly decorated spring hat we once stood and marvelled at in the window of a ladies' shoppe on Fifth Avenue, New York."

Victoria, he said, was "busy preparing for another avalanche of tourists" when he visited.

"The busiest man in Victoria is Mayor Toone. He is always too busy to grant interviews.

"What keeps him so busy we've never been able to fathom. Perhaps it has something to do with the flower pots that decorate corner lamp posts.

"A responsible, tourist-conscious mayor must spend a lot of time watching the pots . . . ."

The writer concluded the mayor shied away from an industrial promotion interview fearing that industry would pollute an enchanting city and sterilize the pots.

In any case, among the major cities of B.C. given feature treatment in the magazine, Victoria is a striking omission.

We get word from B.C. Telephone that in 1968 this province will gradually be introduced to the touch calling service. As you see in the picture, this means no more dialling—just push buttons.

Science is wonderful. We are waiting with bated breath for some future Space Age announcement that there will be a telephone which doesn't even require pushing a button. All you will do is speak a number into the mouthpiece!

ROUNDABOUT tries to satisfy every taste.

For those who say debutante balls belong to the past, that they cater to class-consciousness among the well-to-do more than honoring any real accomplishment by the young women presented, there will be satisfaction in this:

Nova Scotia's lieutenant-governor has dropped plans for the St. Andrew's Ball in November. Ontario and Saskatchewan quit debutanting earlier, after the Queen in 1959 said she would receive no more presentations at court and the governor-general of Canada followed suit. In fact, only British Columbia now persists in singling out a handful of girls for formal vice-regal presentations, complete with full-page press coverage which can only make the uninvited feel less worthy.

But those readers who revel in such traditions will be pleased to know that Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes plans to continue receiving debutantes at stylish balls, the Military Ball in Vancouver on Friday, the Trafalgar Ball in Vancouver in October and the United Services Ball at Victoria in November. However, none of these events will be in Government House, nor have they been for a decade at least.

Judge Drake

There are umpteen Victorians listed as descendants or relatives of titled British families in the new (164th) edition of Debrett this week. The six-pound, 3,000-page book could be the basis for an interesting local author with perseverance—and a great deal of time.

* * *

Word comes from Italy that Judge Montague Drake of Victoria County Court has been received by the Pope while visiting in Rome. Judge Drake is a member of Christ Church Anglican Cathedral. Not only did His Holiness overlook that, but he obviously also decided to let bygones be bygones in another. It seems that back in the days when Catholic Spain sent her Armada to defeat the English, it was one of the judge's ancestors, Sir Francis Drake, who clobbered the Papist dons.

Conservatives Gain Ground In U.K. Votes

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Wilson's Labor party lost more than 200 seats today in British municipal elections which produced a major swing to the Conservatives.

With more than 300 of the 323 results declared, the overnight score in seats for the two main parties was: Conservatives 286 gains and 27 losses; Labor 65 gains and 237 losses.

The Conservatives gained control of 11 municipal councils, including Birmingham, in central England, which had been Socialist-controlled for 14 years.

Other key Labor-held councils which fell to Conservatives included Leicester, Plymouth and Cardiff.

The Conservatives also carried 10 seats in the Labor stronghold of Liverpool.

But the slide toward the Conservatives was of little significance in terms of national politics. Only six weeks ago Wilson won the general election with a big enough majority to guarantee the Socialists five years power.

The 3,046 contested municipal seats were last fought in 1963 in the fading days of the Conservative administration. Labor then gained 44 extra seats at the expense of Conservatives and Liberals.

Reds Debate Influence Of West

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Communist ideological experts from eight nations are meeting in Moscow to discuss ways of combatting the influence of capitalist ideas, it was learned today.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said leading philosophers and sociologists began a conference in Moscow Thursday.

Countries represented are the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Romania and Yugoslavia.

The meeting reflects growing concern, especially in Russia, over the ideological education of young people, observers said.

The Russians also have shown themselves worried over the influence of Western broadcasts, now heard by millions of people here, and foreign movies and books.

COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—A diamond bracelet worth about $5,600, lost by Denmark's Princess Benedikte at the Tivoli Amusement Park last Sunday, was found under the seat of a roller-coaster car, police reported Wednesday.

Diefenbaker Promises Statement

WINNIPEG (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Thursday he is reading a transcript of the Munsinger inquiry and soon will "have something to say" about it.

"You shall hear something from me shortly on this matter," he told reporters at a press conference when he arrived in Winnipeg to address a Masonic lodge meeting.

He reiterated his criticism of Mr. Justice Wishart Spence's decision to release a summary of police reports on alleged statements by Gerda Munsinger.

McCARTHYISM

"It's simply hearsay and slander," he said, adding that it has "all the earmarks of errant McCarthyism."

The inquiry has heard testimony that Mrs. Munsinger was the mistress of Pierre Sevigny, former associate defence minister.

Mr. Diefenbaker said release of the police reports was designed to smear him but "it has had the reverse effect."

DANGER EXISTS HERE SAYS PORTEOUS

Fight Off the Empire-Builders!

The chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board says there is a danger that policy-making civic boards can become dominated by their technical staff.

Chairman John Porteous declined to say whether the Victoria board is already dominated by its paid administrative staff but admitted that elected board members had considered such a possibility.

EMPIRE-BUILDING

He was commenting on a statement Thursday night by Coun. R. A. McMath, Richmond, who told a meeting of the capital region branch of the Community Planning Association that empire-building often became the main concern of technical or administrative staffers.

"There is always the danger that they (policy-making boards) tend to become dominated by their technical staffs," Coun. McMath said.

"The statement doesn't surprise me," said Mr. Porteous. "They've been saying that in Richmond for some time. It is true that the danger exists."

SURVEY

Mr. Porteous said the school board is conducting a survey of all phases of board work from the policy-making machine to the work done by the technical staffers to see how real the danger is in Greater Victoria.

"I am not saying the Greater Victoria board is dominated by its paid staff but that the danger that it could be exists," Mr. Porteous said.

Central Saanich Reeve Gordon Lee, chairman of the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Health Board, said the danger might be real in other areas but that the health group is not dominated by its professional people.

INFLUENCED

"The health board isn't dominated by its technical staff," he said. "We are influenced by it, naturally, but that's far different to being dominated."

Reeve Lee added that financial controls, held by the provincial and municipal governments, prevented empire-building.

"With the respective senior governments contributing the majority of the funds to the board there are certain restrictions on the board," he said.

"As long as the governments have that control there cannot be any empire-building by the health board staff."

PACKFORD ELECTED

Prior to Coun. McMath's speech the capital region branch of the planning association held its annual election of officers.

Mrs. B. Levitz Packford was elected president, James Buchanan vice-president, Mrs. Marney Stevenson second vice-president and Frank Crocker treasurer.

Executive members elected were J. C. Cox, T. F. Isherwood, John Clark, Geoffrey Mitchell, Mrs. Elsie Shepherd, A. C. Baylis, Barry Squirrel, Mrs. F. V. Hinch, John E. Slemko, Mrs. T. S. Murphy, Millard Mooney and Freeman King.

MAO DOES HIS THINKING BESIDE QUIET LAKESHORE

AP correspondent John Roderick spent a total of six months during 1945-47 in Yenan while it was the Chinese Communists' capital. There he met Mao Tse-tung on many occasions.

MAO
. . . indirect control

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—The message said: "Mao Tse-tung reported dead. Please check." The year was 1946.

Now 72 years old, the chairman of the Chinese Communist party has perhaps had more demises and resurrections—on paper—than any other world figure.

Mao has emerged again after a six-month absence from public view during which all the old rumors and speculation were aired. Two photographs of him with Albanian Premier Mehmet Shehu somewhere in China show him in obvious good humor, looking healthier than ever, somewhat less gaunt than he seemed in photographs last year.

Despite this, U.S. officials in Washington continue to believe Mao's health is bad and power is slipping from his hands.

They may have some intelligence not available elsewhere. But there is nothing to be seen in Tokyo to support this, unless it is the actuarial tables on likelihood of illness.

The view here, based on study of Chinese publications and an analysis of the reports of diplomats and travellers from the mainland, is that Mao has not exercised day-to-day control of the government or party since 1959.

In that year, he stepped down as chairman, or president, of the Chinese People's Republic for the avowed purpose of devoting more time to the larger aspects of policy and problems.

Since then, Mao's absences from Peking have been more frequent and for longer durations. Generally he has sought the peace and quiet of the shimmering West Lake at Hangchow to work over his theories.

The results of his research have generally become apparent in the form of new rectification drives, campaigns to place the party in total control of the army, or movements, such as the one now in progress, to purge intellectuals, newspapermen, youth groups, the army and the party itself of those who waver toward the policies of the Soviet Communist party.

The Chinese undoubtedly timed the announcement of Mao's reappearance to coincide with detonation of the country's third nuclear device.

Though Mao's image as the sage and prophet of Chinese communism has been enlarged and dwelt upon at greater length in recent months, this appears to be linked not to his health but to the current campaign to bring straying intellectuals and others into line.

LODGE
. . . outlines policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, has told questioning senators that the United States favors "the widest possible participation" by South Vietnamese in their coming election.

Lodge has been in Washington since Monday for conferences with President Johnson and administration officials. He appeared before the Senate foreign relations committee in closed session Thursday.

Afterward, committee members said Lodge reported the administration policy is to encourage the widest possible participation both of voters and candidates, and that the U.S. government favors "free and credible elections."

In a Senate speech, Democrat Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut proposed a resolution that would call upon the president to seek UN supervision of the elections.

WON'T GIVE UP

At the United Nations, Secretary-General U Thant said he will never give up trying to settle the Viet Nam war even though disagreements among the major powers prevent the organization from being involved in any peace operation.

Thant had no comment on a statement by Senator Wayne Morse (Dem.—Ore.) that the United Nations should have a new secretary-general.

In another development, Senator Robert Kennedy (Dem.—N.Y.) called upon U.S. officials to invite China to discuss nuclear weapons control. "not only the fate of the United States, but that of the whole world may be at stake," Kennedy said in a Senate speech.

Marine Patrol Wiped Out

DA NANG (Reuters)—United States marines supported by artillery and air strikes killed 175 Viet Cong in a seven-hour battle in central South Viet Nam Thursday, a marine spokesman said today.

Of the dead 120 were credited to an air and artillery bombardment of a heavily fortified village 18 miles southwest of Da Nang.

One marine patrol was virtually wiped out during the battle, but over-all losses were described as light.

The battle erupted when the 14-man patrol spotted an estimated 200-400 guerrillas concealed in trenches in and around the village of Hoa Thay.

The guerrillas opened fire, pinning down the patrol in rice fields near the village. The marines counter-attacked with grenades and heavy machine-gun fire before losing radio contact with their company post two miles away.

No Charges Sought

TORONTO (CP) — A Metropolitan Toronto morality police report recommended Wednesday that no charges be placed in connection with the filming by a CBC crew of a 17-year-old girl in bed with two youths.

U.S. Killed 30 Patients

HONG KONG (Reuters)—The North Viet Nam news agency said today 30 patients were killed and 34 wounded when U.S. aircraft attacked the Quynh Lap leprosarium in North Viet Nam for the second time.

The agency said 10 of the wounded are in serious condition.

The agency said the leprosarium had moved to new premises following a raid on its previous site by American aircraft last June 10.

The agency said 139 patients and medical workers were killed then and 80 others wounded.

Assaulting Police Brings Jail Term

Bernard Gillespie, 1317 McNair Street, was sentenced to four months in jail when he was convicted in central court Thursday of assaulting a policeman.

Magistrate William Ostler also levied a one-month concurrent jail term for causing a disturbance.

Both convictions arose out of a domestic squabble April 1 when the accused's wife phoned the police after Gillespie returned home drunk early in the morning.

For Essential Understanding

AS NEAR AS THE HEAD OF A foreign government can do without arousing diplomatic fireworks, Prime Minister Pearson has given the United States some advice on its relations with Red China. In his address in New York this week he made it clear that the West should cultivate closer relations with Peking so that better communication could help to solve some of the misunderstandings which now split the world. In particular, Mr. Pearson urged that Red China be helped out of its largely self-imposed isolation, because this constitutes a direct threat to world peace.

Mr. Pearson is comfortably at home in the field of international affairs. It is there that his outstanding gift of winning compromise and agreement is most effective, and he readily sees that the first requirement for agreement is communication. While he did not advocate that Red China be admitted to the United Nations and that the Communist regime be recognized as the sovereign government of mainland China, these would obviously be the first steps toward better communication.

The present situation is not, of course, one-sided. Red China, for instance, has shown little inclination to become a member of the UN Assembly unless it is recognized as the only China and the Taiwan membership is cancelled. Other Western overtures have been brusquely rebuffed and even those countries which have individually extended diplomatic recognition to Peking have received little in return.

Of immediate concern is the Red Chinese thinking on Viet Nam, and this was part of the problem which Mr. Pearson termed "urgent" and one which "we cannot continue to shelve very much longer." Apart from the upset to Peking's plans for southward extension of its influence and control, the American intervention in Viet Nam raises the fear in Red Chinese leaders' minds that the United States intends to maintain its strength permanently on the Asian mainland.

The United States has denied any such intentions, although there are some quarters in that country which may well look forward to this deployment. But fear of such a peace-time presence on its southern flank must move Peking to keep the Vietnamese war going as long as possible. Here is a point at which better communication — breeding better confidence—could remove a major item of conflict between Red China and the United States.

But under circumstances of hostility and isolation, Red China's progress in perfecting a nuclear bomb can mean only a terrible danger to world peace. We cannot depend on time to dissipate Red Chinese fears and hatreds; it is more likely to harden a hostile attitude and develop a permanently fixed prejudice in that country's millions.

Communication with Red China in our era, including Panmunjom, has tended to follow fighting rather than precede it. It is becoming increasingly necessary that the talking come first, in order to forestall the armed action. And as Mr. Pearson says, we haven't forever to achieve this.

The Changing Face of NATO

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO, MR. Paul Struye, president of the Belgian Senate, noted that any policy based on the belief that French President de Gaulle does not have the support of his own people for his withdrawal from the NATO military apparatus could be sadly mistaken.

This week a major Paris newspaper, France-Soir, published the results of a country-wide poll taken by the French Institute of Public Opinion which confirms Mr. Struye's warning. The poll was taken between April 7 and 23, a month after General de Gaulle announced that France would demand control of all foreign troops in the country after 1967, and while the subject was being debated in the French National Assembly.

The results showed that by a considerable majority the country was behind the Gaullist policy, that the French people by and large had no confidence in the quality of American leadership in foreign affairs, and that there was a strong preference for non-alignment in the confrontation between East and West.

United States policy in Europe, meanwhile, still does not seem to take cognizance of the possibility that with or without General de Gaulle, there is little likelihood that the NATO arrangement of nearly 20 years standing can remain as it is. Nor does there seem to be much awareness among the American people—obsessed as they are with Viet Nam — that there is a crisis brewing in Europe which is of major importance to their country.

Congressional hearings have been held on the future of NATO but for the most part they have consisted merely of a parade of figures from the past, former secretary of state Dean Acheson and his assistant Christian Herter, Gen. Lauris Norstad and others, who have recited the history of NATO and its great accomplishments but without being able to point the way forward.

With President de Gaulle scheduled to visit Moscow next month, perhaps with his long-held plan to build a Europe from "the Urals to the Atlantic," the American declaration voiced recently by President Johnson of the need to "build bridges to the East" could be swiftly pre-empted.

A Realistic Divorce Law

FOR 178 YEARS THE PEOPLE of the State of New York suffered under a stern divorce law which permitted only one ground for the dissolution of a marriage—adultery—no matter how cruel and unjust this may have been in many cases.

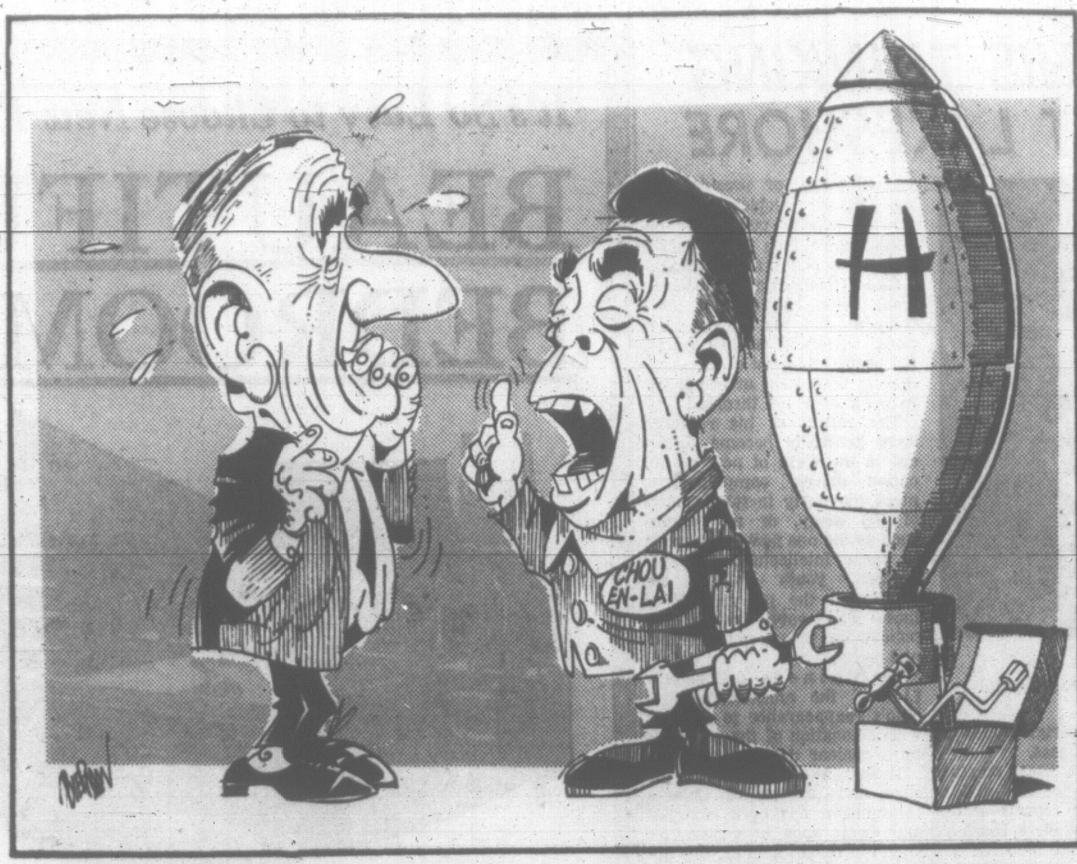
New York until last month, in fact, was about as backward as the whole of Canada is now in this respect. (In Quebec and Newfoundland there is no divorce even through the courts, and Parliament has the time-wasting task of handling such matters.)

What happened in New York last month was simply that the state legislature finally recognized the will of the people. The majority of New Yorkers were in favor of a reasonable liberalization of the divorce law—there was no marked opposition even from Roman Catholics — and a new divorce bill was easily passed. It adds to adultery the following grounds: cruelty and inhuman treatment, two years of desertion, imprisonment for more than three years, homosexuality, living apart two years after a judicial separation has been obtained.

It has been shown many times in recent years that the majority of Canadians also are in favor of more liberal and humane divorce laws. Senator Arthur Roebuck, long a champion of divorce reform, said recently that, as in New York, there is no longer any solid opposition from Roman Catholics.

A joint Commons-Senate committee is now studying a bill drawn up by Senator Roebuck, patterned after British divorce law, which would allow divorce in cases of cruelty, desertion for three years, and adultery. When the bill is presented it is likely that amendments will be offered adding long-term imprisonment and incurable insanity as additional grounds.

Parliament should at long last recognize its responsibility to carry out the wishes of the majority of Canadians in this matter, and pass a sensible divorce law.



"... Relax ... Relax ... We promise not to use it against your rotten, aggressive, decadent, warmongering, criminal, capitalistic, imperialistic, hateful society ... !"

CANADA'S SPLIT PERSONALITY

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Catchwords Are Almost Meaningless

IF we look beneath the fractured surface of our politics we shall see that the Canadian intellectual community has been fractured also, and much more deeply. Politics, after all, is a relatively simple business where men of differing opinions line up in separate groups and fight one another as the good guys and the bad, a contest always drawn in stark black and white. Their quarrel is between parties, each sure that it is right.

Hutchison

Among the intellectuals, however, the quarrel, never black or white but grey, is within individual men who can never be sure whether they are right or wrong. Hence they are tortured by self-doubt, realizing their own inner contradictions. No wonder the intellectuals look so unhappy these days. For the right to think a high price must be paid.

In one compartment of his mind the Canadian intellectual is an ardent internationalist. He condemns narrow nationalism wherever it exists; from Africa to France. He vests his faith in the United nations and argues (quite rightly, as I think) that mankind must ultimately achieve some kind of world government or perish from the earth. Until that golden age arrives he is never tired of preaching co-operation and mutual sacrifice between the present obsolete national states, hoping to tame and blend them.

As a vivid example, Mr. T. C. Douglas, a highly practical politician but justly suspected of a secret intellectualism, is always proclaiming the total interdependence of the human species. With him and most intellectuals all men are brothers and Canada, in Donne's phrase, "a part of the maine." Mr. Douglas and others like him never seem to know for whom the bell tolls. It tolls for all of us, even in this remote, true North, strong and free.

Different Doctrine

But the other compartment of the intellectual mind is filled with an entirely different doctrine or, more accurately, an instinct less mental than visceral. The same men who are dedicated to the unity of the world and hear the still, sad music of humanity suddenly turn into fierce nationalists, almost isolationists, whenever Canada's interests are involved.

Once the intellectual abandons the intellect and lets his emotions take over there is no discernible difference between political parties. Mr. Walter Gordon, the rich man from Bay Street, and Mr. Douglas, the poor-boy from the dusty Saskatchewan town, speak the same language of nationalism. Their speeches on this subject are interchangeable. You might think that one man wrote them. In fact, every speech was written by two men inhabiting one mind because the intellectual is ambivalent, almost schizophrenic, when it comes to Canada's place in the world.

At this point sentiment replaces intellect in all of us, intellectual and non-intellectual. The music of humanity is drowned by the throb of jungle drums. Internationalism is strictly for foreigners, not Canadians, and world government for all nations except Canada.

Before the angry intellectual reader starts shooting let me quickly add that the ferment within the Canadian mind cannot be described accurately in these crude absolutes. They are useful only for illustration. Human affairs, in Canada and elsewhere, must remain inconsistent and absolutes are very dangerous to a free society.

The task of national leadership, therefore, is to make the best of these contradictory materials and, if possible, mould them into some rough agreement, never consistent, constantly changing but perhaps workable. After a long period of confusion, this groping, half-blind process is rapidly under way in Canada now, as demonstrated by two notable events last week.

Mr. Gordon, the oracle of sincere, outright nationalism, who can recognize only two breeds, Canadians and foreigners, the good boys and the bad, publishes a book — his honest credo which will save the nation from itself and the Liberal party from its historic policy. Before he can get the book into the stores Mr. Sharp, the internationalist, hurries to Toronto and utters his credo which some excited pundits immediately interpret as an endorsement of Mr. Gordon's. But it is not.

Anyone who knows these two men understands quite well the gulf separating them; also the wrenching struggle of the prime minister as he tries to unite a divided government and party. In the case of Mr. Pearson, the complete internationalist, both intellectual and emotional, the tension becomes especially painful, since Mr. Gordon is his closest friend but stands on the opposite side of the basic argument.

Knowing all these things and knowing, too, that government cannot be conducted on any fixed principles of black and white, Mr. Sharp tries to achieve a viable compromise, a working synthesis of opposites. So he must if he is to be the next prime minister, as he seems to intend. For it is the lack of any synthesis, any rough agreement on international and national problems alike, that has bedevilled the Pearson government from its beginning. That should not be surprising when our society is in the throes of a profound revolution, the old serviceable synthesis has collapsed and all the labels, catchwords and party platforms are almost meaningless.

A new generation after Mr. Pearson and Mr. Diefenbaker must pick up the shattered pieces and put them together in a new pattern, as yet unforeseeable, in terms of policies or men. Assuredly the pattern will not be clear or logical and the contest between internationalism and nationalism will continue, as a question of degree and emphasis, not of absolutes. Blurred as it is, it will color all the other issues of Canadian life while we wrangle about much simpler and less important things.

FROM HONG KONG

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Deification of Mao

A FOREIGN delegation was once received by chairman Mao Tse-tung. The occasion was a large reception, and only one man of this particular delegation had the privilege of being shaken by the hand by Mao. Very properly, when the reception ended, the lucky man announced to his fellow delegates that he proposed never again to wash the hand that Mao had grasped, so that the traces of this all-inspiring contact would remain with him through life. But his fellow delegates cried out, begging him to wash the hand Mao had touched, and then to let them dip their own hands in the Mao-sweetened water.

Alsop

Incredible as it may seem the foregoing anecdote was written for publication, at somewhat greater length and in more flowery language, by a man of undoubted talents and immense erudition who once commanded wide respect in the world company of scholars. Besides much stuff like that above, Kuo Mo-jo has done real work that conceivably entitles him to his official position as Communist China's leading intellectual.

And now, with "tears running down his belly," Kuo Mo-jo has made an abject self-criticism, sadly admitting that no work he has ever done was sufficiently inspired by the "thought of Chairman Mao" and begging that all his writings be consigned to the nearest bonfire.

Everyone in Communist China who can be remotely suspected of harboring an idea of his own is now being "immersed in clear water three times, bathed in bloody water three times, and cooked in salt water three times."

The campaign began in a small way as long ago as 1964, with a vicious and sustained barrage of denunciation against the man formerly regarded as China's leading Marxist theoretician, Yang Hsien-chen. At first the targets were figures more or less like Yang — eminent historians, critics and the like.

Since this January, however, the campaign has broadened its scope greatly and has assumed an extraordinary momentum. Where the more practically useful sorts of techniciains were formerly exempt, they are now being included — an eminent rocket scientist was a recent victim, for instance. Leading figures in just about every branch of work calling for any sort of intellectual training have either been brutally attacked, or have groveled, like Kuo Mo-jo, before the attack began.

Sickening Adulation

It all adds up to a program of ferocious preventive onslaughts upon suspected centres of ideological infection. With this program, moreover, two other phenomena are closely linked. Again since January, the former sickening adulation of Mao, typified by Kuo Mo-jo's anecdote, has been made to seem positively independent-minded. In a quite literal sense, the deification of Mao is now being attempted.

Meanwhile, all sorts of dark warnings are also being issued against "ogves," "degenerates" and secret "revisionists" who "exploit the positions given them by the party and the state, have charge of some departments and units, resist the leadership of the party, and through the tools in their grasp, carry out anti-party and anti-socialist criminal activities." This language, actually hinting widespread treason, was used by the army newspaper, "Liberation Daily." But similar language has been used in many other quarters.

In brief, the old and ailing Mao and his aging doctrinaire companions in power know that Mao's time must end, and quite probably believe that it will end very soon. And they are afraid, deeply afriad that the enduring intelligence and exceptional pragmatism of the Chinese people will then cause Mao-ism to be swept into the discard of history. Mao has repeatedly voiced this fear himself, and voiced it for the record.

Thus what is now happening is a frantic effort to force a return to the habitual Chinese pragmatism. It is like the famous burning of the books by Chin Shin Hang Ti, whom Mao has sought to whitewash just as Stalin sought to whitewash Ivan the Terrible. But for the long pull, this is unlikely to work any better than the burning of the books.

"YOU'RE NEVER GONNA GET MARRIED IF YOU DON'T LIKE THE KINDA WORK YOUR HUSBAND DOES!"

Looking Back

From The Times of May 13, 1906:

The Arctic expedition which the schooner Duchess of Bedford is to carry north from Victoria will sail on Thursday. Capt. Mikkelsen, the Norwegian explorer, head of the expedition, started to make preparations six months ago. Comparatively few appreciate the magnitude of the value of the work which he and his associates are soon to set upon. If Capt. Mikkelsen finds the unknown land which has so important a bearing on movemen of ice floes, a second expedition, armed with that information, will set out to find the North Pole.

Protest

For many years the radio listening public was confined to the A.M. or regular band which suffered from the following natural handicaps:

1. Static interference.
2. Poor sound quality due to narrow channel limitations.
3. Stations overlapping during night hours, making for difficult reception.

Added to the above was the catering at least 90 per cent to juveniles (God bless them) and their rock-and-roll, noisy rhythm beats which are only comparable to the native dances of darkest Africa.

In addition all radio announcers love to shout at their captive listeners, and do so as often as legally permitted. Consequently many of us gave up radio years ago.

Then came F.M., a radio band which, while limited in range, is of far better quality than A.M., with no station interference or static.

In the beginning F.M. in Seattle, Bellingham, etc., broadcast hour-long, and announcer-free, concerts of more mature quality. Now with 20 F.M. stations on the air they are serving us the same trash offered for years on the A.M. band.

Surely they should be content with the A.M. band for the youngsters, and leave the F.M. band to those of us who would welcome, and deserve, a better fare.—"Over 40."

Successful Drive

The members of the Solarium Junior League wish to thank the residents of Lower Vancouver Island for the support given to the recent fund-raising One Night Drive held in aid of British Columbia's only crippled children's convalescent hospital, the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

This drive was organized entirely by the members of the Solarium Junior League and employed no paid or professional help. However, it could never have been carried out without the assistance received from many citizens and organizations.

The latest figure indicates a gross collection of $16,500. Expenses will not exceed $300 and therefore a net profit of at least $16,200 will be realized.

If you were missed and wish to make a donation, you may do so by mailing or leaving the donation at the Queen Alexandra Solarium office, Room 330, Yarrow Building, 645 Fort Street. — (Mrs.) Doreen Eade, Convener, One Night Drive, Solarium Junior League.

Tribute

Now that the Nicholas Peter Williamson murder trial is closed, it is appropriate to direct attention to two facts. First, Mr. Williamson was not on trial, and second, that under Canadian law it is difficult to present to the court character witnesses for murder victims.

On behalf of Peter's fellow air traffic controllers and friends, I would like to present the true character of this man. He had an intelligent and interesting mind, which he used not for his own selfish ends, but for the benefit of his friends, family and the community as a whole. His understanding of people of all ages, and the ease with which he communicated with them, was a rare gift.

Sincerity, warmth and a keen sense of humor were immediately apparent to all those who met him.

These fine traits, together with his high moral standards, were and will continue to be, an example for all of us. — L. W. Bennett, Regional Councillor, Canadian Air Traffic Control Association, Vancouver, B.C.

For Prevention

I am sure that the recent proposal of certain officers of the Duncan S.P.C.A. to sell dogs for medical research shocked many of your readers. A greater betrayal of animals by those who are supposed to be dedicated to their protection would be hard to imagine — S.P.C.A. means Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals not Society for the Promotion of Cruelty to Animals as some people in Duncan evidently want to believe. I have a feeling that the R.S.P.C.A. in London will take a very dim view of this whole matter.

Commander Jones and the Provincial S.P.C.A. are to be commended for the stand they have taken against the Duncan Branch. — Florence G. Barr, 965 Trans-Canada Highway.

Broadcasting

It has recently been brought to my attention how the power of broadcasting is being used both by Zambia and the British Broadcasting Corporation in regard to Rhodesia, and I am in receipt of an authoritative pamphlet, from the Prime Minister's Office in Rhodesia, entitled "Activities of the Zambian Broadcasting Corporation," which gives examples of the part Britain is playing in the incitement of murder, arson, sabotage and destruction in Rhodesia, and is dated February, 1966. It says: "It is evident that the British Government is intent on "the breakdown of law and order in Rhodesia, as a pretext for intervention with 'military force.' "—R. Avery, 1834 Adanac St.

LIVING LANGUAGE

Let us not forget that the touchstone of efficiency in a living language is what the Romans called "sermo bonus"—good conversation, always and everywhere.

—Simeon Potter, Baines Professor of English Language at the University of Liverpool

WITH VARIATIONS

Is it really so very important to have produced a Mozart performance in which an attempt is made to do everything "as it was done then"? Especially the thing which we can no longer do! Of course it is fascinating to know and, sometimes, we may find ourselves shocked into more than mere respect. But one has to know where to draw the line. No one would, I take it, wish to revive the tradition of performing the Beethoven concerto as it was done at its first performance, that is to say with a pause for the insertion of more entertaining small pieces after the first movement, in order not to tire the audience with too much thinking.

Valery Tarsis Poses Puzzle for Experts

By STEPHEN S. ROSENFELD
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—Valery Tarsis passionately assailed communism in a National Press Club speech here and left most of his audience wondering why the Soviet government had let him go abroad to spout such damning stuff.

Two things, however, were clear about this improbable anti-Soviet author who last February, while in London on a temporary visa, was stripped of his Soviet citizenship "for actions discrediting a Soviet citizen."

One was his showmanship: He is stumpy, florid, cunning and a ham like Nikita Khrushchev ("Ukrainian boor," he called Khrushchev in accented English). His intense self-conviction at first amused, then sobered and caught the full Press Club house.

It was clear, too, that with his own delighted assent, he has been swept up for anti-Communist exploitation by a smoothly working professional apparatus.

Constantin Boldyreff, American director of an anti-Soviet emigre group ("NTS") claiming underground resources back in Russia, is handling Tarsis. NTS had recruited Gerald Brooke, the young Englishman convicted in Moscow last year.

The 60-year-old Tarsis talked about "soul," "God," the good of traditional Russia and the evil of the "Communist hangmen" who have—only temporarily, he believes—captured his beloved land.

His view of the anti-Communist opposition in the Soviet Union confirmed the most wishful thoughts of the most ardent Western crusaders against communism.

He was asked why he was allowed to leave Russia. Boldyreff answered for him: He couldn't be tried because he had been pronounced demented and Soviet law prevents trying a demented person. He couldn't be put back in an asylum because Western newsmen had told the world he was sane, so he was sent abroad. The move was timed to blunt the criticism aroused in the West by the trial of writers Andrei Sinyavsky and Yuli Daniel.

This answer seemed to wrap things up a little too neatly for most of Tarsis's listeners. Most of the town's followers of Soviet affairs are frankly puzzled.

A private Soviet view of the Tarsis case could be heard today: Tarsis is "trash" and, even though his anti-Soviet propagandizing was to be expected, it is "bad propaganda."

Lesage Sees the Perils Of an Independent Quebec

By GERALD WARING

Waring

OTTAWA—The dollar cost of Canadian independence has long been recognized as the difference between incomes and standards of living in the United States and Canada. It's a price most Canadians have been willing to pay.

The same kind of price tag would be attached to independence for Quebec, but with this difference: there is no indication that most Quebecers would be willing to buy.

Certainly Premier Jean Lesage and his Liberals are not. After years of determined disinclination to get into a debate on the question, Mr. Lesage said in an election speech last week that an independent Quebec would not be economically viable. Independence might be economically feasible at some indeterminate time, he added, "but not in the immediate future."

Mr. Lesage's previous reticence seems to have been a desire not to get involved in fruitless debate of an impractical proposition lest such involvement offend some persons and weaken the Liberals' vote-appeal. But this election he was flushed into the open by the three most powerful opposition parties, the Union Nationale, the Ralliement National and the Rassemblement pour l'Independence National. Their respective platforms range from advocating special status for Quebec with many of the attributes of soverignty, to complete independence.

Mr. Lesage pulled out the emotional stops. Independence, he said, would constitute "the greatest danger for our language, our traditions, and the survival of our people. We are six million and we are surrounded by 200 million Anglo-Saxons. We cannot be independent in these circumstances."

You would think this would be a strong argument for an independent French-speaking nation. The reason it isn't is the economic consequence.

A government committee that studied "the economic unity of Canada" reported to Prime Minister Pearson a year ago that all parts of Canada had benefitted from the free flow across provincial boundaries of goods and other resources, of labor, of capital, and of services such as transportation and communication.

The reverse of this coin is that an independent Quebec would be penalized by loss of these advantages. The conclusion is that its economy and its people's standard of living would decline, or at best grow and improve at rates below those for the rest of Canada.

I am sure that Mr. Lesage and his government have considered what their people would do if they found themselves economically isolated and condemned to a lower standard of living than other Canadians.

A great many of them would get out. A great many have already gotten out, to other provinces, and especially to the New England states, where large Franco-American ethnic groups are being rapidly assimilated in the U.S. "melting pot."

And the ones who would get out of an independent Quebec to better their fortunes elsewhere would be just the ones Quebec could least afford to lose: the young, the ambitious, the energetic, the venturesome.

Premier Lesage is on a good wicket, for Quebec and for Canada.

Snakes Frequent Subjects Of Nature Myths, Legends

By DR. CLIFFORD CARL
Director, Provincial Museum

Dr. Carl

Reptiles seem to have received more than their share of attention when it comes to myths, legends or just plain "old wives tales." No doubt this stems from the fact that since some species of snakes are poisonous the whole group has been viewed with suspicion from the beginning of man's time on this earth. At any rate to this day reptiles, and particularly snakes, cause many people to react strongly, sometimes with fear, sometimes with revulsion.

Whatever the reason a multitude of "die-hard" beliefs still persist in spite of modern knowldge. A few of these follow:

A snake hypnotizes its prey. The idea here is that the intended victim is transfixed by the intense stare of the reptile and so is easily captured. This appears to be the case occasionally but study has shown that the victim actually remains motionless because it sees the approaching snake, doesn't recognize it as a predator and merely waits to see what it is going to do. The unblinking, lidless stare of the snake adds to the illusion.

A snake can be "charmed" with music. It seems fairly certain that snakes cannot hear ordinary air-borne sounds. Very deep, low frequency tones and vibrations carried through the ground may be detected but not those in the normal range for humans. The reason is that while snakes have a simple inner ear they have no tymphanic membrane or other device in contact with the external air, just the skin of the body.

The oriental snake charmer probably knows this but he also knows that all he has to do to put on an act is to remove the cover from his charge and play music in time to the snake's weaving movements as it emerges from confinement. A little showmanship makes a convincing act.

A horsehair rope encircling your sleeping bag will keep snakes away. Unfortunately there is no evidence to support this contention. Some snakes may hesitate to cross some types of physical barrier, particularly if it is cold to the touch, but horsehair or any other similar material will not stop them. However, except in rattlesnake country there is no need for the outdoorsman to be concerned about snakes at night; our species are largely diurnal.

A decapitated snake doesn't die until sundown. I doubt that anyone really believes this nowadays but a few decades ago it was generally accepted. The myth probably developed from the fact that reptiles tend to writhe and twitch long after the head has been removed. Actually the heart and other muscles may continue to contract when stimulated many hours after death—a feature common to cold-blooded animals in general.

When danger threatens a mother snake may swallow her young and release them when the crisis is past. There are numerous and persistent reports of this most astonishing habit. Most agree that the snake holds her mouth open wide and the babies slither in and down her throat to the safety of the stomach emerging again only when danger is past.

The whole business goes against the known facts about reptiles. Some snakes which lay eggs give some care to the eggs while they are developing but as soon as the young hatch they pay no further attention to them whatsoever. Our live-bearing species, such as the garter snakes, are equally unconcerned over the fate of their offspring. Young snakes scatter quickly and do not seek help from the parent; they certainly don't return for protection.

In addition, the digestive tract of a snake is a one-way street. The gastric juices are so powerful no creature could live in the stomach for long; if it were regurgitated it would certainly be dead.

Finally, no trained observer has ever seen this swallowing act in nature. Most reports are second and third person and therefore suspect as to their basis. Admittedly we have received one or two eye-witness accounts but unfortunately they cannot be backed by evidence.

A possible explanation of the origin of this belief may be found in the fact that some snakes, such as our common garter snakes, give birth to living young. It is not unreasonable to suppose that if a pregnant female was killed and mangled in such a way that the young snakes were allowed to escape a person might assume that the young had been swallowed.

CHINA MAKES VAST EFFORT TO REMOLD INTELLECTUALS

By STANLEY KARNOW
The Washington Post

HONG KONG — Day after day, Arthur Miller and Edward Albee are criticized by their fellow playwrights, and Joseph Levine has denounced the movie industry for seeking profits.

Norman Mailer and Truman Capote are in the Marines, serving in Viet Nam. Thousands of professors and students are working on Iowa farms, competing with television producers and newspaper columnists for the privilege of shoveling manure.

And Arthur Schlesinger, confessing that all his books should be scrapped, has vowed to reform his individualistic outlook by carefully studying the collected speeches of Lyndon Johnson.

The likelihood of such a spectacle unfolding in the United States exceeds even the wildest fancy. Yet precisely that kind of upheaval is currently shaking Communist China's cultural community, and it is symptomatic of wider, deeper pressures being exerted by the Peking regime on all Chinese.

In All Fields

"A socialist cultural revolution of great historic significance is being launched in our country," proclaimed Premier Chou En-lai at a rally in Peking last weekend, "This is a fierce and protracted struggle . . . we must vigorously promote proletarian ideology and eradicate bourgeois ideology in the academic, educational and journalistic fields, in art, literature and all other fields of culture."

This "socialist cultural revolution" is nothing less than a vast, intensive effort—largely persuasive and partially coercive—to remold China's intellectuals. And in China, where anyone with a high school diploma may be considered an intellectual, the crackdown seems pervasive.

Reaching beyond such obvious targets as poets, novelists, historians and philosophers, it is affecting village schoolteachers, doctors, office employees and factory foremen.

Nor are China's millions of peasants and workers immune from ideological purification. They are being told, more strongly than ever, that Communist doctrine alone must inspire their labor. Or as Peking's propaganda phrases it: "Capitalist profit motives and material incentives should never be permitted to stimulate production."

There is evidence, too, that this current campaign for conformity may include a purge of relatively high level Communist party officials and army officers. Analysts here have been struck this week by an editorial in the Chinese Military Journal, "Liberation Army Daily" which warned against "Right opportunist elements within the party."

CHOU EN-LAI
. . . 'fierce struggle'

In pushing for their concept of Communist purity, Peking's rulers appear to be mainly motivated by fear — the fear, as their publicists make plain, that the revolution in China is losing its momentum. Time and again, Chinese Communist propaganda betrays an almost paranoic preoccupation with "bourgeois influences" and "capitalist tendencies" that are seeking to undermine the Peking regime.

Advanced Age

What has lent special urgency to that fear at this time is the advanced age of the Chinese Communist leadership group.

Mao Tse-tung, chairman of the Communist party and its undisputed deity, is 72. His health has been poor, and his absence from public view from last November until this week had provoked speculation that he might be seriously ill or perhaps even dead.

But Mao is not much older than China's other top leaders. The average age of the politburo is 68. Thus the Communist hierarchy in Peking tends to foresee itself as an entire generation about to pass from the scene in the near future.

After a rugged lifetime of struggle behind them, these devout, dedicated Communists might die happily if they were confident that the revolutionary flame they ignited and nurtured would eventually consume the world. The trend they observe, however, appears to augur contrary evolution.

People Weary

From all accounts, the experience of past years has left the Chinese people with a divergent attitude. They are not opposed to their government, possibly the best in China's long history. But they seem to be weary of revolutionary slogans. And the likelihood is very real that they might, under relaxed conditions, slip back into "capitalistic" ways.

In an almost desperate attempt to avert that likelihood, Peking's rulers embarked on a "socialist education" campaign of gigantic and often ludicrous proportions. The "thought of Mao Tse-tung" was spread everywhere. According to propagandists, it activated pingpong players to win matches and it helped livestock breeders to raise bigger hogs.

Parallel to this publicity were efforts to strengthen Communist party control in the administration and the army. But the most strenuous attempts at shaping the revolutionary spirit has been among China's intellectuals.

"Every counter revolutionary restoration starts in th realm of the mind," declared a Peking newspaper last week, and that dictum reflects the Communist leaders inherent suspicion of intellectuals.

Mao is convinced that the intellectuals are an anti-party vanguard, secretly working to restore "feudal and bourgeois" ideas.

Last month China's leading intellectual luminary, Kuo Mo Jo abjectly admitted that he had deviated from Mao's tenets of absolute truth, and declared "All the things I have ever written should be completely burned."

An Example

Kuo's public humiliation is regarded by specialists here as a calculated performance, designed to set an example for others. But whether China's older artists can be remolded seems questionable. Indeed, a motive behind the current campaigns against them is to clear the way for a younger literary generation.

Judging from its output, this younger generation is already producing works that would make Orwell's predictions seem mild. The cream of current Chinese novels depict valiant guerrilla fighters, heroic locomotive engineers and peasants who overcome mountainous obstacles to build irrigation ditches.

Traditional operas have been banned because of their subversive message.

Acceptable writers are peasants and workers who turn out books in their spare time. However, professional authors can redeem themselves. One model writer, Tang Ke Hsin recently described how he "penetrated into life" by going to work in a factory. He said: "My problem is not artistic expression but my responsibility to the party and to my comrades."

How profoundly this sort of line goes is impossible to measure. But the intensity of Peking's efforts to keep up the revolutionary steam suggests doubts among the Chinese Communist leaders.

Cabinet Members Hold Fence-Mending Spree

By JOHN MIKA
Times Legislative Reporter

Mika

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell this week joined the growing line-up of fence menders in the provincial cabinet.

Quite matter-of-factly, he outlined how he was not only going to cooperate fully with the Union of B.C. Municipalities on several things, but was also going to allow it and the municipal committee of the legislature help him overhaul the legislation governing municipalities.

His outline must have sounded like the trumpets of sweet victory indeed for two local MLAs — Liberal Alan Macfarlane and Socred J. Donald Smith.

Remember Mr. Macfarlane's weeks-long battle in the last session to force Mr. Campbell to call the legislature's municipal committee into session to hear the civic leaders of the two metro areas in the province on their pleas for a new deal?

DAN CAMPBELL

Remember Mr. Campbell's repeated refusals, buttressed by Premier Bennett's support?

The Hon. Dan, as he's known by his confreres, didn't even have time during the session to agree to an appointment for a meeting between him and Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver municipal leaders, who were disgruntled.

Now, only a few weeks later, he is paying for a municipal study by the UBCM and promising a committee session — all in the name of a centennial project. It's wonderful how a 100th anniversary puts things into perspective.

Mr. Campbell even added, gratuitously I thought, that the study will include the question of Sunday sport plebiscites for municipalities which want to hold them — the hobbyhorse that Mr. Smith has been riding as a loser for years.

But Mr. Campbell isn't the only minister who has had sudden changes of heart in holding out against long standing demands, by influential segments of the voting public.

Remember Education Minister Leslie Peterson's unexpected addition of $2 million — only days after the session was over and a new budget approved — to the grants that will be going to school districts this year. Did it have anything to do with the general complaints that his promise that he was actually changing the proportion of provincial help wasn't borne out by the budget?

In other years, he has argued the matter but not this time. And was it an accident that he ensured senior government grants, for the first time, would total more than the universities requested?

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter, who squirmed uncomfortably through the first real grilling the opposition has ever given his small department, also had a complete change of heart on the Grand Forks cows that were contaminated by pesticides in their feed. After refusing to do so he suddenly made a trip to the area and ordered his department to buy the cows from the protesting farmers at market prices.

Then we have Health Minister Eric Martin, who also was seared by the opposition fire in this year's session, suddenly deciding that the unfinished top floor of the new general hospital in Nanaimo should be finished right away after all. Yet during the session, despite demands for this very thing, Mr. Martin said the additional beds were really not needed and he wasn't going to rush things ahead of time.

ALAN MacFARLANE
. . . sweet music

All these switches have taken place since the legislature prorogued on April Fool's Day.

'Mixture' Of Autos Unsafe

WASHINGTON — The United States has safer automobiles than Europe does, said Joseph Britschgi of Switzerland, secretary-general of the Alliance Internationale de Tourisme.

They are safer for one reason: American cars are all about the same size, of almost identical technology and of similar speed capabilities.

"We have a disadvantage," Britschgi said. "We have the little cars, like the two-horsepower Citroen, and the small cars that will go 150 miles and hour and more. You put them together in traffic and it makes it more dangerous."

A Temptation

Speed in Europe, he added, is not high-priced. "Fast cars are not very expensive, and this is a temptation for the young people. They always want to show they are quicker and with better reactions than adults, so with a 60-miles-per-hour car, and the other able to do 120 miles per hour, you have overpassing."

"Any time you go over 70 or 80 miles an hour, there's no question: that's dangerous," he said.

Britschgi was speaking informally this week at a reception at the Pan-American Union, the first social event of the congress and general assembly of the Alliance, a 68-year-old international federation of 113 automobile associations, touring clubs and tourist organizations.

STRIKES PRIMITIVE SAYS UNION CHIEF

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joe Tonelli, president and secretary of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, says strikes are "primitive."

"We don't like to strike," Tonelli told a press conference Thursday. "We are a responsible union. But we have to resort at times to doing things the primitive way."

Tonelli, who lives in New York, said his union is seriously considering organizing pulp and paper workers in Europe to combat North American firms who open mills there to take advantage of lower European wages.

The unions could either organize workers in countries like France, Spain, Germany or Italy, or lobby Canadian and U.S. governments for tariffs to prevent dumping of European pulp and paper he said.

Tonelli is here in support of B.C. pulp and paper workers contemplating strike action.

Negotiations between the union and eight B.C. pulp and paper firms have broken down. The union, along with the United Papermakers and Paper Workers representing 7,000 men, seeks a 10 per cent wage hike. The companies have offered four per cent.

Current base rate for pulp workers is $2.44 an hour. Journeymen mechanics receive $3.44 hourly.

JUDGE DECLINES RULING

Waterfront Strike Claimed Illegal Act

MONTREAL (CP) — Judge Claude Prevost, federal concillitor in the contract dispute between the International Longshoremen's Association (CLC) and the Shipping Federation of Canada, declined Thursday to rule on the legality of the current walkout of 4,250 union members in the province.

The strike began Monday when 3,500 ILA members walked out, tying up the port here. Another 750 walked out in Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres Tuesday, also tying up those ports.

Paul Renaud, lawyer for the federation, asked the conciliation hearing, which opened Thursday, to recommend that the men involved in the illegal strike return to work before the hearing continued. He said the hearing would be condoning an illegal act if it continued to sit while the strike continued.

Judge Prevost ruled that it would not be within the hearing's jurisdiction to declare whether the strike was illegal or not.

Phil Cutler, lawyer for the ILA, had protested Mr. Renaud's recommendation, maintaining that the hearing had been given an unconditional mandate by the minister of labor.

STRIKE NOT SANCTIONED

The strike, which was not called by the ILA, was precipitated by the action of National Harbors Board police who ticketed union members cars they felt were illegally parked at the waterfront, a union spokesman said earlier.

However, the spokesman said the contract dispute was a major factor in the calling of the strike action.

The demands by the union for a new working agreement include better working conditions and pay increase. Federation offers to date have been turned down by the union. The exact terms of the demands and offers have not been made public.

Meanwhile, the sprawling port facilities here were idle for the fourth day Thursday. A total of 89 ships were affected in the port, 18 of them bulk carriers waiting to load grain, and there were reports that shipping in the river is backed up all the way to Quebec City.

Members of the union executive will meet today and a general meeting of the union membership will be held Sunday.

Libel Claim Rejected

NEW YORK (AP)—In a 10-to-2 decision, a federal court jury found there was no libel in a Columbia Broadcasting System television show against Representative James B. Utt (Rep. Calif.), who had sued CBS for $5,250,000. Utt, 67, had charged that a 1963 televised show, entitled "Case history of a rumor," implied that he was responsible for a rumor that a planned army manoeuvre was part of a United Nations plot to take over the United States.

Wilson Steps In To Avert Strike

By GRANVILLE J. WATTS

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Wilson cancelled a meeting today with Cassius Clay and Henry Cooper to meet instead with union leaders threatening a British shipping strike.

The executive council of the 65,000-member National Union of Seamen decided Thursday to go ahead with a strike next Monday for more pay. Wilson called the 48-man seamen's executive to 10 Downing Street to emphasize that a shipping strike now would do irreparable damage to the national economy.

The immediate effect of the strike would be to hold up nearly 300 British ships in home ports. If prolonged, it could hit the summer transatlantic passenger trade and cripple Britain's export trade, valued at $40,000,000 a day.

Basic food stocks in Britain are ample unless the strike lasts for many weeks, but there could be an immediate shortage of imported fresh fruit and vegetables.

The government has worked out emergency plans with the Royal Navy and the RAF should a strike drag on.

The navy is expected to use its tugs and minesweepers to haul abandoned merchant ships clear of shipping lanes while RAF transports would bring in vital supplies.

William Hogarth, general secretary of the seamen's union, claims his men have enough funds to stay on strike for 12 weeks "without any worries."

The basic seaman's wage in Britain is £15 ($45 a week). Overtime and other benefits bring this to an average of about £20.

The union is demanding a 40-hour week instead of the present 56 hours. Overtime would result in a wage increase of 17 per cent.

MP Scores 'Colonial System' In NWT

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal government practice of appointing members to the Northwest Territories Council ran into trouble from the Yukon Thursday.

Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon) attacked the government in the Commons for continuing what he termed "this colonial system of government."

The charges were denied by Northern Affairs Minister Laing as the Commons gave second reading to a government bill amending the Northwest Territories Act. Clause - by - clause study of the bill begins today.

The bill creates three new constitutences in the territories, all in the eastern Arctic; raises salaries of territorial council members to $5,000 a year from $2,000, and calls for establishment of a special fund for revenue raised in the N.W.T.

Residents of the eastern Arctic, mostly Eskimos, haven't had a vote in territorial elections although they have cast ballots in federal elections since 1962.

SEVEN ELECTED NOW

The new ridings bring the number of elected council members to seven from four and thus give them a majority over the four members appointed by the federal government.

Mr. Laing said Ottawa did not want to make any great changes in northern government until it received the report in September of the Carrothers commission which is inquiring into how the North should gradually attain provincial status.

Mr. Nielsen disagreed with parliament setting salaries of the territorial council. This was a matter for council itself. If it set its own salaries too high, then the northerners could express their satisfaction through ballots.

The Yukon MP said the bill also reserves to the N.W.T. commissioner—a civil servant who resides in Ottawa — the right to introduce bills dealing with spending money from the new territorial fund.

He hoped he was wrong but it seemed as though the government didn't trust a council dominated by elected members.

WANTS QUICK PASSAGE

Bud Orange, Liberal MP for the N.W.T., called for quick passage of the bill to give eastern Arctic residents a vote.

He also was concerned Parliament should set the pay for council members and about the clause allowing only the commissioner to introduce money bills.

Walter Dinsdale (PC—Brandon - Souris), northern affairs minister in the Diefenbaker administration, feared the great economic advance in the North had outstripped the political advance. The hope of a "giant step forward" towards provincial status in the North by 1967 looked dim.

Earlier the Commons approved a bill setting up a $50,000,000 fund to fight poverty in rural areas.

Found Guilty Of Winch Theft

Victor Waring of 1742 Hampshire was found guilty Wednesday in magistrate's court of stealing and being in possession of a boat winch which went missing from an Oak Bay construction site last July.

He was remanded to May 19 for a pre-sentence report.

TENT CAUSES FLAP

Hot One Tossed To Fire Chief

A recommendation that Victoria city council deliberately violate one of its own bylaws received short shrift Thursday.

At a council meeting Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow suggested waiving the hard and fast city law forbidding the erection of tents in the downtown area to enable Hudson's Bay Company to erect a tent on the top storey of its parking building.

"The tent is fireproof and the Bay will govern very carefully the number of people in the tent at one time," Ald Edgelow said. "We are anxious to keep people coming to the downtown area and we must encourage stores to keep up such promotions as the camporama the Bay has planned."

Ald. Edgelow added that if council couldn't give the store permission to go ahead it could at least "close a blind eye" to the tent.

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady declined to comment on the "moral aspects" of Ald. Edgelow's suggestion but pointed out to council the existing bylaw is "quite restrictive."

"The tent is banned under the bylaw," he said. "It's as simple as that."

Several aldermen objected to the proposal while voicing full sympathy for the store's plight.

"We have to say 'yes' or 'no'," said Ald Robert Baird, "and there is no doubt in my mind that the answer should be 'no'."

Ald. Michael Griffin suggested a compromise.

"We can only take one action," he said. "We should receive and file the letter asking for permission to erect the tent without taking action. I'm sure they will have enough sense to know what we mean."

His motion was accepted.

No aldermen offered a solution to the problem now facing the fire chief whose job it is to enforce the "no tent" bylaw in the downtown area.

Next week a council committee will revamp the bylaw to insert an escape clause.

N.Y. SNIPER WOUNDS NINE

NEW YORK (AP)—A mysterious sniper or snipers wounded nine persons in separate shooting incidents throughout Manhattan Thursday night, police reported. Some thought the air rifle pellets were fired from a moving automobile.

Two of the victims were struck in the eye and were in serious condition.

Some victims said a slowly moving auto passed them as they were hit.

Anglicans Left $1.3 Million By Victorian

Canada Permanent Trust Co in Victoria has been appointed executor of the estate of Florence S. Boyle, 2314 Windsor Road, who was buried here Wednesday.

TORONTO SYNOD

"The capital is to be invested and held in trust by the Synod," R. Frank Allen, company manager, said today.

"The income will go to augment the stipends of retired missionaries or priests connected with the Anglican diocese of Toronto, regardless of where they live."

Mrs. Boyle was the widow of Rev. Temple Stannage Boyle, DD, and the daughter of Dame Lucy S. R. Brown of Montreal. She had lived in Victoria since 1954.

Lords Backs Change

LONDON (Reuters)—The House of Lords voted 70 to 29 Tuesday night in favor of legalizing homosexual acts between consenting adult males in private. It gave second reading, constituting agreement in principle, to a private bill seeking to free an estimated 500,000 to 1,000,000 homosexual Britons from fear of criminal prosecution.

$350 Fine Sticks

An appeal against a conviction for impaired driving was dismissed in Victoria County Court Thursday.

David M. Tribe, a university student, appealed against a fine of $350 imposed by Magistrate J. A. Byers in city police court. The appeal was dismissed.

Cyclist Grabs Woman's Purse

A city woman was knocked to the sidewalk Wednesday night by a bicycle rider who grabbed her purse on the run.

Police said Mrs. Grace Platt, 1060 Southgate, sustained a skinned knee in her fall at Vancouver and McLure Streets.

David Johnston, 19, of 1003 Vancouver, chased the young thief for two blocks.

Thieves Get $1,137 From Hall

Thieves chopped their way into a small safe in Oak Bay municipal hall overnight Wednesday and stole $1,137.

Police did not release details of the robbery until Thursday afternoon. The break-in was discovered in the morning.

A police spokesman said he was "not prepared" to state whether the break-in looked like the work of professionals.

THROUHG TRANSOM

Police said thieves entered the building through a transom in the roof.

They dropped into the municipal administration offices and opened an unlocked record storage vault.

An attempt to open the safe by punching its spindle failed so they chopped a hole in the top of the container and reached in for the cash.

Police said the safe was so battered municipal officials couldn't get it open until Thursday afternoon to see what was taken.

No records were reported missing.

Tower Vote Delayed Two Weeks

Victoria city council's decision on the proposed Skydeck observation tower for Belleville Street will be delayed for at least another two weeks.

Council was told Thursday the Victoria Advisory Planning Commission had not had time to study all aspects of the tower proposal.

The matter was tabled until the commission report and recommendation is received.

Mayor A. W. Toone and Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow will represent Victoria at the annual meeting of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities in Campbell River May 27.

The overall plan for the urban renewal program in the Rose-Blanshard area received the formal stamp of approval from council.

The plan was discussed in detail earlier this week.

City officials will now open discussions with CMHC and the province in an attempt to complete a formal contract for the work to commence.

City officials will take a tour of potential park sites within city limits Monday morning.

Ald. Robert Baird said 15 sites will be visited.

The tour will be hosted by the city parks group and the regional planning group.

FISH

Mercury '66—most fishing features of any outboards

A new 9.8 fishing Merc silently pushes you toward your favorite fishing spot. For '66, new quietness begins with a new cowl, mounted to an aluminum frame to cut sound and vibration. New rubber seals and quieter exhaust relief muffle, too. And what's left of the sound is blown out the Jet-Prop exhaust, deep under water,—where it is dispersed in the propeller slipstream. When it's time to slow down, just twist the throttle grip on the tiller handle to give less gas. And you don't have to worry much about hidden obstructions. The curved Glide-Angle design slides your Mercury right over them (over fishing lines, too). When you want to slip into a tight spot—where the fish always seem to hide—use the gearshift (forward, neutral, reverse) for easy maneuvering. See the fishing outboards with the big outboard features—3.9, 6, 9.8, 20, (Mercs also come in 35, 50, 65, 95 and 110-hp models) at your Mercury dealer.

PARLEY TOLD

Timber Waste Costly

Wasted timber in Alaska last year amounted to three-quarters of the state's total forest output, resources commissioner Phil R. Holdsworth told coast loggers here Thursday.

Giving the keynote speech to members of Olympic Logging Conference meeting at the Empress on the theme tree utilization, Mr. Holdsworth said:

"The figure of 300 million board feet a year of timber rotting in the woods is somewhere within the ball park."

He said total woods production is between 400 and 450 million board feet a year, which last year brought $28 million in exports.

He praised the conference for "aiming in the right direction" toward greater forest utilization and told members—mostly from Washington and Oregon—his state expects to co-operate with the group more in future.

"I'm sure you are looking to Alaska for new fields," he said.

The value of timber products in Alaska grows steadily and in 1965 the gross value was $66 million.

WOOD CHIPS

There is evidence of more integrated forest industry, including chippers and veneer mills, he said.

Wood chips form a substantial export item, with the Japanese market hungry for spruce chips.

The commissioner stressed state policies support sustained yield methods in the industry, which has 116 operators.

The fishing industry ranks first in Alaska, last year worth $172 million, and mineral wealth comes next, with production in 1965 totalling $46.7 million, excluding oil and gas.

So far the petroleum industry has invested $500 million in development, locating large reservoirs and an unusually high number of producing wells.

The Kenai Peninsula has the biggest producing field, although there are five more oil and gas field discoveries and pipelines are being built to funnel production.

In Cook Inlet, Mr. Holdsworth said, there are 10 mobile offshore drilling rigs and 14 year-round drilling platforms scheduled for operation by the end of 1966.

Petroleum royalties will put $10 million in the state treasury by 1971, he said, and "tremendous" gas reserves are creating gas liquifying and byproduct industries.

'HALF MILLION FUND NOT IN MY CONTROL'

WINTERS
. . . at a loss

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Winters said today a $499,000 retirement fund established for him by private industry when he left it to return to politics is managed by an independent investment advisor, and is not under his own control.

Mr. Winters said he was at a loss to understand why he should be questioned now about the fund when its establishment was reported months ago by his former firm, Rio Algom Mines Ltd., and Preston Mines Ltd., which has a 44.4 per cent interest in Rio Algom.

BANK TAKEOVER

Executive Slams Gordon's Version

MONTREAL (CP)—Robert P. MacFadden, president of the Mercantile Bank of Canada, took issue here with former finance minister Walter Gordon.

Mr. MacFadden, in a statement issued after a meeting of the board of directors, referred to circumstances some three years ago when, in the words of a recent book written by Mr. Gordon, "the president of the First National City Bank of New York came to Ottawa to inquire whether the government would be favorable to his bank acquiring the Mercantile Bank of Canada from Dutch interests . . ."

In his book, Mr. Gordon said the First National president "was informed that the government would not look favorably upon such a transaction because inevitably, it would lead to requests from other U.S. banks for opportunities to enter Canada in other ways. . . .

"He was advised not to proceed until the coming amendments to the Bank Act were made public."

In reply to the book, Mr. MacFadden, in his 125-word statement, said:

"We believe it improper to engage in a debate with the former finance minister over who said what at a meeting nearly three years ago. Suffice it to say that we voluntarily made the full details of the transaction known to Mr. Gordon at the time and our understanding of what transpired at the meeting with him is not in accord with his.

"The important thing is not what happened in the past, but what the Mercantile Bank, which has always been a foreign bank, can contribute to Canada's future.

"By opening foreign markets, by financing Canadian business, and by providing useful, challenging careers for Canadian citizens, we hope to earn the right to continue to be welcome in this country without unfair legislative restrictions."

Mr. Gordon's book said the First National president "was warned that, as his bank had no commitment to buy the shares in question, the government would feel quite justified in proposing amendments that would be retroactive in their application.

"Nevertheless, the First National City Bank proceeded to acquire the shares of the Mercantile Bank . . . The revision of the Bank Act, announced in May of 1965, provided for the renewal of the charter of the Mercantile Bank but placed limitations upon its future growth. Immediately, the government was subjected to heavy pressure to remove this limitation."

The book added that the subsequent request of another U.S. bank to buy into one of Canada's big five chartered banks could have been avoided if the government had proceeded with the amendments to the Bank Act.

The amendments would restrict any single foreign shareholder to a 10-per-cent interest in a Canadian bank.

Mortgage Shortage Hits Houses

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Jean-Yves Gelinas of Montreal, president of the National House Builders' Association, said Thursday a shortage of mortgage money threatens the house-building industry with permanent loss to much of its skilled labor.

Mr. Gelinas, on a tour of southwestern Ontario, made these other points:

—Approved lenders such as insurance companies should provide more National Housing Act loans for houses although at 6¾-per-cent interest they are not the most profitable investments.

—Speedy introduction of Bank Act amendments might improve the mortgage field through lifting of the loan-interest ceiling.

—If the government is going to provide as many direct loans in 1966 as in 1965, why not release some of the money immediately instead of waiting until the fall?

Herbert Gray, Liberal member of Parliament for Essex West, said Wednesday in Windsor the government will release 16,000 direct loans Aug. 1 for housing construction through Central Mortgage and Housing Corp.

Pulp Log Shortage Worries Conference

The spectre of a pulp log shortage walked Thursday among delegates to Olympic Logging Conference at Empress Hotel.

Norman Bjorkland, of Industrial Forestry Association in Washington, said there is "an impending log supply problem for the pulp and paper industry."

He was referring to the Washington and Oregon logging industry, but conditions all along the western coastal slope are similar and B.C. pulp wood consumption is due for a sharp increase with completion of more pulp mills just ahead.

He was one of a panel discussing log use at the conference's 21st annual meeting.

Mr. Bjorkland said a steady pulp log price and market is needed to encourage log cull usage, or else a pulp wood shortage will develop.

CULL LOGS

Too often, usable cull logs are burned with slash, he said.

With pulp mills looking for new wood sources, loggers have an opportunity to use culls more fully, he told delegates.

There also is pressure from conservationists, perhaps more than ever before.

"There are plenty of conservation groups that want to label us wood destroyers, wasters and a lot worse," Mr. Bjorkland said.

AFTER HARVEST

Slash-burned areas draw public criticism, he pointed out, suggesting the best time to remove cull logs from an operation is during or immediately after the harvest.

Wood chip prodcution is one of the greatest advances in the industry but it has hurt the use of woods culls, the speaker said.

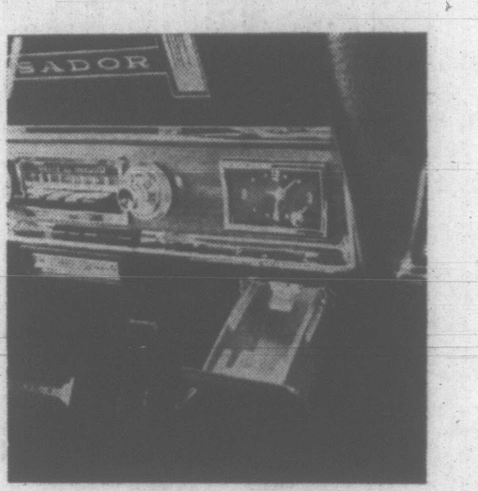
OVERALL QUALITY
NOW FROM AMERICAN MOTORS!



How important is an ashtray? At American Motors, we believe it's very important. It represents our meticulous attention to detail. Our no-stick ashtrays roll out smoothly on ball bearings. And if we take that much trouble with a simple ashtray, think of the time and effort that we put into the larger items . . . the hundreds of details that bring us our treasured reputation for quality. We have Inspectors who testify to our attention to detail with a personally signed card. You'll find it in the glove compartment of each of our cars. It assures you of overall quality . . . overall quality you get today from American Motors.

Advanced engineering that's out in front. Exclusive features and built-in quality. That's what you get from American Motors today. Look at the proof:

Single Unit Construction. Body and frame on all American Motors cars are welded together into one, single, solid unit for tremendous strength and safety. Result: a stronger, safer, longer-lasting car—a car free from rattles.

Double Safety Brakes. Not just one braking system, but two. If one set ever fails, the other stops you safely. (Double Safety Brakes have been an exclusive feature, at no extra cost, on all our models since 1962. Some other manufacturers have now announced that they will adopt this feature—but not until their 1967 models.)

World's best rustproofing. All our cars get a "bath." They're deep-dipped up to their rooflines in rustproofing compound six separate times. Then they're dipped again in primer and given a separate spray coat of primer. Then come three gleaming coats of Lustre-Gard super enamel. You get a beautiful finish and long-lasting protection from the ravages of rust.

Most powerful standard engines in their classes. Swift, smooth, seven-main-bearing sixes. Powerful, virile V8's. Take your choice.

Widest range of seating options in the industry. Luxurious reclining seats (buckets, if you want). Armrests and adjustable headrests. And fine-furniture coil springs in all our seats in all our models. (Only one other North American car offers this—and it's in the luxury class).

Attention to detail. American Motors offers the durability of plastic kick panels, all-metal rear-deck shelves, even ashtrays that roll out on ball bearings. Small details, yes—but they add up to overall quality.

Beautiful luxury fittings. A big, big selection! All the power equipment and features you want. And floor consoles. Thick-cut pile carpeting. Wire wheel discs. Walnut interior paneling. Houndstooth Check fabric. New vinyl patterns. Exciting styling in top-of-the-line Ambassador DPL, Rambler Rogue and Rambler Rebel.

New car quality. We believe that quality is what you build in—not what you add on. We build quality into all our cars from the beginning. We take the time. We take the trouble. We always have. We always will.

Used car quality. The exclusive quality and features that we build into our full line of cars mean that an American Motors used car is a better value and a better buy.

Here is the only instant-loading precision* camera that costs just $16.95

...and takes beautiful pictures

What an age we are living in! Imagine a precision-made photographic instrument, perfected by German optical engineers, with all the new revolutionary instant-loading features, and you can buy it for only $16.95. It is unbelievable but true! The Agfa Iso-Rapid 35 mm camera even has a built-in flash gun for night time or indoor shots, and is adaptable to flash cubes. And what is instant-loading? It is just that. No threading, no re-winding of film. You merely drop in the film, close the camera and start shooting SHARP, SHARP pictures. Why SHARP pictures? Because the Agfa Iso-Rapid camera has, like all expensive professional cameras, a *pressure plate to do just that. And the sharp pictures can be in black and white or living colour.

Pine Point, Pyramid Eye Merger

Pine Point and Pyramid mines, with rich lead-zinc properties in the Northwest Territories, are considering a merger, it was reported today.

J. G. Jewitt, president of Pine Point, a subsidiary of the giant Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. (Cominco), said talks are under way but that a final decision has not yet been reached.

He said directors of Pine Point will consider the proposition at a meeting in Montreal Monday.

Firm Locates Nickel, Copper

CALGARY (CP) — Rainbow Oil Ltd. today reported a find of nickel and copper, more than 100 feet thick in places, in the Otter Lake area of northeastern Saskatchewan.

However, company president L. C. Morrisroe said the exploration program was halted by spring breakup. "The results obtained to date are not sufficient to warrant any definite conclusions."

Scurry planned to continue drilling this summer. It said four of five holes found copper-nickel sulphides. Deposits have not been assayed and there was no estimate of reserves.

Wall St. Slips Again

Wall Street was heading for another loss today but selling pressure had eased despite continued bad news from the car industry.

Light losses were reported in Vancouver and Toronto.

New York trading volume headed for the 8,000,000 level, slightly higher than Thursday.

Stocks were battered downward in the morning with the ticker tape five minutes late and some leading issues losing several points. Trading slackened, the tape came abreast of transactions and many issues improved from their lows of the day.

Despite the selective improvement, Xerox was still down 6, Texas Instruments 6, Chicago and North Western 3, New York Central, General Electric and Boeing 2 or more.

The news that car sales for the first 10 days of May were below the like period a year ago was linked with the decline. General Motors and Chrysler cut their losses to a shade below a point; Ford, the one firm with a rise in sales, traded about unchanged.

There was no arguing with the general bearishness, however.

AT VANCOUVER 16 stocks dipped to new lows in dull trading before noon today.

Most of the losses were in the mining section, where 13 of the new lows were recorded.

Cariboo-Bell was off 15 to $2.25; Cascade down 12 to $1.18; Endako off 25 to $11.75; Galaxy off one to 35, and Homestake off three to 37.

Jersey was off three to 34 cents; Mt. Washington down one to 32 cents; Madrona off five to 90 cents; Nadina down 15 to $2.15; National Exloration off ½ to 13½ cents; Peso off five to $1.10; Silver Titan off 10 to $2.90 and Utica down two at $1.36. All were new lows.

Brenda slipped 20 to $6.80; Bethlehem was off 25 to $5.85, and Bornite lost four to 43 cents. Croydon was up 10 to $1.05.

In the industrials, Centennial Mortgage dropped 10 to $1.55; B.C. Telephone lost .50 to $64, and Massey-Ferguson was off 75 to $34.75.

In oils, Fort St. John was at a new low of 95, off six, and Futurity dropped four to $1.01.

The industrial index, a measure of key stock movements was only down .43 to 161.49, although it had reached a low of 161.19 before snapping back.

Volume appeared headed for its lightest turnover this year as a total of 1,790,000 shares changed hands compared with 1,951,000 at the same time Thursday.

In the main list, Interprovincial Pipe Line and B.C. Telephone dropped 1 each to 79 and 63, and Alcan Aluminium and Canadian British Aluminium a ½ each to 39⅛ and 23. Bell Telephone was up ⅝ to 51⅛.

AT MONTREAL utilities were up, but most other sections moved fractionally lower in light trading.

Industrial volume was 91,100 and mines and oils 522,100.

Papers were off, with Domtar and Great Lakes each dropping ¼ to 18 and 27 respectively.

AT LONDON the end of the account brought quiet conditions on the stock market today. Some of the international favorites recovered from Thursday's softness but price changes overall were small.

CANADIANS HUNT U.S. IMMIGRANTS

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Two officers of the Canadian immigration department came to Spokane Thursday for four days of recruiting potential immigrants.

Canada is seeking 30,000 skilled workers to move north during the next year to help alleviate manpower shortages in trades and professions that have accompanied the rapid pace of industrial growth.

Fred M. Norman, officer in charge of the Canadian immigration service at San Francisco, said he and his companion would remain in Spokane through Sunday to meet with persons interested in moving to Canada.

Car Sale Slip Sends Shudder Into Industry

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto industry leaders showed concern today over early May reports that buyers purchased 15 per cent fewer cars than they did a year ago.

Some said it was the result of unfavorable publicity resulting from the auto-safety hearings while others blamed it on the Viet Nam war which put into uniform thousands of potential young customers. Still Others said it reflected the higher income - tax deduction rates which went into effect May 1 or that it was caused by soft spots in the U.S. economy

The unchallenged fact was that General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors sold fewer new cars May 1-10 than they did a year ago. Ford alone set an early May sales high.

The four major auto firms reported Thursday they sold 192,429 cars May 1-10, about 35,000 behind last year.

GM auto sales were off 24 per cent, Chrysler 13.6 per cent and American Motors 27 per cent. Ford was up 15 per cent over the same period of 1965.

HARD WORK AHEAD

Nobody panicked, but as one auto sales executive explained: "The bloom is off the auto sales market. We've had four good years but now we will have to get out and work and sell."

Before release of the sales reports, much interest had been focused on the question of whether talk about defective cars and safety issues had scared customers.

The figures bore out the prediction Monday by Roy Abernethy, AMC president, that the auto safety hearings would have a "negative effect on sales."

Chevrolet's Corvair, frequent target of auto - safety critic Ralph Nader, took one of the worst sales beatings among individual car lines. Its May 1-10 sales fell to 1,899 cars compared with 6,213 for the same period in 1965. For calendar 1966 to date, Corvair sales stood at 38,467, less than half the 84,702 sales at this point last year.

Comparative sales reports for the 10-day periods showed:

	1966	1965
GM	96,640	127,194
Ford	59,065	56,406
Chrysler	30,895	35,770
AMC	5,829	8,029
Total	192,429	227,499

Auto stocks eased on the New York market even before the late afternoon announcement of sales figures. GM lost $1.50 at $84.87; Chrysler declined $1.12 to $42.12 and Ford was off 12 cents to $46.87.

There were many bright spots in the sales picture despite the early May reports.

Among them were:

Chrysler's calendar year to date sales of 521,165 were 6.3 per cent ahead of last year.

POLITICIANS HUNT ALASKA CORRIDOR, BUT

'Panhandle No Trade Problem'

BY AB KENT
Business Writer

United States ownership of the Alaska Panhandle is no barrier to northern B.C. and Yukon resource development, a senior state administrator said here Thursday.

In an interview, Alaska natural resources commissioner Phil R. Holdsworth said:

"There is a hue and cry for a corridor through the Panhandle. But it's not from industry, it's the politicians.

"The industries say they can get right-of-way and transportation through the national forests. some rather big logging operators are doing it now."

He was referring to cooperation between B.C., Alaska and the Yukon in the future of the north.

Mr. Holdsworth, here to address the 21st annual Olympic Logging Conference, said there is forseeable room for joint development of resources only in the area of hydro power, where water is a jointly-owned resource.

SMELTER SEEN

But allowing for development of transportation routes is also based on co-operation, he said.

Mineral and timber resources jurisdiction, and then the most economic routes will be taken.

Mr. Holdsworth, a graduate in geology and engineering, said most northern production is committed to smelters, leaving only the Vangorda territory in the Yukon as a possible smelter development.

are the key to northern expansion, the commissioner said.

an individual basis unless there

This likely would be done on are cases where a resource can not be developed intirely within a state, provincial or territorial

He did not feel Alaska smelter development would be required since Japan, the biggest market, believes in buying unprocessed material.

JAPAN MARKET

"Much of Alaska's copper production in future is going to Japan," he said.

A member of the B.C.-Yukon-Alaska water power group, Mr. Holdsworth predicted the Skagway area would be among the first joint hydro developments, making use of Yukon river headwaters and the Iskut river, a tributary of the Stikine.

Prime user will be a Canadian pulp mill, with surplus power likely to be sold to a number of Alaska communities nearby.

Smallwood Attacks Jackassery

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP) — Every time an announcement has been made that a paper mill will be set up in Newfoundland, including the first here 50 years ago, the proposals have met with "classic words of jackassery," Premier Smallwood said Thursday.

Officiating at ceremonies marking the $25,000,000 expansion of the Prince (Nfld.) pulp and paper mill here, he said the two mills now operating in the province had pumped $1,200,000,000 into the Newfoundland economy.

Opponents of the first mill said "it was the greatest swindle ever proposed in the colony" and "the jackasses were out again when the question of a mill at Corner Brook came up." The Bowaters (Nfld.) pulp and paper mill on the west coast now is one of the world's largest.

'F' IS FOR FORBES AND FABULOUS

Forbes Brilliant in Goal In Victory Over Leaders

Victoria 6, Coquitlam 4

By HAL MALONE

Victoria Shamrocks, on paper, figure to have as much chance of defeating Coquitlam Adanacs as a thing with antlers has of winning the Kentucky Derby.

Shamrocks have a new coach, Bert Bertola, he has barely had time to introduce himself to his players.

They lost a high-scoring forward (Ron Jay), a militant defenceman (Ed Kowalyk) and a superb playmaker (Jack Showers).

They do not have Billy Gray, the people-eater. Bill Munroe, who can drive a ball so hard the boards turn into sawdust, isn't yet available.

They did not even have a dress-rehearsal at Memorial Arena, locked up for the Victoria Maple Leafs.

With all these liabilities, Shamrocks made their home Inter-City Lacrosse League debut here Thursday 'utterly delightful by renouncing Adanacs 6-4.

No saliva tests were called for. None was needed.

Rocks were outweighed, outpummelled, and outshot.

But never outfought.

Spirit was the slingshot the Davids used to slew the Goliaths.

And Barry Forbes in goal. Ranjit Dillon up front. And 13 bodies in green suits who did not topple over in awe because Coquitlam was the enemy.

BARRY A PICKPOCKET

Forbes was the pickpocket who stole goals from Adanacs all night. Against a team which had not lost a game and won three, which had averaged 10.3 goals per victory, he was literally larcenous.

Eleven times, naked of a defenceman, he thwarted Adanac thrusts.

As Adanacs' playing-coach Gordy Gimple said: "We had the shots; he had the answers. Six goals doesn't win many games. Neither does four.

Gimple spoke from experience. He had Forbes to himself three times which is like giving the Mafia the key to the mint, but was always outguessed.

The next time Adanacs come to Victoria, they can expect improvement from Forbes. He hasn't played for two years.

THREE FOR RANJIT

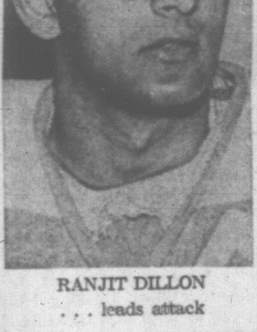
The beefier Adanacs (Ron Bodner, Fred Usselman and Marty Jordan would fill a bus by themselves) took turns trying to split his sacroiliac. He took home a few painful souvenirs of their clutching embraces, but he left a few too.



RANJIT DILLON
. . . leads attack

Three goals were his contribution. Not bad for a guy not much bigger than a fat jockey.

Unlike Gunsmoke the Rocks have two Dillons. The other one, Nirmal, didn't do much for Adanacs' peace of mind either. With his team shorthanded and holding precariously to a 1-0 lead, Nirmal gathered a loose ball, eluded two Adanacs and whistled the ball past an amazed Merv Schweitzer.

Don McNeill added the final nail in Coquitlam's coffin with a display of feinting that had Schweitzer swooning and the 1,000 customers screaming.

Gimple claimed Adanacs blew it because they underestimated the Rocks.

Now they know better.

Three Victoria Shamrocks have been chosen to play in the Inter-City Lacrosse League All-Star game Saturday at New Westminster.

The Dillons, Ranjit and Nirmal, and Reg Foster will line up with the Stars against the Mann Cup champion New Westminster team.

SERIES SQUARED

Hungry Miners Blank Beavers

CALGARY (CP)—Coach Roy Kelly of Drumheller Miners said Thursday night that "hunger" was behind his club's 5-0 defeat of Sherbrooke Beavers to tie the best-of-seven Allan Cup series 2-2.

But his players came up with a different answer: "We kept a man in front of their goal all the time and it paid off. We got three goals by deflections."

Defenceman Bob Solinger, who celebrated his 18th wedding anniversary with two goals, said: "in the other game we were leaving their goal fairly clear.

"Tonight, we kept one man out front all the time. And apart from being there for deflections it meant they had to pull a defenceman in and it screened their goalie."

KEEP UP PRESSURE

Miners maintained steady pressure on the Beavers, forcing Sherbrooke goaltender Serge Aubry to handle 16 shots in the second period. Drumheller netminder Al Rollins handled only seven shots in the period.

Aubry made 34 saves in all, Rollins 21.

Solinger's first goal was a screened point shot in the first period. Leopold's goals came in the second period, on a rebound after 21 seconds had elapsed, and again on a screen shot.

Solinger got his second goal in the third period when Miners picked up a loose puck and he tipped in Rock Crawford's rebound. Mailey broke in with a relay pass for the fifth goal.

Miners won the first game 6-3. Sherbrooke, defending champions, rebounded with a 4-1 victory in the second game and a 3-1 decision in the third.

Said Solinger: "That's another thing. We only scored two goals in two games and we've got a lot of scorers on this team. something had to burst sometime and it did tonight."

Fifth game is scheduled Saturday night in the 2,200-seat Foothills Arena, which both teams complain is too small. Third and fourth games were in the 6,600-seat Corral.

Mounties' Bat-Swinger Gets Year's Suspension

By JACK MOORE

VANCOUVER (CP)—The president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, Dewey Soriano, blew into town Thursday like a breath of peace.

Soriano's disciplinary visit followed the largest donnybrook in PCL history Wednesday night.

Seattle catcher Merritt Ranew was hit over the head with a bat by Vancouver first baseman Santiago Rosario, and members of both teams used fists on their opponents.

Thursday morning, in a Vancouver hotel lobby, Seattle pitcher Jim Coates received a bloody nose at the hands of Vancouver's Ricardo Joseph.

The incident at the ball park began when Coates' pitch hit Joseph and Joseph took after Coates. Ranew decked Joseph with a right to the chin. Players swarmed from the dugouts, but order was restored temporarily.

The next Vancouver hitter, Tom Reynolds, bunted down the first base line and went for Coates instead of the base. Ranew bounded out to intercept, but Rosario ran from the on-deck circle and hit Ranew with the bat.

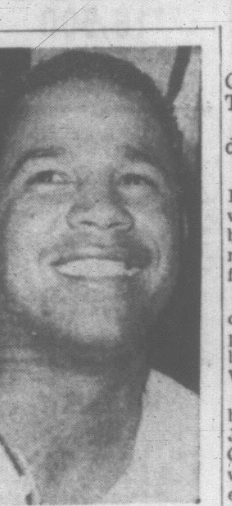
Ranew is undergoing medical tests in Seattle.

As a result, Rosario was suspended for the remainder of the year and fined $250; Ranew and Reynolds were fined $100 each; Joseph was fined $100 and given a four-day suspension; and Seattle manager Bob Lemon was fined $100 for press statements to the effect that if the league didn't take action, his players would.

Soriano said no assault charges had been laid by any player, and he hoped that none would be. "This sort of thing isn't very good for baseball."

The fines and suspensions were announced after a 2½-hour investigation in which Mr. Soriano heard some 20 witnesses.

There followed an entirely peaceful Thursday-night baseball game, which Seattle won 2-1 in 11 innings.



JUAN MARICHAL
. . . seventh win

This Marichal A Great Juan

Associated Press

Running as an entry, San Francisco Giants and Juan Marichal have become the scourge of the National League. Both extended lengthy winning streaks Thursday night—the Giants to 11 games and Marichal to seven—with a 3-0 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates.

San Francisco hasn't lost this month and Marichal hasn't lost this season. The ace right-hander lowered his earned run average to 0.76 with his second shutout.

Marichal allowed just six hits and struck out six for his sixth complete game. He has permitted just five earned runs in 59 innings.

The 11-game winning streak, longest in the majors this year, has opened a 4½-game lead for the Giants in the league standings.

PHILS SMACK DODGERS

Second-place Houston Astros were rained out at New York Thursday night. In other games, St. Louis Cardinals opened their new stadium with a 4-3 victory over Atlanta Braves in 12 innings and Philadelphia Phillies whipped Los Angeles Angels 5-1.

Marichal got the only run he needed on second-inning singles by Jim Hart, Jesus Alou and Ollie Brown against Pirate starter Bob Veale.

Hart homered in the fourth for San Francisco's second run.

Felipe Alou's second home run of the night had given the Braves a 3-2 lead going into the bottom of the ninth. But Alex Johnson singled with one out and reached second on Marty Keough's error. Johnson moved to third on an infield out and then scooted home on Jerry Buchek's looping single, tying the game at 3-3.

DRYSDALE ROUTED

Groat's shot against Don Drysdale, now 2-4, erased an early Los Angeles lead produced by Jim Lefebvre's ninth homer. The Phillies knocked Drysdale out in the fifth and scored three more runs off reliefer Ron Perranoski.

Unbeaten during a stretch of three games and two rainouts since being reinstalled as New York manager, Ralph Houk wanted Thursday night's weather-threatened game at Minnesota played in an attempt to maintain the Yankees' momentum.

But the Yankees ran out of momentum when they ran into Jim Merritt, and went down 4-3 to the Twins, the first loss since Houk replaced Johnny Keane and masterminded the streak that swept the Yankees out of last place into ninth.

The Yankees collected 11 hits, only one after Merritt came on in the sixth inning and cut off a Yankee rally.

On the other end of the standings, Chicago and Baltimore also played in poor weather, the White Sox defeating the Orioles 5-3 despite a constant drizzle. In the only other game played, Washington Senators downed California Angels 4-2.

Canada Loses First Match In Cup Tennis

PARIS (AP)—Francois Jauffret of France today defeated Mike Belkin of Canada 6-1, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 in a long tennis singles struggle, to give France a 1-0 lead in the Canada-France Davis Cup round.

Canada's hopes had been pinned on Belkin, young Canadian-born resident of Miami, Fla., winning two singles victories, with the possibility of another victory in the other two singles and one doubles match.

Tyler Rings Bell For Westminster

NEW WESTMINSTER — Mac Tyler's goal with four seconds left Thursday night gave New Westminster Salmonbellies a 14-13 Inter-City Lacrosse League victory over Vancouver Carlings.

Tyler's goal, his first of the season, came when he snared a pass from Paul Parnell and went in close to beat goalkeeper Stan Brown.

Result moved the Canadian champions into a tie with the losers. Both clubs have won once in three games and share second place with Victoria Shamrocks, who have a 1-1 record.

Bill Cooksley, with three goals, and Parnell, with two goals and two assists, led the winners, Bill Robinson and Gord Frederickson both scored three goals for Vancouver.

HURLS TWO-HITTER

Stewart Makes Bid For Rookie Honors

By TONY COSIER

Wayne Stewart didn't take long in establishing himself as a solid candidate for rookie-of-the-year honors in the Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League.

The husky 19-year-old right-hander pitched a strong two-hitter in his first start for King's Hotel Thursday night, allowing only one earned run in a 4-2 victory.

Stewart was in command throughout, fanning 13 while walking only four.

Stewart's control was sharp and he mixed his deliveries effectively, relying mostly on a quick curve in key situations.

McAdam drove in two runs in the first with a double to centre, then borrowed a page from Cuthbert's book to score on a double steal in the sixth.

Rawling's pitcher George Brice brought in his team's only earned run with a double in the third. Brice came around to score on the same play after an overthrow at third base.

Double Triumph For Mrs. Hicks

Mrs. W. V. Hicks won the Robinson Trophy with a net score of 75 at Uplands Golf Club. Mrs. J. Tribe and Mrs. T. Christie tied for second place, one stroke off the pace.

Mrs. Hicks also finished in first place in a women's medal contest at Uplands this week with a net 76.

Mrs. M. Betts, Mrs. D. Gage and Mrs. D. Sutton tied for first place in "B" division and Mrs. S. Gill took "C" division laurels.

Bota Balks Red Lion In Bid for Top Spot

Any aspirations Red Lion Inn had of moving into first place in the Senior A Men's Softball League were submarined Thursday by Don Bota.

Bota held the Lions to four hits, drove in two runs and scored one as Colony curbed Red Lion 8-2 at Heywood Park.

Colony pulled into second place and dropped Red Lion into third.

BALLET MAY SURVIVE IF SHORTS, BAR LAST

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP)—Fifteen burly rugby players marched into a ballet studio Thursday night to take ballet lessons.

Jean-Paul Comelin, guest dancer with the New Zealand Ballet Company for an Auckland festival, said ballet should be basic training for New Zealand rugby players. He said it would make them lighter on their feet and much fitter. "If the team cares to come to the theatre I am prepared to teach them some exercises," he said.

In the first five minutes a wall bar was dragged from the socket and a pair of shorts were split.

There will be more lessons next week.

Softball Scores

In Industrial-Commercial Softball League action at Macdonald Park Thursday, Island Tug defeated Yarrows 9-0; Victoria Plywood defeated Bapcos 6-3; Shepherd's Dairy defeated Post Office 17-15; and, Orphans defeated RCMP 12-11.

SWAMP FEVER SCARE . . . . . . CAUSES BRITISH ACTION

Ban on Horses Brings Derby Confusion

LONDON (AP) — Britain today banned racehorses from the Continent because of swamp fever, and immediately threw betting on the Derby classic into confusion.

The agriculture ministry said the order banning European horses from entering the country would apply from Sunday.

The Derby, with nine French entries, will be seriously hit if the ban is still in force at the time of the race — May 25.

The ban could have an even bigger effect on the Oaks for three-year-old fillies to be run at Epsom May 27.

The ministry statement said:

"There is at the moment a disease of horses in France which may be infectious equinine anaemia swamp fever. This is a most serious disease and it is essential in the interests of the British bloodstock industry to take all possible steps to prevent its introduction into this country.

"The ban has been extended to countries other than France because of the extensive traffic in horses on the Continent.

"Other moves will be made as soon as the disease situation warrants them."

GORDIE HOWE
. . . ninth time

MONTREAL (CP)—Chicago Black Hawks, who this season again missed their perennial quest for first place and were knocked out in the Stanley Cup semifinals, have won their share of National Hockey League stardom for 1965-66.

The Hawks, led by left winger Bobby Hull, won four of the six positions on the NHL's first all-star team, announced Thursday. They also took one spot on the second team.

THE TEAMS

The choices were made by sports writers and broadcasters in the six league cities. Points were awarded on the basis of five for a first-place vote, three for a second and one for a third.

Hull, who set records for most goals and most points in a season when he scored 54 goals and finished the campaign with 97 points, was the lone unanimous choice with 90 points in each half of the schedule.

All six players named to the first team have had all-star recognition in the past while three players named to the second team are making their first all-star appearances.

STAN SURGES

The only change from the mid-season poll is at centre where Mikita replaced Norm Ullman, of Detroit, who slipped to third place in the over-all voting.

Making their initial appearances on an all-star team are Worsley, Stapleton and Rousseau. Worsley, along with back-up netminder Charlie Hodge, won the Vezina Trophy at the end of the 1965-66 season.

TIES GOAL RECORD

Howe has been named to the first team a record-breaking ninth time and to either team for a record 17th time, including 11 straight seasons.

Hall, by being named for the sixth time, equals the goaltenders' record set by Bill Durnan, former Montreal netminder.

Hall also has been named to the second team three times and his total of nine appearances breaks the goaltenders' record of eight set by Frank Brimsek, former Boston Bruins player.

Pilote, Laperriere and Hull are holdovers from the 1964-65 first team while Mikita, Mahovlich and Howe were on the second team a year ago.

CLOSE VOTE

Voting was closest in the defence positions with only six points separating the players ranked fourth through seventh. Stapleton edged J. C. Tremblay of Montreal by one point for the second berth on the second team and Harry Howell of New York Rangers finished three points behind Stapleton. Doug Barkley of Detroit was six points away from the second-team berth.

Each player on the over-all first all-star squad receives $1,000 while second-team members each get $500. In addition, the leaders in the voting for each half receive $500 and the runners-up $250.

Those who led the second-half vote and who receive $500 are: Worsley, Stapleton, J. C. Tremblay, Beliveau, Hull and Howe. The runners-up in each position and winners of $250 in the second-half poll are: Hall, Howell, Stanley, Mikita, Rousseau and Mahovlich.

70 Owners File Early Plate Fees

TORONTO (CP) — Seventy horses have been nominated for the 107th running of the Queen's Plate at Woodbine racetrack here Saturday, June 25.

Hopeful owners on May 1 paid $100 each—a total of $7,000—to keep their three-year-olds eligible for North America's oldest continuously-run horse race.

Last year Whistling Sea, owned by Paul Oliver of Calgary, won the Plate and gave Western Canada its first Queen's Plate victory.

This year owners will be required to pay another $1,000 two days before the race when entering their horses for the 1¼-mile classic.

Oak Bay Defeats Claremont Team

Claremont had the only triple winner but Oak Bay had the most points (135-115) in an inter-high school track and field competition Thursday at Oak Bay.

FUSS OVER CHIN FUZZ AT AN END

DRUMHELLER, Alta. — (CP)—Drumheller has won the right to shave the beard of Don Luzzi, a tackle with Calgary Stampeders of the Western Football Conference.

Luzzi, this year's honorary Alberta Easter Seal chairman, promised he would permit his beard to be shaved by the Alberta centre which exceeded its Easter Seal quota by the largest percentage.

Art Butler, chairman of the Drumheller project, said Thursday the Drumheller area had exceeded its objective by 20 per cent.

Luzzi's beard became widely publicized last fall when he said he wouldn't shave until Stampeders won the Grey Cup. Stampeders lost the final game in the west and Luzzi still has the beard.

Top Archery Fare At Seaview Range

Did you ever have a hankering to watch archery experts in action?

If so, you can get a look at some of the sharpest shooters on Vancouver Island Sunday at the outdoor range of Seaview Archers, on Admirals Road, just off the Trans-Canada Highway.

Scheduled is the Seaview Centennial Shoot, which starts at 9 a.m. and is expected to finish about 4 p.m.

Contestants in men's, women's and junior events will pierce targets in American round, field round and hunter's round events. Entries have been received from all Island clubs.

Admission to the grounds will be free and lunches will be available.

Eyes on Skies; Four Tie Jack

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Sponsors of the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open golf tourney deliberately forgot to look at their calendar today—a Friday the 13th—and hoped the rash of rain-erased rounds on the 1966 tour wouldn't continue here.

Despite a heavy shower Thursday which halted play in the morning for 34 minutes, the first round went over with a bang as Jack Nicklaus and four others tied for the lead with four-under-par 68s.

Champagne Tony Lema, who said he had 'probably the best round I've played in six months," joined Nicklaus at the top along with Bob Goalby, Frank Beard and Charles Coody.

The group at 70 included Billy Casper and in the 17 bunched at 71 were Arnold Palmer, Doug Sanders, and Gay Brewer.

Until the Houston Champions International tourney a week ago, there had been five rounds washed out by rain since the 1966 tour got under way at Los Angeles. After heavy downpours and flooding, Houston cancelled the tourney.

Nicklaus sprayed the ball everywhere but to the fairways at the start. He hit two fairways out of the final 13 holes but made some sensational recovery shots. He twice laid chips on the green within six inches of the cup.

RUGBY WIN FOR UBC

TORONTO (CP) — Behind 6-0 at half-time, a touring rugger team from the University of British Columbia roared back Thursday to defeat Toronto Wanderers 16-6 in rain and mud.

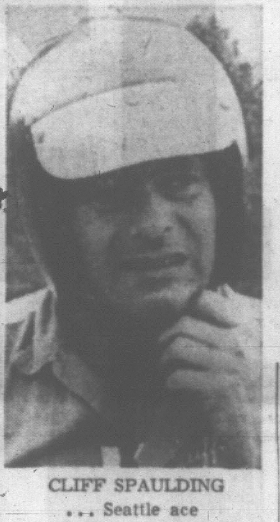
Mighty Midgets Run In Two Main Events



CLIFF SPAULDING
... Seattle ace

The mighty midgets, hardly bigger than a butterfly but with lots of sting and zing, come to Western Speedway Saturday night.

Two main events are scheduled with time trials commencing at 7:30 p.m. Victoria Auto Racing Association officials expect at least 20 cars for the meet.

Record 2,500 File Entries For U.S. Open

NEW YORK (AP) — A record field of approximately 2,500 has filed entry for the U.S. Open golf championship June 16-19 at San Francisco.

Entries are headed by Gary Player of South Africa, the defending champion. Ben Hogan, four-time winner of the title, was given a special exemption, raising the field for the 72-hole championship proper to 151 from 150.

Local qualifying will be staged at 61 centres May 23-24 and regional playoffs at 13 cities June 6-7. These tests are to determine the 124 players who will join 27 others exempt from qualifying.

'North-South' Game Grid Clinic Highlight

A "North-South" game between graduates of the Vancouver Island Football League will be one of the highlights of a coaching clinic to be staged Sunday at Cowichan.

The second annual Island football clinic at Cowichan Senior Secondary School will get under way 9:30 a.m.

In addition to the game, the clinic also will feature lectures, demonstrations and instructional films — all aimed at the development of competent instructors.

Guest speakers will include Lorne Davies, athletic director at Simon Fraser University; Frank Johnston, B.C. Lions' offensive coach; Bryan Prenttice, president of the B.C. Officials' Association; North Shore Cougars coach Larry Reda and Gordon McNab of Winston Churchill High.

DRAFT BOARD REJECTS . . . . . . ONE APPEAL BY CLAY

Muslim Code Contradicts Cass

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The chairman of Cassius Clay's local draft board says his interpretation of Muslim law contradicts the heavyweight champion's claim that serving in the armed forces would go against his religion.

The contradiction, J. Allen Sherman said Thursday, caused the rejection of one appeal made by Clay of his 1-A draft status.

The other appeal, in which Clay said induction in military service would present a hardship also was rejected by Local Board 47 in Louisville, Sherman said.

Edward Jacko Jr., Clay's attorney in New York, said: "The appeal is predicated mostly on hardship, because the hardship exists at this time."

But he said there are "eight or nine grounds for the appeal, including conscientious objector." Jacko didn't elaborate on the others.

Should Clay's conscientious objector appeal be upheld, he still would serve, either in noncombatant military series of non-military jobs, said Col. Everette S. Stephenson, director of Kentucky's selective service.

Sherman said the local board rejected Clay's appeal after "I looked up a little Muslim law.

"The Muslim code says the Muslims should obey the law of the land in which they reside. Now, the draft law is the law of the land.

"Another thing, the Muslims have their own military force. I don't see how they could say they are not militaristic when they have a military force of their own."

In London, where he is preparing for a May 21 world title fight against British heavyweight champ Henry Cooper, Clay had no comment on the decision.

He took the day off from sparring and spent it doing leg work and shadow boxing, watched by former French boxing champion Georges Carpentier.

"That's me," said Clay. "Hit and run. Hit and don't be hit."

From the other corner Cooper, who had his last fight with Clay stopped in the fifth round because of extensive bleeding, asked that the fight be allowed to continue, despite any bleeding until his handlers called a halt.

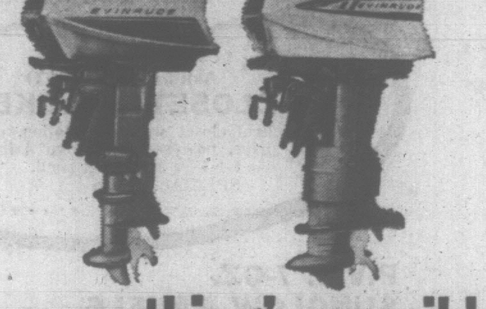
we're going on a picnic!
we're going water skiing!

with Evinrude's 33's and the family 40's



...everything's possible

Okay, what do you want to do? Cruise? Fish? Picnic? Water ski? Or just lounge around and get a "ship-board" tan? Whatever it is, you can do it with one of Evinrude's great all-purpose family motors—the 33's and 40's.

They're quiet. Rugged. Dependable. Built for enjoyment. You'll find manual or electric starting models, also a 40 with electric shift. Then there's the Cruis-Throttle fuel saver to stretch those fun-filled miles per gallon. There is ample power to snap a pair of skiers out of the water with ease. And what's good for skiers is also good for getting away to fish all day long. That's where versatility counts. You'll find these Evinrude 33 and 40 hp. outboards can do everything you want to do. Go everywhere you want to go. As fast as you want... or slow—for controlled, very quiet trolling. Try them, the versatile family motors—the 33's and 40's from Evinrude.

There's an Evinrude just made for your requirements 3, 5, 6, 9½, 18, 33, 40, 60, 80, 100 horsepower. Also, OMC stern drive units: 90, 120, 150 and 200 hp. models.

All Evinrudes use a 50-1 gas/oil mixture which increases engine life, saves wear and expense. And every Evinrude carries a full 2-year warranty.

COAST TO COAST NEWSPAPERS SELL THE MOST!

How much should you pay for your tires? What class of tire should you buy? Is a $12 tire a bargain? Is a $39 tire too expensive?

It depends.

On you and your car, and where and how you drive. On how much driving you do. On the kind of driving you do. On how fast you usually drive. On the ride you want from your car. On how long you expect your tires to last.

Tires differ in price and they differ in performance. They differ in price because they differ in performance. Some are built for one kind of driving, and some for another.

That's why one person can buy a so-called cheap tire and get a bargain—the tire performs well for him. It's also why another person can buy the same tire and get trouble—the tire lets him down.

Your aim in buying a tire is to buy the right tire. The right price is what you are satisfied to pay to get the right tire. Right tires come in all price ranges. The important thing is to know the tire that's right for your car and the way you drive it.

That's why Seiberling, alone among all tire manufacturers, developed Performance Rating. That's why every Seiberling tire has a Performance Rating number. That's why Seiberling dealers use Performance Rating Charts—to give you tire information you can immediately relate to your car and the way you drive it.

When you've taken a moment to think about your car and the way you drive it, you've taken the first step towards buying the right tire. The second step is to look up a Seiberling dealer. And a Seiberling Performance Rating Chart.

It's got your number.

It's the Wildest Goose-Chase Ever!

By GLEN ALLAN
Times Staff Reporter

COURTENAY — The bright Saturday after a rainy Friday Jim Livesley pulled on the workboots he'll never again wear in earnest and went to the country to see his geese.

Lovey, Dovey and their daughter Tweedy, probably the most famous geese in the country, had been away from home for three months.

Faced with an amendment to the city pound law which guarantees their impoundment, he sent them to the country, a spot near Comox airport.

At the farm they were in a pen with chickens, acting like geese in a pen with chickens usually act.

Mr. Livesley asked his wife Nina if she thought the geese remembered them. She thought they did.

They seemed ordinary geese. But this trio of Courtenay-bred, Courtenay-raised birds are the geese that laid the golden controversy.

They and their owner have prompted countless articles in B.C. newspapers, a network television spot, a piece in a New York magazine, and a B.C. Supreme Court case. (Mr. Livesley's challenge of the bylaw amendment).

Mr. Livesley went to jail twice for these geese; Courtenay city council passed a bylaw, which in the words of the man who first felt its force, "is unparalleled in Canada."

A local sage wrote a letter to the editor of the Comox District Free Press beginning: "Geese once save Rome by their honking — geese have sounded another kind of warning in Courtenay."

It all began early this year when a complaint from a neighboring brother-in-law and a nearby motel owner brought the town's anti-noise bylaw into play.

Mr. Livesley, on refusing to pay a $5 fine for allowing "noisy" animals on his property, spent a day — ("though it was really just a few minutes") — in jail.

He kept the geese, and went to jail again for a day and a night.

The geese stayed, but wouldn't have stayed for long. The city passed an amendment to the pound bylaw which would ensure their impoundment despite Mr. Livesley's stoicism and delaying tactics.

"I wouldn't mind going to jail again," said Mr. Livesley, who suffers from multiple sclerosis, "but I knew they'd put the geese in with the dogs and that would be that.

"And I liked those geese. I can't say I'm heartbroken they're gone — I'm not. Geese live for ever. I'd have had to get rid of them one day anyway."

Mr. Livesley got the geese more than two years ago "because they squawked a little when anyone was around."

"There used to be a lot of funny business in the refinery next door. The geese would hear it and wake me up.

"Like all birds, except maybe for the owl, they were naturally silent at night.

"We used to have goats and rabbits, anything that walked or waddled on the place. Then they draw the line at the geese."

Mr. Livesley's house is on the riverbank and secluded. His brother-in-law, he says, has since moved.

"And out there the dogs are still barking to hear their own voices and people are still drooling at the mouth when wild geese go honking down the riverway.

"It's all so silly."

Mr. Livesley is quick to admit his quarrel is not so much with the town as with his family. His wife was left choice property in the area. A relative, he says, got some not-so-choice property.

That, he says, is the key to the wildest goose-chase ever.

It has generated spite, acrimony and nonsense on all sides, "even though," said one Courtenay man who said he used to admire Mr. Livesey, "it put this town on the map."

Mr. Livesley says the city clerk has told him he is not even going to be allowed to have a dog on his property from now on. All he has now is a cat and some goldfish.

A Courtenay alderman, Sandy Strachan, said, "We're right in the middle. We have to have some teeth in our laws, yet now we're going to have to go out and impound every wild duck or goose that hits the side of the bridge."

"The important thing," Mr. Livesley says, "is not the geese. But something will have been accomplished if people realize that the law can't be used as a weapon by one man to club another."

LOUISE UNDERWOOD

'WHAT ABOUT PROMISE?'

Indians Dejected Over House Grant

DUNCAN — Cowichan Indian Band Council is bitterly disappointed in a $14,000 federal grant for house construction.

Said Louise Underwood, band secretary: "This is barely enough to build two houses. There are 32 applicants and it takes no account of additions and repairs."

The $14,000 is the band's share of $80,000 allocated for the entire Cowichan agency which covers 19 bands.

Miss Underwood said the grant is a slight increase on last year but the band had been confident of getting more.

SECOND YEAR

It is the second year of a $112 million five-year plan to improve reserve housing conditions across Canada.

Cowichan Band will ask Indian Affairs Minister Arthur Laing, "What has happened to the low-rate loan scheme promised before the last election by your predecessor Jack Nicholson?"

Miss Underwood said: "We are making the inquiry because of the large number of requests for housing assistance."

WORKING INDIANS

Miss Underwood announced the band will get a grant for its education committee.

The community services branch of the Indian Affairs department was asked for $4,280 but no sum has been specified.

Miss Underwood said part of the money would help finance the band's day nursery for preschool children, and part would pay for the services of a part-time social worker.

AIR CRASH INQUEST TONIGHT

ALERT BAY—An inquest on four men who died when a B.C. Airlines plane crashed on the mainland April 12 was to resume here tonight.

An inquiry has since determined that the plane, piloted by Victorian Jim McLellan, 25, hit a tree in isolated McKinnon Inlet, 30 miles northeast of Port Hardy.

Killed were the pilot, company president J. O. Hass, 55, of Vancouver; George McBryer, 50, company director, of Vancouver, and buyer Geoffrey Bell, 35, of North Surrey.

They were flying to a logging camp in Seymour Inlet when the plane crashed into a lagoon.

FOUR MEN ABOARD

Pleasure Cruiser Saved From Heavy Sea by Navy

NANAIMO—A crippled pleasure cruiser with four men aboard was towed into harbor here today after wallowing helplessly in heavy seas for more than an hour.

As the 36-foot vessel was tossed about in the heavy swell, skipper-owner Tom Jones, of Alberni, tried unsuccessfully to restart the motor.

RADIOED FOR HELP

With the shoreline of Nanoose Bay not far away, Mr. Jones radioed for help to the air-sea-rescue centre at Vancouver.

The RCN tug St. Anthony was only a few miles away and was able to secure a tow before the vessel was badly battered.

Midway between Nanoose Bay and Nanaimo the tow was handed over to the Nanaimo Harbor patrol vessel, the N. H. Patrol.

At press time, Mr. Jones had still not discovered the fault which caused the power failure.

ISLAND DIGEST

'Hospital Concert Open Tonight

CHEMAINUS—The Hospital Day concert in Chemainus has become one of the entertainment highlights in recent years.

This year it has been extended to two days.

The concert, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to Chemainu Hospital, is being staged tonight and Saturday night in the high school auditorium.

Hospital board members and John Cannon, North Cowichan council representative on the board, will parade themselves as female impersonators.

'AROUND WORLD'

Theme of the concert is "Around the World," and various sketches, song and dance routines will be played out on a simulated airport lounge.

Kuper Island Indian School band and Chemainus High School band will take part and young artists will include soloist Carol Daniels and dancer Tina Limberis.

There will be 85 in the cast and joint producers are Mrs. P. S. R. Carnac and Mrs. Gordon Heyden.

New Channel To Help Salmon

VANCOUVER (CP) — A project to boost B.C.'s salmon fishing industry by $164,000 every two years was announced Thursday by the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission.

The project involves an artificial spawning channel for pink salmon at Seton Creek, near Lillooet.

The channel, to be built this summer, will cost $175,536, will provide a spawning area for at least 21,000 pinks. It is 9,800 feet long and 20 feet wide.

Autopsy Ordered In Woman's Death

ALERT BAY — An autopsy has been ordered on pretty lab technician Patricia Edith Ambers, whose body was found in the bathroom of her home here Thursday.

As yet, police do not know how the 28-year-old married woman died.

Her logger husband was working in the woods at the time.

Police say there is no suspicion of foul play. An inquiry will be held by the local coroner.

Mrs. Ambers leaves three step-children.

Firemen Rescue Stranded Youth

NANAIMO—Harold Arsenault, 14, discovered Thursday that what goes down can't necessarily get back up.

The young schoolboy learned the lesson when he ended up stranded in the middle of Nanaimo River after jumping down a rock bluff.

On a field trip with school chums from Quennel Elementary, he was warned by his teacher not to attempt the trip on the rocks.

16 Canoes Ready For Race

DUNCAN — Sixteen 11-man war canoes are expected to compete in the Cowichan Indian Corpus Christi water sports here Sunday.

The events will all take place on Quamichan Lake, including log birling contests.

Track sports will be held on the reserve Saturday afternoon.

Faulty Fridge Fatal

FORT ST. JOHN (CP) — A faulty gas refrigeration unit was blamed for the deaths Monday of Mr. Clifford Morroe and his wife Gladys at Buick Creek near here. Their bodies were discovered in their home by George Unruh, an oil company employee. RCMP are still investigating the deaths.

W. Germany Leading In Bridge

AMSTERDAM (AP) — The third round Thursday of the world bridge tournament for open and women's pairs changed the standings title.

In the open pairs, J. Pressburger and K. Thaldorf of West Germany continued to lead with 5,282 points, followed by the Dutch pair of C. Slavenburg and J. Kreijns.

In the women's fourth-round competition, Mrs. Nancy Gruver and Mrs. David Sachs of the United States, moved to the top of the standings with 2,776 points, 10 ahead of Mrs. Mary Jane Farel and Miss Peggy Solomon of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Phillips of Toronto, were in eighth place in the open series with 4,911.

In other women's games, Mrs. Matty McGill and Mrs. P. Smolinsky of Calgary slipped to seventh from sixth place after four rounds, with 2,515.

AGAINST OPENING OF ROAD

Four Angry Indians on Warpath

BIG BEND, Calif. (UPI) — Angry Indians, armed with an axe instead of a tomahawk and riding a bulldozer rather than horses, attacked law enforcement officers Thursday in a heated land dispute.

Four Indians went on the warpath at the Big Bend Rancheria reservation, sheriff's deputies said, when the lawmen tried to enforce a court order requiring the Indians to re-open a logging road that runs through their 40-acre rancheria.

Sheriff Don Balma and his deputies arrived at the Indian community located in the shadow of Mt. Shasta, and tried to arrest Delia Souza and Jack Potter. They said the Indians pelted lawmen with stones while one charged toward them with an axe and another tried to ram their car with a 20-ton bulldozer.

"We weren't worried about the rocks as much as the bulldozer," Balma said.

The four arrests left the tiny Indian band with only one adult to shepherd about 10 children. Mrs. Mildred Rhoades said she did not participate in the melee because the Indians wanted one member of their Big Bend Indian estates council free to "retain channels of possible help."

Reorganization Left Montreal In Confused State: Producer

By DENNIS ORCHARD

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC's organizational grief has penetrated the language barrier, the Commons broadcasting committee was told Thursday.

Disquiet over lack of authority in public affairs programming is rife within the French-language television network, a producer testified.

A public affairs supervisor said CBC structure is even more chaotic in Montreal than in Toronto, home of the controversy over the program This Hour Has Seven Days.

Producer Claude Desorcy said matters that should be settled by supervisors in Montreal often are sent to head office in Ottawa. The decisions take a long time to hatch.

Mr. Desorcy produces La Sel de la Semaine, a weekly program ranging somewhere between the English network's Seven Days and Newsmagazine in its treament of current issues.

CONDUCTED IN FRENCH

His supervisor, Marc Thibault, was the other witness before the committee in a sitting conducted almost exclusively in French.

Mr. Thibault's contribution was an 8,000-word document analyzing CBC troubles. It left the committee a little breathless and MPs decided to hold their examination of Mr. Thibault until Monday, when English translations will be available.

Both men said that without imaginative, clear-cut control over public affairs broadcasting, the creative people of the CBC will be stifled and discouraged.

Mr. Desorcy said producers want greater authority with efficient grievance procedures and assusrance of "complete confidence" from management in carrying out their jobs.

Producers now feel they are alone in taking the risks essential to win viewers.

LEFT CONFUSION

Mr. Thibault said a corporate reorganization six months ago, more fully applied in Montreal than Toronto, has left the CBC's structure in confusion.

The right of top management to make decisions was incontestible, but in bypassing middle management to make decisions about programming, head office had created confused and false situations.

In most jobs, existence of serious differences in principle should mean resignation, Mr. Thibault said. But it would be "too easy" to resign.

If major opposition to CBC management had been the standard for resignation, he would have resigned "100 times."

He chose to fight for a new journalism in which public affairs programming could acquire its own soul and carry to the public something "living, dynamic and extremely personal."

Flood Sweeps Dawson City As Ice Jams Yukon Rivers

DAWSON CITY, Y.T. (CP) — Ice jams from waters of the Yukon and Klondike Rivers have caused flooding of low-lying regions of Dawson City, about 1,150 miles northwest of Edmonton.

One oldtime resident described the flooding as the worst experienced by Yukon City in about 40 years. There were no reports of injuries or loss of lives.

The ice jams were understood to have occurred at the junction of the two rivers several miles west of Dawson. The water and ice jammed up against sand bag dikes Wednesday, then broke loose.

Some homes are flooded with up to five feet of water and sewer and water lines are plugged. Residents in affected areas have been moved to higher ground.

It was not known how many Dawson City residents were affected by the flooding. Five hospital patients were moved to a new government administration building.

Commissioner G. R. Cameron, territorial engineer Ken Baker and other officials flew to Dawson from Whitehorse, Y.T. Thursday.

Mr. Cameron commended the town for preparing for the flood and said action taken assured there would be no lives lost.

DYNAMITE ICE

The department of public works has dynamited an ice bridge on the larger Yukon River in an attempt to relieve pressure of tightly packed ice, four to five feet thick.

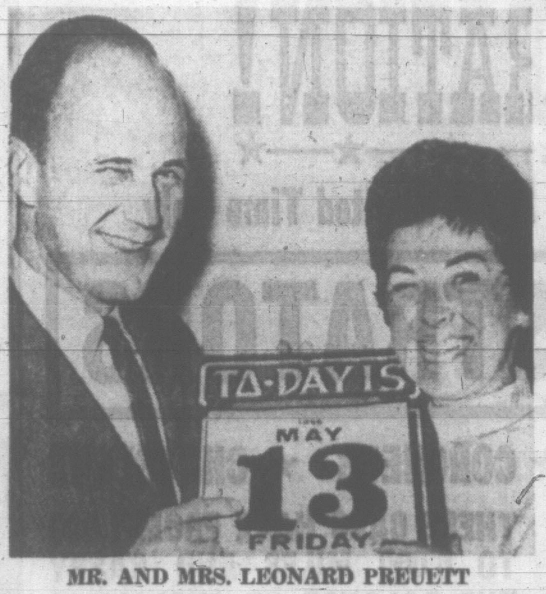
Danny MacDonald, 87, rowed his boat around the streets of Dawson Wednesday rescuing stranded residents.

Mopping-up procedures will begin as soon as an inundated power house is cleaned up and power is restored. There have been no estimates of damage.

Whitehorse is 330 miles south of Dawson City. Dawson has a population of about 900 persons.



MR. AND MRS. LEONARD PREUETT

On Second Thoughts A Little Superstitious

DETROIT (AP) — Both Leonard Pruett and his wife were born on Friday the 13th but she says it doesn't bother them a bit. Well, not much, anyway.

Pruett, 43, of Detroit, says he's not superstitious at all. His wife says she's superstitious "just in small things: I don't walk under ladders and I especially don't like black cats to walk in front of me."

She was asked if she expected anything unusual to happen today, a Friday the 13th.

"No," she said, but added after a second thought: "I keep saying that and now I'm beginning to worry a little. I guess I'd better knock on wood."

. . . Internal Split

Macdonald said Thursday night's gathering had no power to vote and a special membership meeting would be called within a week.

He said that at one point about 25 union members "charged the executive board room, and I think they were seeking to attack the president —me."

He said he planned to see the company today to try for a peaceful settlement as soon as possible.

Lenkurt President C. W. Hunter said he would meet Mr. Macdonald when the situation "stabilized."

Early today, President E. T. Staley of the B.C. Federation of Labor issued a public appeal to dismissed Lenkurt employees to stay away from the plant "to avoid further violence."

Meanwhile, a special B.C. Supreme Court investigation was held Thursday to get information for possible contempt charges against demonstrators. It was adjourned until Monday to let RCMP compile information on violence at the Lenkurt plant.

The court previously issued injunctions banning certain picketing, but officers told the hearing the pickets ignored the court orders.

. . . RAID

A sortie is one strike by one plane and a military spokesman said each mission in Thursday's raid involved at least two sorties, making it the greatest of the war.

92 KILLED

In other ground action, South Vietnamese troops, backed up by American helicopter gunships, swept through the Viet Cong village of My Thanh in a three-sided assault, killing 92 of the enemy. A government spokesman credited the gunships with killing most of the guerrillas.

The troops found a huge underground supply cache containing 20,000 pounds of rice and 10,000 tubes of drugs.

In other war action:

- U.S. navy air force and marine pilots flew 335 combat sorties against Viet Cong bunkers, trenches, buildings and sampans in South Viet Nam.
- U.S. B52s suspected Communist bivouac and training areas west of Da Nang and 375 miles north of Saigon during the night.

12 Passengers Killed

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — Twelve passengers were killed and 13 others seriously injured when a bus plunged from a 150-foot cliff in Sangdong, 85 miles southeast of Seoul, according to reports received here Thursday.

FIGHTING back tears as she lets out a scream of joy is Nancy Brackett, a blue-eyed blonde from Boston who was named Miss Massachusetts. She will represent the Bay State in the Miss U.S.A.-Miss Universe competition at Miami Beach next week.

Impoliteness Leads To Assault and Fine

A bad bounce for a football led to a $50 fine and an assault conviction in central court Thursday for David Swanbeck, 498 Vincent.

He was convicted of assaulting Albert Whittingham, 2624 Roseberry, April 17.

That afternoon Mrs. Whittingham was reading a book in her back yard when a ball "landed in the middle of my prize rose bush."

BROKE BUSH

"It broke it all three ways," she testified.

A boy later appeared at the fence, asked for the ball, but the woman did not return it.

Then Swanbeck climbed over the fence, ran through the property and retrieved the ball, she told the court.

PROTESTED

Mr. Whittingham said he told the boy who came for the football to tell Swanbeck to ask permission before entering his yard.

After the message was delivered Swanbeck "came running up the driveway, put two hands up and grabbed me," Mr. Whittingham said.

He added they exchanged words and Swanbeck hit him on the ear and temple with his fist, causing his ear to bleed.

W. Germany To Launch Satellite

BONN (Reuters)—West Germany will launch its first satellite late in 1968 with an American Scout rocket, the science ministry announced today.

The satellite—to have an orbit varying from 160 to 1,800 miles from earth—will study inner radiation belts and the Aurora Borealis, the announcement said.

Nine West German firms are participating in the project—a joint venture between the American National Space and Aeronautics Administration and the West German science ministry.

Early experimental rockets will likely be launched this year from Fort Churchill, Man. Later probes using Javelin rockets launched from Natal, Brazil, are scheduled for 1967.

Students Join Armed Posse

SHADE GAP, Pa, (UPI) — Nearly 200 college and high school students joined a large armed posse in the nearby Tuscarora Mountains today in the third day of a search for 17-year-old Peggy Ann Bradnick and her kidnapper.

State police and FBI agents leading the search indicated they believed the pretty high school junior and her kidnapper, thought to be a long-sought deranged sniper known as the "mysterious masked mountain man," still were in a rugged, wooded mountainous area west of here.

No trace of the captive and her captor has been found since she was kidnapped Wednesday while walking home from a school bus with her five younger brothers and sisters.

Tight Control Advocated In Drug Sale

OTTAWA (CP)—A committee of three experts has urged tighter federal control over manufacture, testing and sale of drugs.

Its report, submitted to the government July 14, was tabled in the Commons Thursday by Health Minister MacEachen.

The minister said some drug and patent regulations are being changed in line with recommendations by the committee, while other changes were being considered.

Headed by Dr. Irwin Hilliard, physician - in - chief at Toronto Western Hospital, it found most new drugs were not produced under licence.

Special regulations were needed because drugs had become much more powerful and dangerous and the public was unable to realize some of the dangers inherent in the misuse of some drugs.

NEW PATENTS

Patents should not be issued to drug manufacturers until the food and drug directorate makes a favorable report on the competency of the company to produce the drug in question, said the committee.

Mr. MacEachen said his department has made arrangements to submit such reports on the competency of drug manufacturers applying for new patents.

Other recommendations:

1. Before a licensed drug is released, the manufacturer should furnish the health department with a sample, copies of labels and promotional literature and evidence the drug conforms to federal standards. The firm's plant should be inspected.

2. When the holder of a drug patent enters into an agreement with another firm or person to produce the drug in Canada, he should notify the health department. The manufacturer would have to meet the same requirements as the patent holder.

FOR SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Mueller to Play Dixie

At the Sunday-Monday Victoria Symphony Orchestra scholarship concerts, Otto-Werner Mueller will exchange — not for the first time — his baton for a piano keyboard.

This will be the first time in this city, however, that he will take on the role of pianist for a Dixieland group.

All the musicians in the group will be regular symphony players.

In this "something-for-everyone" pair of concerts, popular classics will include the Grieg A minor Concerto with Robin Wood as solo pianist, a Strauss waltz and Poet and Peasant Overture.

Another group will be a typical German band, complete in costume of leather hosen and Tyrolean hats.

And for jazz lovers, noted trumpeter Bobby Herriot will lead a jazz group made up of symphony musicians amplified by one or two guests including saxophonists.

All proceeds of these concerts at the Royal Theatre will go to the Hans Gruber scholarship fund for Victoria Symphony musicians undertaking advanced study.

DISNEY

Nobel Peace Prize For Disney Urged

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—A nationwide campaign is developing in Argentina to nominate film producer Walt Disney for the Nobel Peace Prize.

The idea came from a Buenos Aires theatre owner who invited several hundred prominent persons to a meeting Monday night and won unanimous support for the plan.

Now the country's most popular paper, the mass-circulation daily Clarin, supports the idea, and praises the celebrated producer of cartoons for his contribution to spiritual values and his "clean and highly moral message of goodness in this troubled period of world history."

The Argentinian Federation of Associations for the Protection of Animals has adopted the nomination and has undertaken to launch the idea formally.

FEATURED ARTIST

Terry Going Home For Centre Opening

Returning to the scene of her childhood and first successes, singer Terry Cain left for Vernon today to appear as featured artist at opening ceremonies of a $2,200,000 civic centre.

The centre will be opened by Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp.

Also participating will be B.C. Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell.

RADIO SHOW

Hebrew Varsity Honors Massey In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — It was Canada day at Jerusalem's Hebrew University Wednesday when Vincent Massey, first Canadian-born governor-general of Canada, dedicated a hall in his name at the Jewish National and University Library.

He and a party of Canadian friends, accompanying him on a Mediterranean yacht cruise, also inspected an exhibition of books and documents relating to Canada, including a 1639 atlas of Canada.

Massey continued his Israeli visit Thursday, in the course of a Mediterranean and Middle East tour that has taken him to several Greek islands and Arab states.

Massey and his party leave today for Cyprus. They expect to be back in Canada at the end of May.

Queen Visits Battle Fields, War Memorials

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip conclude their five-day state visit to Belgium today with a commemorative tour of First World War battlefields in West Flanders.

Today's itinerary included a visit to the mediaeval town of Burges, then tours of the Tyne Cot cemetery, largest British burial place of First World War dead in the area; the Canadian war memorial at Langemark, and the town of Ypres, where the British suffered their greatest losses during a long defence.

The town contains the Themenin Gate, an arch of triumph that carries the names of 68,600 English soldiers who fell in the Ypres region.

BIG PUFF AT 108

And doctors aren't likely to ask him to give them up.

Mr. Green will be 108 in August.

He says he was a woodsman in the nearby Sharbot Lake area before he entered hospital as a transient in 1954. He carried proof of age which said he was born Aug. 6, 1858.

GROWTH ISN'T ENOUGH

Let's Keep Victoria A Little Different

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Victorians like myself who claim this city as a birthplace must have mixed feelings of pride and suspense as they see the changes taking place and read of more to come.

Forbes

We jogged along for years with the same city image. It became so familiar we could see it in almost perfect outline, even when miles from home.

We loved its casualness. We boasted of its leisurely tempo. And no matter how far we travelled we always came back with a sigh of relief to "our city" which never changed, we told people, even when the rest of the world was in a state of flux.

That image is rapidly disappearing. It's being fused into an entirely different outline that at first glance is more than a little startling.

It's something like watching a girl who has displayed a certain amount of youthful attractiveness suddenly blossom into a beautiful woman. You know it's the same person but it takes time to get used to the new image — even if it is an exciting one.

Right now it's easy to liken Victoria to a woman blossoming into a mature beauty. It's easy because it is true.

This city had a long and uneventful adolescence in which there was little change in its growth or in its visual outlines. Indeed, it almost stood still.

To all intents and purposes we who lived here seemed willing to have it remain in this youthful state — not because we were against change but because we could not visualize anything better.

There were those among us however who not only loved official planners but commercial developers. And it is becoming increasingly evident that we now have a city not only with a new outline but also one that is being wooed by diversified interests.

Victoria but who saw its latent possibilities.

They were determined that these possibilities must be allowed to come to life in a way that would bring beauty and distinction to our city.

The metamorphosis began back in the years when Cathedral Square was enlarged to include the Law Courts. It continued with the face-lifting of City Hall, the creation of Centennial Square and the resurrection of the McPherson Playhouse.

It is being carried forward in the rebirth of Bastion Square and a start on beautification of the Gorge.

Perhaps in the beginning we mourned a little as each change chipped away at the city image we knew so well. Eventually we learned to look at these changes in proper perspective and to take pride in the new look.

Today that pride is tinged with suspense. Suggestions with a different slant are being made public — not by

Here perhaps is a danger.

Will those who make the final decisions be far-sighted enough to visualize the city outline as it should evolve in the years ahead? Do they possess the wisdom to choose only those suggestions that continue to meld with the image that has already been created (and that does not, to my mind, include a space needle sticking up like a sore thumb at our front door)?

Will they have the determination to keep that image within the correlated design that has been outlined?

It will not be easy. Indeed I would think that the more enthusiasm there is in regard to the growth of our city, the harder it will become.

Taking the long view however, it is not only growth that we want — nor that we need.

We are well launched on the development of a city with a distinctive outline that continues to place it in the category of being just a little different from other cities.

It would seem not only imaginative but sensible to keep it that way.

INFORMER REFUSES TO TESTIFY

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (UPI) —The FBI informer who said he witnessed the nightrider slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo has had "a bellyful" and won't testify at the trial of a Ku Klux Klansman charged in the murder, a U.S. federal official said Thursday.

The refusal of Gary Thomas Rowe to take the witness stand again resulted in a postponement of the trial which had been scheduled to start Monday.

Arthur Mayse

It occurs to me that our quaint city tucked away in the lotusland of the farthest west is doing rather well for itself these years.

Its Maple Leafs have proved themselves more formidable at ice hockey than any other team in their league, trampling boastful Vancouver and humbling proud Portland.

We have a civic theatre that has defied the gloom criers by stubbornly refusing to fold. Adjoining it is a superb new downtown square, and another is coming along. We are hosts to an expanding university.

Also, we have a scad of eating places of unimpeachable quality, motor hotels in the modern manner, a major waterfront development projected for the Inner Harbor, and a population total which I predict will surprise us mightily at the next census.

I could go on, but my point requires no further elaboration. For better or worse, and like it or not, Victoria is growing up.

Eventually, I suppose the log barge will take over from the log boom, but from our windows overlooking Haro Strait, the creeping tug with its lengthy tow is still a familiar fair-weather sight.

During dinner the other evening, we kept casual track of a large, red-funneled towboat as it crept along the strait with its long train following meekly several hundred feet astern.

Between glances, the picture changed. The boom was of a sudden drastically shorter. We got up for a better view, and across a widening gap, saw the rear portion of the tow adrift on the tide.

Up ahead, the towboat skipper was losing no time. He had turned the forward portion of his raft loose, and his workhorse craft was heading briskly down toward the strayed sections.

It wheeled neatly alongside them. Through the glasses that longshore folk keep handy, we saw a crewman scampering across the logs. While he toiled, the tug inched the truant sections toward a union with the rest of the boom.

The man on the logs poked and prodded the stragglers back into their pen. Presently he was joined by a second catfoot off the tug, and between them, they made all secure.

With daylight still in hand, and a job of marine trail-herding smartly accomplished, the tug plodded on north.

Later, I learned she was the Island Navigator, a 1,300-horsepower member of the brawny Island Tug and Barge fleet. At Saanichton, veteran captain John Webb put in to make permanent repairs, and by now, I expect those logs are safely delivered to Island and Fraser River mills.

"The moving finger writes," we are reminded by Omar Khayyam, a Persian poet who liked his wine, "and having writ moves on; nor all our piety and wit shall (something-something) cancel half a line nor all our tears wash out a word of it."

However, times change, and it has become common practice in Communist lands to rewrite history as political expediency dictates.

Stalin, for instance, did a pretty thorough job of sponging out Trotsky, and come to think of it, when did Stalin's name last turn up in a Soviet dispatch?

This useful erasure of embarrassing or awkward records now seems to have been adopted at Ottawa, where the National Battlefields Commission proposes to amend the outcome of the Battle of the Plains of Abraham as recorded on Wolfe's monument at Quebec City. This will be accomplished by dropping the word "victory."

The red-haired Englishman who stormed the heights won't care, and if this nonsense serves the cause of unity, good enough. At the same time, let the new Canadian history at least record that Wolfe the dauntless didn't get licked!

Bennett Cagey About Side-Trip to Los Angeles

PREMIER BENNETT
. . . 'didn't see Mickey Mouse'

By JOHN MIKA

Premier Bennett Thursday returned from New York and a mysterious side trip to Los Angeles without a $100 million loan for power development and without an immediate election announcement.

He did, however, reiterate his appeal for labor-management "restraint" in wage negotiations and his warning the government is studying cutbacks on some public works because of high prices.

The premier told reporters he did not make any formal requests for loans when he met with Wall Street bankers because he only went to New York with deputy finance minister Gerald Bryson to "study the (bond market) situation, not to test it."

'VERY FRIENDLY'

He said he was satisfied that American financial houses are "very friendly" to B.C.

But he still has not decided whether he will borrow money from them, from Canadian investment firms or put up provincial funds to cover the $100 million gap still left in financing $310 million for Peace and Columbia construction projects during the current fiscal year.

In any event, he said, the government would not try to float a $100 million loan in one stroke but would phase it out over several bond issues.

Mr. Bennett confirmed speculation that he had flown direct to Los Angeles from New York Wednesday before returning here.

He said he had been on the go for 20 hours to make the unannounced side trip before returning but would only reveal he had been "seeing industrialists" in Los Angeles.

"I did not see Walt Disney and I did not see Mickey Mouse," he quipped. But he would say no more.

Mr. Bennett shrugged off opposition claims that B.C. Hydro and provincial finances were in trouble and that he would call a snap election on his return.

CAGEY REPLY

"I came back and I haven't announced one," he said, but when asked if this meant there was no chance of a June election the premier replied: "I didn't say that."

He said opposition critics would claim it was extravagant boasting but "the government has never been in as good financial shape as now" and B.C. Hydro is in no difficulty.

"Within weeks the opposition parties will say we have too much money," he predicted.

Mr. Bennett said the government at this moment has $100 million invested in short-term securities on top of the advance payment received from the U.S. for the Columbia project.

But he said the government would prefer to keep the nest egg "intact" as a reserve for contingencies on the power project construction so it may try to borrow the money for current bills if the market rate is favorable.

The premier, in response to questions, said he did not intend to interfere in the looming labor-management crisis in which key unions such as the woodworkers, carpenters, pulpmakers, longshoremen and miners — totalling about 50,000 workers —

Committees To Recruit Harvest Help

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter today announced manpower committees will be set up in the lower mainland and southern interior to help meet a harvest help crisis.

"There are recognized critical areas where labor will be urgently required to harvest crops such as strawberries," he said.

Mr. Richter said these crops will ripen by early June on Vancouver Island and mid-June in the Fraser Valley if the weather continues warm.

"Until students are available the situation could be critical without the co-operation of all available persons in the area," he said.

CONSTANT PRESSURE

"Increased vegetable and berry acreage, a return to normal crops in the tree fruit areas and a record grape crop will mean a constant pessure for labor to handle the various crops in all parts of the province."

He said the two regional advisory committees will be set up by the new federal-provincial manpower organizations after consultation with producer organizations and the B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

The regional advisory committees will try to stimulate recruitment of harvest help, act as a clearing house on labor supply and demand and recommend programs to the federal-provincial body.

Calgary Man Admits Theft Of $400 Radio

Earl Keats was remanded to May 20 for sentence.

He had it installed here in August for $19 and was to pay $20 per month to the telephone company. Only one payment was made.

Keats said he "just took off to Calgary" after he had a fight with his wife.

Ask The Times

Q. Which city or area in Canada had the highest accident rate in 1965? P.O.

A. That was the district of Surrey with 2.7 fatalities per 10,000 population, according to a Canadian Highway Safety Council survey.

Victoria's rate was .7 fatalities for every 10,000 persons.

Q. How many lanes will the proposed new Gorge bridge have? R.A.

A. Four, say Saanich planning officials.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

100th Birthday For Adventists' Medical Mission

Seventh-Day Adventists throughout the world will celebrate the 100th anniversary of their medical work Saturday.

This work now extends to 189 countries.

B.C. Adventists, with the Victoria church at 983 Pandora Avenue, operate the picturesque Rest Haven Hospital at Sidney, which has a staff of 78 full-time employees under the administration of T. J. Bradley.

Pastor Arthur Spenst will pay tribute to the hospital at the 11 a.m. service in the church and a procession of physicians, specialists, dentists, nurses and hospital workers will join in the centennial service.

Medicos and their wives will sing In the Service of the Lord. Miss Audrey Jackson, director of nurses at Rest Haven, will sing It May Be Today.

"More than 13,500 medical workers are now employed full time by the Adventist Church," Pastor Spenst said.

Last year, he added, Adventist-operated hospitals, clinics and dispensaries treated nearly 4,000,000 people.

It was on May 14, 1866, that the Adventist Church voted to build a health centre and publish a health journal.

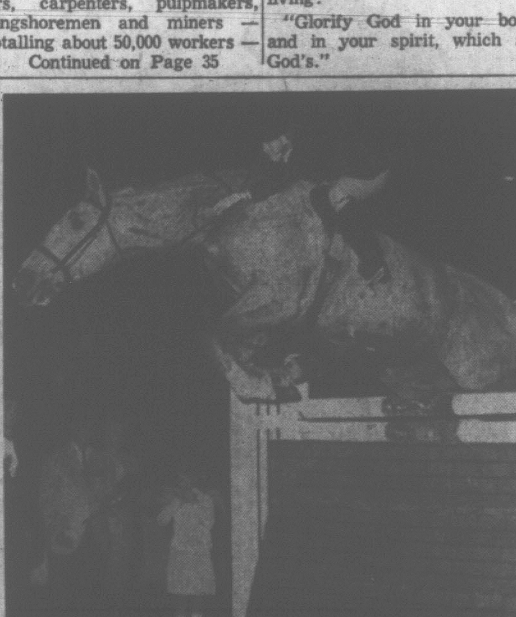
Battle Creek Sanitarium, Michigan, the first of 128 hospitals and sanitariums to be established by the church, admitted its first patient on Sept. 5, 1866.

MEDICAL SCHOOL

The church also operates an accredited medical school 34 schools of nursing, 146 clinics and dispensaries, 35 retirement homes and orphanages, 19 medical launches and 15 major health food companies.

Pastor Spenst says Adventists consider the New Testament text, 1 Corinthians 6:19 and 20 is a clear directive for healthful living:

"Glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's."



UP IN THE CLOUDS are former Victoria rider Jean Dunbar and her 17-hand Palomino gelding, Crown Royal, in what could be called a $3,000 jump at the Calgary Spring Horse Show. Now living at Haney, Miss Dunbar and her "Crown" took THE CROWN in the $3,000 McMahon International Jumping Sweepstake, sailing over the 5-foot 9-inch jumps of the course to beat out 21 other competitors. Earlier in the show Crown Royal cleared a 6-foot 3-inch jump with an 8-foot spread to hang on to second place in the highly contested Puissance Jumping. Miss Dunbar will be returning to her old "stomping grounds" at Victoria Riding Academy for the annual Victoria Day show on Monday, May 23, when a big entry is expected.

Immigration Increases Sharply

Immigration to Canada rose by 8,000 persons in the first quarter of this year compared with the same period last year, the federal immigration department said today.

The total was 30,718 against 22,279 in the first quarter of 1965.

Bulk of the immigrants — 8,455 — came from the United Kingdom with Italy second at 6,104.

Most of the immigrants — 17,007 — went to Ontario. Quebec attracted 6,071 and B.C. 4,243.

Two-thirds of the immigrants were under 39 years old, with the biggest single group — 5,630 — coming in the 20 to 24 age bracket.

Half the immigrants were destined to become part of the labor force, but the others — mainly wives and children — were not.

By occuption, 5,476 of those who will work were in the manufacturing, mechanical and construction fields.

Second-biggest occupational group was professional and technical, 3,488, followed by clerical, 1,910.

Eaton's Plan Saanich Store

Developers Bid For Expansion

By ROGER STONEBANKS

Expansion of the T. Eaton Company here may be officially announced soon.

The expansion would be in the form of a warehouse and sales outlet in Saanich near the Town and Country Shopping Centre.

It would be supplementary to the existing downtown store.

An announcement would end months of rumors of a second outlet for the department store.

Several developers are known to be bidding for the planned expansion, but none of them will confirm or deny what has become common knowledge in real estate circles.

The only comment locally is: "Any service building area very often sells appliances and things of a heavy goods nature."

Two potential sites are understood to be on Oak Street on both sides of Valley Avenue, and the east side of the 800-block Seymour.

Rezoning applications for both sites have been made to Saanich.

NEXT MONTH

The application for the 800-block Seymour is from Dominion Construction of Vancouver. It is expected to come before council next month prior to a public hearing.

The second rezoning application is from John Bull Construction, also of Vancouver. Decision on this one was tabled at a recent public hearing.

Spokesmen for Dominion Construction were not available for comment.

But a spokesman for John Bull, asked if his application was for a second Eaton's site, replied: "You said it, I didn't."

Because both sites are within half a mile of a junction with an arterial highway, the provincial highways department has the final say in any approval.

And a complicating factor is that the final location of the Patricia Bay Freeway has not been chosen.

OFF DOUGLAS

Last year's metropolitan traffic study by a Toronto research company recommended the freeway swing off Douglas St. just south of Swan Lake and cut behind the Town and Country Shopping Centre to link up with the Rose-Blanshard extension.

'Bogey of Failing' To Disappear For Slow Learner

By DESMOND BILL

Two schools in Greater Victoria this fall will introduce a program of continuous learning that will remove the necessity for children to repeat grades if they are slow learners.

The experiment—which fits education to the child instead of forcing youngsters to fit into the grade mold—is going into practice at View Royal and McKenzie elementary schools.

The policy of continuous promotion is now followed by all elementary schools in the language arts (reading, writing, spelling).

But Irvine Dawson, principal of View Royal school, said today in September his school and McKenzie school, under principal Ronald J. Berod, will follow the policy in the new maths program as well.

In the past a child unable to keep up with his grade's reading program had to repeat the work the next year. He fell behind a grade.

NO GRADES

The continuous learning program does away with grades. Instead, the work formerly covered in the first three grades is split up into seven levels.

Children are expected to complete the seven levels in three years but in practice about one third move ahead faster and one third fall behind. Formerly the slow would have been failed and the brighter youngsters would have been held back.

AT OWN SPEED

Under the continuous promotion policy, however, each child proceeds through the levels at his own speed. Some might take four years to complete the program and others do it in two years.

The wide discrepancy in learning ability was shown in a survey last fall by Mr. Dawson of Grade 6 students. He found some able to read at Grade 10 level and others only up to the level they should have reached in Grade 3.

Mr. Dawson now scrambles all the students in his school in language arts. Instead of following the program for their grade, they are put in the class at their own reading level.

Said Mr. Dawson: "Every one is a lot happier and they are all learning more."

The same sort of thing will now be done with the new maths program, said Mr. Dawson. There will be this difference that, instead of seven fairly definite levels, the maths classes will be divided into two groups.

"This is experimental. We are not sure exactly how the program will develop. Essentially each student will complete a basic maths program, using the new text books, in their first three years," Mr. Dawson explained.

ENRICHED PROGRAM

As in the language arts classes, the maths students will make progress at their own speed. But there will be more opportunity for teachers to give the brighter students an enriched program in the subject.

Mr. Dawson said the policy of continuous promotion means a child who fails what would formerly have been the program in one grade, now simply picks up the following year at the level where he stopped the year before. In the old days the child would have been forced to repeat the year's work.

HIGHER GRADES

The policy has implications for the whole school program, said Mr. Dawson.

"If it is worthwhile, and it obviously is going to be, it will likely be carried on into the higher grades."

Mr. Dawson said that since ability varies from one subject to another, it is likely that some students may be studying language at an advanced level and maths at a much lower level.

Students to Sell Firewood Saturday

More than 150 Esquimalt High School students are expected to turn up at Clover Point Saturday for a saw and chopping log bee.

The firewood will be sold to the public at $1 a car-trunk load.

Misusing Credit Card Puts Woman In Jail 4 Months

A woman who admitted using a credit card she found in her new apartment to buy close to $300 worth of goods was sent to jail for four months today.

Margaret Mueller received similar jail terms on each of eight counts of false pretences when she appeared for sentencing in central court.

It's regrettable to see a woman of your background and intelligence in this situation," Magistrate William Ostler told her in passing sentence.

At her trial a week ago Miss Mueller pleaded guilty to the offences. She used the credit card to buy $288.53 in goods from the T. Eaton Co., including the dress she wore in court.

Six Months For Passing Bad Cheques

Gordon McKay, 2665 Florence Lake Road, received a six-month jail term in central court today after pleading guilty to writing a series of cheques on a bank account which had less than $1 in it.

Saanich detective Norman Baker told the court the accused admitted using the worthless cheques to buy shoes, gasoline and receive change in cash early this month. The cheques totalled $50.

McKay also used two bad cheques totaling $40 to buy goods from Langford Building Supplies, 940 Goldstream, earlier in April.

The court was told he was serving a suspended sentence for a similar conviction at the time he cashed the current series of bad cheques.

Week Remand In Custody For Shoplifting

Shoplifting goods worth $2.42 Thursday meant a week in jail to await sentence for a woman who pleaded guilty in central court today to theft.

Mrs. M. Grover, Victoria, pleaded guilty to taking a hair brush, nail varnish, hair tonic and elastics from the Hudson's Bay Co., 1701 Douglas.

STORE DETECTIVE

A store detective caught her as she was slipping the brush up her coat sleeve, court was told.

"There is entirely too much shoplifting going on in this area and people think they can get away with it," commented Magistrate William Ostler.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Lister, 521 Burnside Road East, have announced the forthcoming marriage of their only daughter, Roberta Catherine, to Mr. David Glenn Jones of Victoria. WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Shaving Your Legs Won't Make Hair Grow Thicker

Q. I have a problem. My mother will not let me shave my legs. I am almost 15 and my legs look awful. Mother keeps saying that if I start to shave the hair on my legs will grow back thicker and blacker. I keep saying that this is not true. Who is right?

Lowman

A. There is no scientific evidence that this is so. The idea probably grew out of the fact that women begin to notice superfluous hair on the face at middle age. They begin pulling hairs out and more and more hairs appear, not because they tweezed the hairs, but because of the change in their glandular system. If you were my daughter, I would allow you to shave your legs

Q. How can I get rid of blackheads? My skin is very oily and I have them on my nose and chin. I have used all kinds of cream and have gotten no results. I would appreciate your help.

A. Cream is the very worst thing you could use. You want to decrease the oiliness of your skin instead of increase it because extreme oiliness caused the trouble in the first place. Wash your face with soap and water several times a day. To remove blackheads, steam the face after washing it. Do this by holding the head over a basin of very hot water. Put a towel over the head to hold the steam in. Afterwards use one of the little extractors you can buy at a drugstore to remove blackheads. Apply alcohol to the spot afterwards.

Q. Which is better for the skin, olive oil or cod liver oil?

A. I don't think either is as good as some of the manufactured creams. You can make a satisfactory cream by mixing cosmetic lanolin and olive oil. Surely olive oil would be more pleasant to use this way than cod liver oil. Who wants to smell like a fish?

Q. A reader sends this answer to "thin eyebrows." She says, "In today's paper you had an article about thin eyebrows. Having always had this problem I can sympathize with this woman you quote. I've used my No. 1 makeup trick for a long time. I bought a drawing or etching pencil at a stationery and office supply store. This is a much fatter pencil than usual. I make the point rounded by running it in a rotary motion on rough paper. I take this with me everywhere I go and have had many compliments on my eyebrows."

A. This reader was ahead of her time. Today you can buy the brush-on type brow coloring. You literally brush your brows on and the effect is very natural.

Q. I am 13 years old, 5 feet 2, and weigh 125 pounds. How much should I weigh for my age?

A. About 106 pounds.

If this reader or any others would like to have my leaflet "Popularity" written especially for teen-agers, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

TODAY'S RECIPE

MARINATED LAMB LOAVES

Half a cup blanched whole almonds, 2 lbs. ground lamb, 1 cup whole bran cereal, 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon ground ginger, ½ teaspoon basil, 3 eggs, ¼ cup lemon juice, ¾ cup salad oil, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire, 1 clove garlic, minced; dairy sour cream (optional.)

Finely chop almonds. Combine lamb, cereal, salt, pepper, ginger, basil, eggs, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and all but 2 tablespoons of the almonds; blend well. Form into 8 tiny loaves and place in 13x9x2-inch pan.

Mix 3 tablespoons lemon juice, salad oil, Worcestershire and garlic; pour over lamb loaves. Chill 1 hour, spooning marinade over loaves occasionally.

Move loaves to shallow broiling pan; broil 4 inches from heat for 10 minutes. Turn and broil 5 minutes longer or until cooked as you like.

This Disaster Became A Pleasant Occasion

By PENNY SAVER

My neighbor was in quite a frenzy the other day. Unexpected visitors from back East were on an equally unexpected trip, and dropped in to visit. Her guests arrived here late in the afternoon and were anxious to see my neighbor, as they hadn't been together for years. The only problem was that my neighbor had nothing planned for dinner that evening, and with her special guests she was really in a state of panic. She needn't have been, as she had a fabulous dinner suggestion right in her own freezer which she didn't know about.

Fortunately her husband took care of the situation, as it was he who stocked the freezer with the idea.

In a pre-frozen, one-dinner state, this was a special delight that took the Italians generations to perfect. Careful selection of spices, slow brewing and frequent tasting went into the sauce. Blended to perfection, this tantalizing sauce covers a mound of noodles and succulent meatballs. These dinners can now be yours, and all that you have to do is pop them in the oven for 20 minutes.

These individual dinners sell for 59 cents each and really saved the day for my neighbor. Along with the spaghetti comes a side dish of garden-fresh peas, smothered with butter. Dessert is not neglected, as there is also a section of juicy apple slices in a tart sauce. Spaghetti lovers who are on the go can't afford to miss these dinners. If you haven't tried them, stock up now.

While thinking of pleasing the humans in your house, why not pick up a treat for Fido? Special dog pretzels covered with a non-sugared, chocolate-flavored coating are great rewards for the good dog. Inside, carefully selected meal and cereal, chosen for its high mineral and protein content, will keep your dog healthy as well. A package of these treats sells for 39 cents. They're also wonderful aids when you are training your dog.

This shop has treats for every member of your family. If you want to know where Penny found them, give her a call at 382-3131.

TIMES EDITOR JUDGES QUEEN

Times fashion editor Nona Damaske has returned from a two-day trip to Bellingham, where she was a judge at the Washington city's Blossom Festival Queen contest. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bozovic and their wedding party are seen as they leave First United Church after their recent wedding. (Chevrons Studio.)

'SOMETHING OLD'—MOTHER'S WEDDING SLIP

Lace Appliques Star Taffeta Wedding Gown

Floral appliques of lace enhanced the bell-skirted gown of white corded taffeta worn by Sonjia Georgette Yakimovich, recently, when she became the bride of Victor Bozovic.

The bodice of the floor-length gown was of similar lace and featured sleeves ending in lily points and fulfilling the "something old" tradition was a wedding slip belonging to her mother. A pair of satin roses held her softly misted shoulder-length veil and she carried pink roses and white freesia in her bouquet.

Rev. Robert J. D. Morris officiated at the service in First United Church which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Yakimovich, 190 Sunny Lane, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dragoslav Bozovic of Yugoslavia. Mr. Yakimovich gave his daughter in marriage.

Organist Mrs. A. Gregory accompanied Miss Gloria Porter who sang "The Wedding Hymn" during the ceremony.

A floor-length gown of aqua, styled on empire lines, was worn by matron of honor Mrs. E. G. Yakimovich who highlighted her outfit with the bride's gift of a black Alaska diamond pendant and earrings. The bridesmaids, the Misses Kathy Yakimovich and Brenda Porter, were in street-length gowns of similar tones and wore pearl pendants, gifts of the bride.

The bride's brother, Ernest Yakimovich, was best man, and ushering the guests were Mike Yakimovich and Mich Solunac.

During the reception following in the Elks Hall, soloist Miss Marguerite Rudy sang the bride's waltz, "Fascination," in both English and Ukrainian. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake made by her mother and her grandmother, Mrs. H. Mitchuk. Frank Sunday proposed the toast to the bride.

The couple will make their home at 4128 Tuxedo Avenue, following a honeymoon trip to Harrison Hot Springs.

A two-piece rose wool suit, topped with a beige and white coat, was worn by the new Mrs. Bozovic for travelling. Completing the outfit were accessories en tone and a corsage of pink and white roses.

Travelling from out of town for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. T. Sawchuk, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Liesch of Port Alberni; Mr. and Mrs. I. Nekrassoff and Miss Marguerite Rudy of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mitchuk of Coquitlam, B.C., and Mr. and Mrs. R. Andruschak of North Burnaby.

Williams, Mrs. Lennox, Mrs. Shepherd and Mrs. J. Bottomly, with out-of-town guests Mrs. W. L. Wade, New Westminster; Mrs. R. Fisher, Nanaimo, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. H Pogson, Penticton.

When Skin Sags on Face and Neck

Even skin that sags and is no longer smooth, could be made firm and much younger looking. That "older look" usually appears first around the throat, but is comparatively easy to treat by very simple means that require no skill at all.

Get 2nd Debut with CEP 600 or CEP 1200 in double strength from your drug or dept. store and apply it gently to your throat and face each night before retiring. After just a few days, you will notice your skin becoming firmer again and smoother. That is because the 2nd Debut has revitalized your skin with a new supply of water from the surface clear into the inner skin.

SAYS PROFESSOR EMERY:

Snobbery Has No Place in Arts

A plea to divorce the arts from snobbery was made by Prof. Anthony Emery when he spoke at the annual dinner meeting of the Victoria Home Economics and Dietetic Association, held in the Colony Steak House, Wednesday evening.

Emphasizing that art appreciation was the right of all people and not to be confined to certain privileged groups, Prof. Emery also advised, "Anyone can enjoy the arts if they are willing to invest something in the quest of knowledge. You're not going to learn anything unless you're prepared to look foolish."

A professor in the fine arts department of the University of Victoria, the speaker noted that North America was experiencing "an incredible upsurge" in appreciation of all the arts and many of his students had obviously been given a good grounding at the high school level.

He was impatient with those "who are constantly digging up the seed of Canadian culture to examine it" and stressed that the arts are flourishing in Canada. He continued, "The big job of all of us is to create demand by buying and so stimulate artistic growth."

The speaker, who received most of his education in England, felt that Europe was lagging behind North America in its ability to 'marry' arts to the masses. "There, the Establishment dies hard and it is sitting on the artistic digestion."

Speaking on "Arts and the Home," the professor made these recommendations.

"Start buying, pottery or ceramics is a good way to begin. Drawings and prints can also be bought at prices geared to most families' incomes.

"Try making pottery yourself Join the art gallery."

Prof. Emery also pointed out that the gallery shows changed every three weeks. He also corrected the misconception that, in order to attend the university's fine arts course, would-be students must have normal qualifying education.

"You can be an auditor student and, if attending day sessions is impracticable, you can always enroll in our night courses."

The speaker was introduced by Miss Joan Groves and thanked by Mrs. M. Head.

President Mrs. W. C. Horning introduced head table guests and Miss H. Campbell said grace.

During the business meeting which preceded Prof. Emery's talk, Mrs. K. Bradley moved a motion that $150 be sent to the University of British Columbia for a bursary. In her treasurer's report, Mrs. Bradley announced a bank balance of $107.31, $305.63 set aside for bursaries and bonds amounting to $3,000.

Other reports were given by Mrs. J. M. Kennaird, program; Mrs. J. Warrington, social and convener of the dinner meeting; Miss Nora Vicars, publicity, and Mrs. R. G. Brewer, judging. Others on last year's executive were Mrs. G. Whittaker, secretary; Mrs. T. Scrase, newsletter, and Mrs. G. MacKenzie, hospitality.

Mrs. D. Kirshner was installed as the new president. Serving with her will be: Vice-president, Mrs. Scrase; treasurer, Mrs. Bradley; secretary, Mrs. J. Clay; program, Mrs. Kennaird; publicity, Miss Vicars; judging, Mrs. Brewer; social, Mrs. N. Graham; past president and hospitality, Mrs. Horning.

Victoria Man Married In Vancouver Ceremony

Many Vancouver Island residents travelled to North Vancouver recently to hear vows exchanged between Janet Hogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hogg of North Vancouver, and Brian Frederick Dennison Caddick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Caddick, 504 Constance Avenue, Victoria. They included Mr. and Mrs. T. Harper, Rear-Admiral T. B. McLean and Mrs. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. W. Putt, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Speller, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. E. Woolley, Mr. and Mrs. G. McIlvenny, Mrs. F. Maybee and Mr. and Mrs. H. Ward.

Others from out-of-town were Mrs. G. Hamilton, London, England; Mrs. and Miss C. Badgley, Mr. and Mrs. Norris, Miss H. McDougall, Mr. and Mrs. K. Longridge, all of Winnipeg; Mrs. J. Simmons, Calgary, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Trythall of Fraser Lake.

Easter lilies and spring flowers decorated St. John's Anglican Church for the ceremony at which Canon L. A. Smith officiated. "Green Sleeves" and "Jerusalem" were played during the late-afternoon service.

Mr. Hogg gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a full-length gown of satapeau, styled with lily point sleeves and a chapel-length train extending from an empire waistline. A hand-made rose and lily of the valley held the bouffant cathedral-length veil of nylon illusion. In addition to an all-white bouquet of orchids, stephanotis and lily of the valley, the bride carried a silver horseshoe which had been carried by her mother at her own wedding.

Floor-length gowns of daffodil yellow dotted Swiss over taffeta were the choice of the bride's attendants who were matron of honor, Mrs. Keith Morrison, and bridesmaids, the Misses Cynthia Badgley, Donna McDougall and Jean Morris. Fern accented their white daisy bouquets.

A reception followed at the Coach House in West Vancouver where the bride's table had a decor of yellow marguerites, daisies and ferns. W. Popham of Bournemouth, England, proposed the toast to the bride.

The newlyweds will make their home in Montreal.

TO PLAY HOOKY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Lyndon Johnson's daughter Lynda Bird may play hooky on graduation day at the University of Texas.

Informed sources say that Lynda is thinking of skipping the commencement ceremony at Austin June 4 to get an early start on her planned trip to Europe—a long-promised graduation gift from her parents.

Sources explained that since Lynda's graduating class in the Liberal arts college of the university is quite large she is thinking of bypassing the traditional graduation exercises.

Dominion Drama Festival Begins Week-Long Round of Entertaining

The Dominion Drama Festival governors, competing casts and out-of-town guests attending the festival this coming week will find their social calendars crowded with events, beginning today.

This morning about 150 visitors from across Canada gathered in Victoria for the Western Canadian Educational Theatre conference and opening meet of the festival itself. The affair is taking place in the University of Victoria Phoenix Theatre, directed by conference chairman Carl Hare.

The conference will conclude with a luncheon, Sunday in the Empress Hotel ballroom from 12:30 to 2 p.m. Guest speaker will be Marius Goring, well-known British actor, who will be adjudicating during the week.

Monday, the opening day of the festival, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes will entertain the governors, casts and out-of-town guests at tea in Government House, from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

The following day, refreshments will be served and a tour of Butchart Gardens given by Mr. and Mrs. Ian Ross, from 3 to 6 p.m., Wednesday the group will tour the Canadian Services College Royal Roads, at 2:30 p.m. Tea will be served.

The governors' court, the annual business meeting, will be held at 10 a.m. in the Empress Hotel.

Lady Laura Maze, festival governor-at-large, will entertain Saturday morning at a coffee party in her home at 1121 Beach Drive, for past Canadian Drama Award winners who are in the city.

Every evening the Playhouse Green Room will be open for hospitality for governors and casts.

During the week, the individual hostesses of each visiting drama group will entertain the group in her home. The hostesses are Mrs. Malcolm Taylor, Mrs. W. H. Hickman, Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mrs. W. L. Fahey, Mrs. Burton Kurth and the Uvic Players Club, Mrs. D. Mason Hurley and Mrs. Graham Harper.

Centennial Tea

As their main fund-raising project for the year, members of the Victoria Council of Women will hold a centennial tea next Wednesday, in the new Goodwill Enterprises building, corner of Bay Street and Wilson Street.

The major portion of the proceeds will be used to help the national council project of establishing the Lady Aberdeen Memorial library in the University of Waterloo, Toronto.

Mrs. C. R. Oxtoby, president of the Quita Nichol auxiliary to Goodwill Enterprises will open the affair at 2 p.m. and council president, Mrs. Bert Noel will receive the guests.

Among the featured attractions of the event will be a home-cooking stall, convened by Mrs. Freeman King, raffles and door prizes. Co-conveners of the tea are Mrs. E. L. Johns and Mrs. S. T. Morrow.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Daniel, 825 Foul Bay Road, announce the recent marriage of their elder daughter, Pamela Joan, to Mr. William F. G. Bunce, Toronto. The wedding took place in St. Peter's Anglican Church, Erindale, Ont., and a reception followed in the Willow's Credit Valley Golf Club. The couple left for a honeymoon trip to Bermuda and will make their home in Toronto when they return.

DEAR ABBY ...

Hubby's Acts Are Meant to Torment

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When my husband eats an apple, it sounds like someone were using a "plumber's helper." On other occasions you would swear that Clyde was inhaling food, plate and all. I could climb the walls.

He has other "at home" habits which are equally revolting. The point is, they are all for me. When we have company, Clyde is a perfect gentleman with model manners and the most considerate behavior. His explanation: "A man may do whatever he feels like doing in his own home." What would you think of a skillet placed firmly on the back of his head? My lips must remain sealed, but my hands are getting itchy.

CLYDE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If his "habits" disappear when company comes, they are not really habits — they are nasty little acts intended to torment you. Ask Clyde why he feels the need to punish you? If he doesn't know, suggest he see a headshrinker and find out. If he refuses, but persists in his disgusting behavior, try the skillet.

DEAR ABBY: At this school where I go, there is a certain group of kids, and if you don't belong to this group, you might as well be dead. How can I get in with this group? My mother keeps telling me there is nothing wrong with me, but it still bothers me.

"NOT IN"

DEAR NOT: I can't think of a bigger waste of time and energy than trying to "get in" with a group of kids that apparently has no interest in you. Strive to do well in your studies. Always be as well-groomed as possible. Smile more, frown less, and don't gossip. Be friendly, but not forward, and be content to make friends one at a time. And if you have ONE worthwhile friend, consider yourself lucky.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 19. For the last six months he has been running around with a woman who is 22 and has two small children. She still lives with her husband, who apparently doesn't care what she does because he babysits with the kids while she runs around. We tried to reason with our boy, but it did no good. He knows she's a tramp, but it doesn't matter. She drives by the house at all hours, toots the horn and he runs out and goes off with her.

We love our son, Abby. He's always been such a good boy. My husband says that this woman has opened a new world to him (sex), and we should just let it run its course until it burns itself out. I'm afraid if we don't try to stop him we will ruin his life. What can we do?

HEARTSICK MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You CAN'T risk letting it "run its course." — what if it doesn't "burn itself out" — but becomes more of a habit? Are you aware that this lad is breaking the law? (adultery.) Some parents can't get through to their own children. How about asking a relative, a clergyman, a doctor, a teacher, or even a buddy to talk some sense into your son? If it doesn't work, at least you tried.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

These three Funtreads have just come out of the washing machine

You'd never guess would you?

Funtreads are the happy-go-lucky casuals that stay good-looking all summer long, because at the first sign of dust or grime you can just toss them in the wash. They're colour-fast and sturdy. Funtreads are the best flats for clambering over rocks, leaping onto docks, or dining on the patio. The corrugated rubber soles always get a better grip. There's another nice thing about Funtreads: they come in medium and narrow fittings.

Try a pair of Funtreads this summer. We've shown you three styles: Gypsy—a dressy mesh, Riviera—a tailored linen, and Eve—a sweet straw sling. There are lots of others. You'll like them all.

Wedding Vows In Vancouver

A wedding of interest to many in Victoria and up-Island took place in Vancouver recently when Joan Margery Highfield became the bride of Murray Donald Forbes, Cobble Hill.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. W. L. Highfield, Vancouver, and the late Mrs. Highfield, and the groom's parents are Capt. and Mrs. Freeman W. Forbes of Cherry Point Lodge, Cobble Hill, formerly of Victoria.

The bride's father, assisted by Rev. Percy Wills, Victoria, officiated at the service in Ward Memorial Baptist Church, Vancouver, which was decorated in a pink and white theme for the occasion. Rev. Highfield also gave his daughter in marriage.

SING AT SERVICE

During the ceremony, organist Mrs. E. Peskett accompanied soloist Charles Webb, and Miss Sharon Neale and Mrs. N. Harbut who performed a vocal duet.

The bride's floor-length gown of white lace was styled en train, with bodice featuring a scoop neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls. A floral headpiece held her four-tier veil and she carried a bouquet of white stephanotis and carnations, accented with tiny pink roses.

Small lockets, the bride's gifts, were the jewelry accents to her attendants' gowns of pale turquoise. Maid of honor was Miss Sharon Neale; bridesmaids were the Misses Marilyn Fairgrieve, Lynda Oakley and Penny Morris, and little Kristine Roen was flower girl. All carried matching bouquets of pink roses and carnations.

Raymond Forbes was best man for his brother and ushering the guests were David Highfield, James Wentworth and Daniel Dunbar.

PINK AND WHITE

The pink and white theme of the wedding was carried out in the decorations at the reception following in the Golden Horseshoe, Vancouver. Harold Peters, Union Bay, proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling on honeymoon, the new Mrs. Forbes donned a linen suit of turquoise, complemented with matching accessories. The couple will make their home in North Vancouver.

Travelling from Victoria for the wedding were Rev. and Mrs. Wills, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Kerr and Lyle, Mrs. J. Frenier and Jeanie, and Miss Sue Tanner.

Concert Sunday

St. Dunstan's Choir is sponsoring a concert of sacred music, to be held Sunday at 3 p.m. in St. Dunstan's New Anglican Church, Tyndall Avenue and San Juan Avenue.

Proceeds will go towards the organ fund.

DID QUAFF DROWN HONG KONG ROLE?

The Colonels in a Stew As Scottish Had a Brew

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Now the story can be told.

An inspection which turned out to be a fiasco may have saved the 2nd Battalion of the Canadian Scottish Regiment from the fate which befell the Canadian force in Hong Kong early in the Second World War.

Lt.-Col. Walter Bapty, MD, 81, an almost legendary figure in military circles, has recalled the fateful inspection. He was commanding officer of the battalion at the start of the war.

At the request of a company commander, he relates, he allowed his men to march to Departure Bay as a toughening-up exercise.

At this point, two officers who were to command the Canadian force in Hong Kong—a Col. Lawson and Col. Hennesy—arrived in Victoria and asked to see the companies.

'COOLING OFF"

"Well, I rode off with the two inspecting officers to find the men," he said. "We found no company at Departure Bay."

The men were eventually found resting in a cool spot waiting for the evening to continue their march.

But some of the men were resting in a cooler spot—a beer parlor.

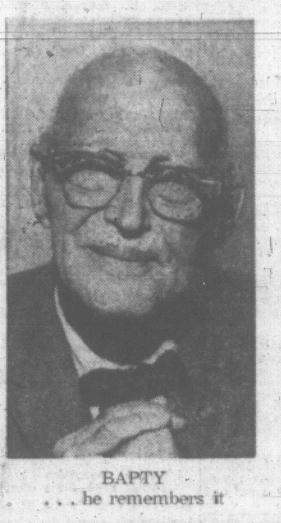
And to make matters worse, a "number of men were in a semi-intoxicated and quarrelsome state."

But the veteran medical officer sticks up for his men.

The inspection made a bad impression on the officers and the Scottish were not picked for the ill-fated Hong Kong expedition.

The Winnipeg Grenadiers and the Royal Rifles of Canada were assigned.

"One thing I am sure, had the unit been in defence of the outpost, it would have put up a good show and lived up to its motto—Deas Gu Cath" (ready for the fray).



BAPTY
. . . he remembers it

Now living in retirement at the Glenshiel Hotel, Lt.-Col. Bapty later in the war served for a time as commanding officer of the advance training centre, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps at Camp Borden.

THREE WARS

His record as a soldier and a general practitioner is outstanding.

He is one of the few remaining Canadians who served in three wars — the South African, the First and Second World wars.

He is widely known in British Columbia for his service in public health and as a general practitioner.

But to the members of the Victoria militia, he is the well-loved former commanding officer of the Scottish.

Born in London, Ontario, in 1884, he served in the South African War when he was 16. He was under age but managed to convince the military authorities he could look after himself.

After the war he took up medicine and practised for a short while in Alberta before coming to Victoria in 1905.

In the First World War, shortly after his arrival at the front, he was shot through the neck, but recovered in time to serve in the battle of Vimy Ridge in 1916.

He was in the advance dressing station when the men went over the top.

"I don't think there has ever been an artillery barrage like the one at Vimy," he said. "The only exception would be Alamein in the last war."

He worked 48 hours at a stretch dressing the wounded.

"It was just a busy bloody jumble, heart-breaking because you could not follow your cases through to give them rational treatment," he said.

Later, he served at another bloody battle — Passchendaele.

HHELPED VETERANS

In between wars, the doctor continued in private practice and devoted much of his time to promoting the welfare of returned soldiers.

In the Second World War, he came in contact with senior staff officers, including General McNaughton whom he knows well.

He has strong views on the training of men.

"What wins battles and wars is the soldier's mental fitness, he said. "This may best be achieved by maintenance of comradeship, continuity of companionship, and training the recruit with the same men with whom he will serve in the field."

Surveyor Test Successful, First Mission Set May 30

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—The Surveyor vehicle for unmanned, soft moon landings has made its first descent without the aid of parachutes, clearing the way for its first lunar mission May 30.

The spacecraft landed successfully Wednesday at Holloman Air Force Base near Alamogordo after a 36-second descent which began with Surveyor's release from a balloon at an altitude of almost 1,000 feet. Tests had been under way at Holloman for more than a year, but previously parachutes had been used to assist Surveyor in part of the descent.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will not commit men to moon journeys until more is learned about the lunar surface. Surveyor would send back this data.

History's first soft landing on the moon was made Feb. 3 by Russia's Luna IX. NASA officials have conceded that Luna IX gave Russia a lead in the unmanned phase of the moon race but not necessarily the over-all edge.

Because of the complexity of the mission, seven identical Surveyors are being built in hopes that at least one will succeed before the end of 1967.

The Holloman test director for Surveyor, G. P. Steffen of Hughes Aircraft Co. said that Wednesday was the first time a complete descent under Surveyor's own power had been attempted.

Steffen said the May 30 launch at Cape Kennedy, Fla., aboard an Atlas-Centaur vehicle would have been delayed if Wednesday's test had failed.

The engines of the 225-pound Surveyor vehicle slowed the descent from a velocity of 55 feet a second to five feet a second, or about 3.5 miles an hour, at impact. The lunar landing version will weigh more than 2,000 pounds but will be operating in the much weaker gravity of the moon.

Capital Murder Charge Laid

WINNIPEG (CP)—Larry Ross Case, 18, of Broderick, Sask., Thursday was committed to stand trial on a charge of capital murder.

Case is charged in the death of Winnipeg taxi driver Stanley James Hinks, who died in hospital Oct. 3, 1965, two months after he was beaten and robbed of $14.

Earl Russell Walters, 20, of Edmonton, also charged with capital murder in Hinks' death, had the charge dismissed by Magistrate Henri Lacerte. Walters pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery with violence and was remanded one week for sentence.

Apartheid Good For Africans—S.A. Envoy

Apartheid policy in South Africa is designed to assist the seven emerging Bantu nations toward autonomous government in each of their home territories, South African Ambassador to Canada T. J. Endemann said Thursday.

"We have made significant progress in the application of this policy," he told Rotary Club members in the Empress Hotel.

"The largest Bantu nation, the Xhosa in the Transkei, already have their own parliament; their own prime minister and cabinet and their own civil service."

Government functions, including justice, agriculture, finance and education, have been taken over by the Bantu leaders, he said.

CRITICISM

"We have been told so often that we are wrong—that we must conform to the pattern which has been established in Africa.

"But Africa has furnished us with some striking examples of just how not to run our affairs," said Mr. Endermann.

"We have had an epidemic of coups d'etat and revolts in other parts of Africa during the past four months—five alone by military takeover.

"These in many cases have been accompanied by violence, bloodshed, murder and assassination.

NO HEADLINES

"What does not make the headlines is the suffering of the people. Tribal warfare in one country resulted in the slaughter of some 8,000 men, women and children and a revolt in another country caused the loss of life of 40,000 people," he said.

The ambassador said the problem South Africa is faced with is attempting to satisfy the incompatible, nationalistic and cultural aspirations of eight divergent nations.

Prime Minister Verwoerd has stated that in the future each Bantu nation will increasingly determine its own future but he has cautioned that the government would not allow itself to be driven to such undue haste which had led to disastrous results elsewhere in Africa, said Mr. Endemann.

BUY MORE

The ambassador also said a "deliberate and sustained" attempt for an increase of South African exports to B.C. should be made.

In 1963 exports to South Africa through B.C. ports amounted to $30,000,000, while South African exports to Canada through B.C. were slightly less than $3,000,000.

He suggested South Africa would find a ready market here for exports such as mining equipment and other metal products as well as canned fruit, brandies and fortified wine.

The ambassador met Premier Bennett later in the afternoon.

ELECTED president of the B.C. Division of the Canadian Mental Health Association is J. Graydon Roberts, supervisor of audio-visual services in the extension department of the University of B.C.

Bunn Denies Playground Areas Closed

A spokesman for Greater Victoria school board said today the board "has leaned over backwards" to allow school playgrounds to be used for community purposes.

Trustee Peter Bunn, chairman of the board's buildings and grounds committee, was commenting on recent remarks by Councillor Ed Lum, chairman of Saanich's parks and recreation committee.

Coun. Lum accused the school board of having refused in the past to co-operate in opening playgrounds for use after school hours.

ONE APPROACH

Mr. Bunn denied this. He said that only once has the board been officially approached about use of school grounds and on that occasion it allowed Lake Hill school grounds to be used for Little League baseball as requested.

He said, "I'm sure the board would be delighted to consider any request for use of school facilities by Saanich people. We already have a very good working relationship with Oak Bay and Esquimalt recreation commissions in this matter."

BOARD POLICY

Mr. Bunn said it is board policy to make facilities available to the public "who, after all, paid the cost of creating playgrounds and schools."

Coun. Lum had said the refusal by the board to open playgrounds after school hours "is double taxation." Mr. Bunn commented, "I don't know of any that are locked up."

He said that any time Coun. Lum has a proposal to make for more use of grounds, the board will be glad to hear of it.

HOME GARDEN

Water Adds Elegance To Layout

By JACK BEASTALL

Water has always been a focal point in gardens, that is why we incorporate, whenever possible, fountains, lily-pools and reflecting pools in our landscape designs.

Jack

Moving water is usually of greater interest than still water, but this has always required an unlimited supply unless the gardener could afford some kind of pumping system.

Today we can buy do-it-yourself kits for either fountains or waterfalls, at a price that brings moving water within the realm of any home gardener.

The waterfall kit contains a small electric pump, plastic tubing and clamps, and a sheet of special brown plastic for lining the pools and falls. Fountain kits have the special fountain head.

All the gardener has to do is dig a pool about six to eight inches deep, piling the earth to one side for the falls. A one-inch layer of sand is placed in the hole, and steps are made in the pile of soil to form the falls.

PLASTIC SHEET

The entire pool and falls are lined with the plastic sheet and the edges are concealed with rocks and driftwood.

The pump goes under water, with the tubing extended to the top of the falls, and all that is needed to finish the job is to connect the pump cable to an electric outlet.

The design, shape and type of decoration may be formal or informal, and is only limited by the imagination of the builder and the materials available. Some simple, but effective, layouts are included in the folder that comes with the kit.

The cost is essentially the cost of the fully insulated, underwater pump, of which there are several models with different ratings as to volume of water and height of lift.

I have often suggested that gardens containing masses of natural rock could be exploited as water gardens, and these fountain and waterfall kits could well be the basis of some elegant layouts.

Hedy to Sue

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Film actress Hedy Lamarr's attorney said he will file today a $5,000,000 false arrest suit against the May Co. department store for accusing the star of shoplifting last January. Miss Lamarr, 52, was acquitted April 26 by a municipal court jury after a week-long trial.

WATCHMAN—In Victoria, on Wednesday, May 11, 1966, Robert Lace Watchman, of 415 Michigan Street. He was born in Scotland and formerly lived in Regina, Sask., before coming to Victoria. He leaves his wife, Mima at home; a brother, Archie, of Estevan, Sask.; a nephew, Jack Watchman of Victoria; and nieces and nephews in Saskatchewan and Scotland. He served overseas with the 10th C.M.R.'s and C.L.H. He was a member of the Sons of Scotland in Victoria and a life member of the Camp Balmoral in Regina.

The Rev. W. J. Klempa, D.D., will conduct the funeral service on Saturday, May 14, at 1:30 p.m., in Chaplin's Funeral Chapel. Cremation. (Flowers gratefully declined.)

8 CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received from friends, neighbors and relations in the loss of a beloved wife, mother and grandmother, Florence Sidaway. We also wish to thank Dr. R. S. Conn and Royal Jubilee nursing staff. Special thanks to Rev. Canon H. Pike. — J. E. Sidaway and family.

9 IN MEMORIAM

DAVIES — In loving memory of Ernest Davies, who passed away May 13th, 1962.

Nothing can ever take away,
The love a heart holds dear.
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him dear.

Opening lead—♣6

You may recall that we announced that North could make six hearts in spite of the bad trump break. Furthermore, only good play is required, not extraordinary play.

The opening lead makes no difference but let's assume that East opens a club, the unbid suit.

Dummy (South) wins the trick and promptly leads a trump to North's ace. West shows out and North's cinch slam looks pretty bad but it is by no means hopeless. All that is necessary is correct timing provided that East has to follow to three leads of each side suit.

Two tricks have been played. The next eight tricks proceed as follows: Ace of diamonds. Spade to dummy's ace. Dummy's two last clubs on which North discards two spades. Diamond ruffed by North. King of spades. Last spade ruffed by South. Another diamond ruffed by North.

Everyone is down to three cards and it is North's lead. He holds king-ten-six of hearts. East holds queen-jack-eight of hearts and South holds the nine of hearts and a couple of diamonds.

North leads the six of hearts. East wins with the queen or jack and must lead a heart back to North.

East's second trump trick has turned out to be an optical illusion!

OLD AND CHARMING FAMILY FARMHOUSE
(Practically on the Beach!)
CADBORO BAY
Lovely Harbor Views
70 Year Old Apple Trees
and a wealth of local history!
This lovely old home is directly across from sandy-beached Cadboro Bay, with pleasant views across the water to the yacht club boat houses. A perfect family home with spacious grounds and a Regal Bearing to the residence that puts all of the modern buildings in the area in their place. When I inspected this property I imagined that I caught a glimpse of an old brass telescope protruding from a tiny look-out near the eaves, but I really couldn't be sure of that . . . still . . . being near the sea, there may be a sea saga entwined in the old girls history.
The home has been modernized in respect to wiring and kitchen, BUT . . . the lovely old rooms are just as they always were, there are at least TEN ROOMS in all, plus a LOVELY OLD SPIRALLY STAIRCASE, (which hasn't been used for years). Upstairs has been made into two NURSES SUITES, and they are always rented, but you will probably want to switch her back to a single dwelling. A most easy change will accomplish this.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Milton Berle is really Mr. Television. In the early days of the aspiring media, it was Uncle Miltie, above all others, who clowned and cajoled his way into the hearts of the limited number of television set owners.

The talk everywhere was of Berle and his most recent antics.

His popularity was so great that other comedians openly accused him of using their material in his show. The charges rolled off of him like water off a duck's back as he continued to pile up the ratings and set the scene for one of the most lucrative and longest agreements with a television network. He gets paid today and doesn't have to lift a pinky, if he should so desire.

Berle, who has made guest appearances on shows of recent vintage, will be back in TV come fall and ABC has got him. He'll head up an hour weekly variety show next season, similar in pattern to the network's Hollywood Palace.

Now, there's a switch. Berle taking a lead from a program which caught fire several years ago, even though thrown in as a replacement, and has remained a strong entry on television all year round.

Hollywood Palace, a musical variety show, replaced the Jerry Lewis debacle on Jan. 4, 1964.

Palace was a stop-gap measure taken by ABC-TV and written in for 13 weeks with plans to replace the replacement.

Instead of 13 weeks, Palace ran 24 shows in its first season, 33 the second year and another 33 segments this year.

In all some 700 acts have played the program with a variety of hosts from Milton Berle to Bing Crosby to Gene Barry.

Hollywood Palace has been a success despite the toughest competition on the air, the Saturday night movies on NBC. Ratings vary depending on the popularity of the movie.

Guest stars have included Maurice Chevalier, Louis Armstrong, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sid Caesar, Victor Borge and others.

The performers love doing the show. They are given a free hand to sing what they choose.

If that's the way Berle wants to come back to television on a regular basis, he's got a winner.

BUT STAY ELITE

Ancient Oxford Told To 'Get With It'

LONDON — Ancient Oxford University, where half of all England's prime ministers have gone to school, was urged today to adopt a series of basic reforms intended to bring it closer to the modern world.

The long-awaited proposals were contained in a voluminous report released by the seven-member Franks commission, a group appointed by the university in 1964 in response to widespread criticism of Oxford's medieval ways.

In broad outline, the report wants Oxford to offer more graduate and applied sciences courses, to admit more students from working-class background, and to modify a tradition of jealous autonomy among its 31 colleges.

DIFFERENT PLACE

Lord Franks, chairman of the commission and a former British ambassador to the United States, said that if the faculty accepts the suggested reforms, Oxford will be "a different place" but still an intellectually elite school.

Observers foresee months of astringent dispute over the reforms among the 1,600 members of Oxford's teaching staff, who in the end will have the power to decide how different the seven-century-old university should become.

Sir Kenneth Wheare, vice-chancellor and principal university administrator, circumspectly welcomed the report as "thorough," "impressive," and "critical in parts but constructive throughout."

Members of the commission, all drawn from Oxford and broadly representative of the faculty, conducted months of hearings before preparing a report that fills two fat volumes, each over 400 pages long.

Essential conclusions can be grouped under these headings:

1. Size. Oxford, it is felt, ought to grow from 9,800 to 13,000 students, but not more. Future development into a vast "multiversity" was firmly opposed.

2. Admissions. To obtain a fairer sample of students from all secondary schools, Oxford should offer separate entrance exams. This would mean giving a better break to applicants from a working-class background.

3. Sciences. The commission felt that "technology and applied sciences should be built up without delay." Oxford is already strong in natural sciences.

4. Structure. It is proposed that Oxford's colleges move from a confederal to a federal system, giving more authority to the administration and siphoning more money from rich to poor colleges.

Whatever the fate of these modernizing recommendations, the process itself was highly contemporary. A public relations consultant was hired, and press conference accompanied release of the report.

1.5 Million Aged In Canada Now; 3 Million by 1991

Canada now has almost 1,500,000 citizens of 65 and over.

"This is five times the number there were in 1901," says the Senate of Canada, in a report received today by Victoria Silver Threads Centre.

"Looking ahead, we can expect the present figure will more than double in the next 25 years to yield a total in excess of 3,000,000 by 1991."

MANY BRIEFS

The report has been prepared by the Senate's special committee on ageing in reply to briefs submitted by many Senior Citizen organizations, including Victoria Silver Threads.

It records that the number of Canadian citizens aged 75 and over has increased nearly six times since 1901 and is expected to increase two and a half times by 1991.

"This is the group most likely to make heavy demands on health, welfare and other services," says the report, signed by David Croll, chairman.

RATIO RISES

It adds that in 1901, 5 per cent of Canada's population was in the 65 and over age group. By 1961, it had risen considerably, but only to 7.6 per cent, and in 1991 the estimate is it will still be less than 9 per cent.

"On the average Canadians today live longer than they did a generation ago, but this is due much more to changes that have occurred in infant rather than adult mortality rates."

Rivard to Be Asked About Skeletons?

MONTREAL (CP)—A spokesman for the minister of justice said Thursday it may be some days before the Quebec Provincial Police can say whether they think an interview with Lucien Rivard, the convicted dope smuggler, would help their inquiry into the discovery of two skeletons at Piedmont, Que., Wednesday.

The spokesman said the QPP is conducting a thorough investigation into the deaths of the man and woman whose skeletons were found. It would not be until this is concluded and discussions are held with the coroner who will conduct the inquest that any request for evidence from Rivard, now serving 20 years in Laredo, Tex., will be considered by Justice Minister Claude Wagner.

The skeletons now are in Montreal for identification and pathological tests.

BRIDGE RESULTS

North-South: 1, Judy Langstaff and Una Orme; 2, Cliff and Addy Weatherhead; 3, Rene Taylor and Yvonne Cummings; 4, Frank Willow and Roy Valaincourt; 5, Ray Martin and Arthur Barber.

East-West: 1, Muriel and Rand Dierks; 2, Jean and Homer Kolb; 3, Elizabeth Laidlaw and Mabel Ness; 4, Perry Hamilton and M. Meraw; 5 and 6 (tied), Doris Seddon and Irene Brown, Ed and Babs Harris.

BUT HARD TO PROVE

Cancer Researchers Think Serum Answer

An immunity against cancer? Researchers are highly intrigued by that question today, and slowly, some answers may be forthcoming.

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In dozens of laboratories, scientists are focussing on one question: Does man harbor a secret defence against cancer — and can it be called upon to fight against tumors.

Most researchers believe the answer is yes, but the way of proving it is elusive.

No one at present can tell how close or how far research is from a proven vaccine against cancer, or a proven anti-serum agains tumors.

This month at Wayne State University in Detroit one research team told of preliminary work on a small number of cancer patients and a tentative effort to prod their body defences against their disease.

YOUTH IN OLD FIGHT

The group is young. Dr. Norbert P. Czajkowski, a resident at Detroit Receiving Hospital, and Dr. Fred R. Cushing, a resident at Harper Hospital, are 27. The group's immunologist, Melvyn Rosenblatt, a sophomore medical student at Wayne State, is 29. But the group has some experienced overseers.

They have treated 20 patients with what they hope is an anti-body-stimulating method. Two had complete loss of tumors, eight showed some tumor abatement, and 10 others died.

Even critics concede that the work could hold an interesting idea on how the body's defences might be mobilized against cancer.

The Wayne researchers sought a way of doing this by linking sample cells from a patient's tumor to material the body would recognize as foreign — and by reinjecting the linked material into the patient.

To obtain known foreign material, they chose the rabbit — clearly a genetic stranger to man. From the rabbit they took globulin, a protein part of the blood.

The cancer cells then were injected back into the same a patient. Researchers believe they recognized a spectrum of anti-bodies — including agnaets against the rabbit globulin, against the tumor itself, and against the larger, complex molecule.

MAY AWAKEN DEFENCES

There would be two items of import in the Detroit work, besides a usable therapeutic technique. First, the doctors may have demonstrated that human tumors do have the ability to awaken the anti-body defences. Second, the presence of the more-recognizable rabbit protein may have enhanced the body's anti-body response.

But the human patient is already a part of other experiments, although information is scarce. At Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y., several studies involving humans have been performed recently.

Dr. Sigmond H. Nadler and Dr. George E. Moore reported they had exchanged small parts of tumors between individuals to try to get one cancer patient to develop antibodies to the tumor of another. Then, they reaped the white blood cells from each cancer patient and reinjected them into the original tumor donor. They have been quiet about results. Of 26 full-term patients, seven showed some response, two showed complete loss of tumor at least temporarily, and five showed some decrease in tumor size. All but one case was black cancer of the skin.

SEARCH FOR PROD

Besides these rather spectacular approaches, there are a hundred more quiet projects involving long and difficult serum work, trying to determine whether cancer cells do have a prod that the body's defences will recognize.

Some researchers have found immune proteins produced by leukemic cells, and suggest that such cells might be mobilized to produce large amounts of antibodies in test tubes when challenged by other tumors.

Whatever the approach, the impact of the slightest hint of good news often brings a great but premature reaction from patients prepared to grasp at a straw.

After one recent report, one hospital recorded 1,200 telephone calls and hundreds of telegrams and letters, most of them pleading for the yet-incomplete experimental material. In this and similar cases, researchers must reply that access to the experimental work is simply impossible.

And none of the immunity techniques to date are desirable for use on human patients at the expense of conventional treatment, they emphasize.

First Find Customer For Shark

OTTAWA (CP)—The fisheries department has an idea how to solve the problems West Coast fishermen are having with dogfish sharks: Sell them.

Markets are developing in the United Kingdom, Japan and Germany for dogfish meat products. And the fisheries price support board suggests a $10 a ton subsidy.

But there's no guarantee dogfish will ever become a popular catch, says I. S. McArthur, support board chairman.

Fishermen have a long-standing grudge against the 18 to 24-inch sharks. They blame dogfish for stealing bait and fouling nets.

He told the Commons fisheries committee Thursday marketing is the most effective way. It worked well before—so well that dogfish were almost eliminated—and it can work again.

ALMOST EXTINCT

The population recovered when synthetics and cheaper sources took over the vitamin A market. And in 1955, fishermen started complaining about dogfish in their nets.

Mr. McArthur said outside the committee fishermen reap only modest returns now, but a subsidy and success with other experiments could make the fish marketable. He said carning experiments have met limited success.

West Coast fishermen want the sharks destroyed as a nuisance, he said.

Our Gift to Be Used For Nuclear Bombs?

WASHINGTON (CP) — There are pessimists here who believe it is just a matter of time before India develops its own nuclear weapons, using its Canadian-built reactor for the fissionable material.

That would be done, they fear, either by reneging outright on the Canadian stipulation that the reactor's output is to be used for peaceful purposes only, or by bending the terms to manufacture a device capable of qualifying as a peaceful tool of some kind.

This could be, for example, billed as a canal or harbor project fashioned by an underground blast. Such talk in India is not new.

But every time China explodes another nuclear device, a political shock wave batters at the official Indian position of atoms for peace only.

Such a wave is striking again in the wake of China's third and biggest nuclear explosion this week.

So far, say Canadian informants here, India has never raised with Canada the subject of using fissionable material from the Canadian-built reactor for military explosions.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi is still on record as opposed to the build-the-bomb movement. Yet national pride, honor, prestige and security are raising their heads, U.S. and Canadian observers fear, at a time when they are especially difficult for the troubled subcontinent to resist.

TO RETIRE from politics is Manitoba provincial secretary Maitland Steinkopf, 53. He told press conference today "for personal and family reasons I cannot permit my name to stand as a candidate" in next Manitoba election. Steinkopf (PC—River Heights) was first elected in 1962.

"I am not getting involved in it at all," he said.

CUTBACKS

But to give leadership to a policy of anti-inflationary restraint, the premier said he has ordered the public works department to examine its projects to see which could be suspended or cut back.

"But there has been no holdup in health or mental health facilities and there won't be," he added. "They have Number 1 priority."

(Works Minister Chant revealed that the examination includes a review of the centennial museum-archives complex here to see if it could be redesigned for economies; the Duncan courthouse design has been revised but new tenders have not been called; the Vancouver courthouse fountain may be cut back on landscaping.)

The premier said he did complete the formalities in New York for a previously arranged $20 million borrowing on behalf of B.C. school district construction programs. He said the 20-year serial bonds were sold for "about 5½ per cent" interest.

He Didn't See What Was Coming For Looking In

A man with a record for breaking and entering was sentenced to 45 days in jail in central court today on a loitering charge.

Dennis Dunbar, 23, of 529 Comerford St., pleaded guilty at an earlier hearing.

Dunbar had a conviction for breaking and entering in Duncan in 1964, court was told.

Thomson Buys Head

LONDON (AP) — Canadian-born publisher Lord Thomson today paid £5,040 ($15,120) for Sir Jacob Epstein's bronze head of Sir Winston Churchill. A spokesman for Christie's, the auctioneers, said: "Lord Thomson bought the bronze to give to Churchill College, Cambridge. As Sir Winston was a contributor to The Sunday Times, Lord Thomson thought it would be a nice gesture."

Talks With Indonesia

Inventory Post For Ex-Victorian

W. Arthur Benson, 42, a native of Victoria, has been appointed chief of Canada Land Inventory in the federal forestry department, Ottawa.

He holds a bachelor of science degree and a master of science degree from the University of British Columbia. He majored in botany and zoology and also did post-graduate studies in ecology and business administration at Iowa University.

Impaired Drivers

Thomas Hurtack, 1275 Glen Rd., swerving and weaving on Government St. early today, $350, licence suspended.

Kenneth Roy Suddaby, 4193 Carey Rd., weaving on Douglas April 16; sentenced to 20 days for second offence and prohibited drom driving except for business for six months.

Siamese Twins Die

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) —Siamese twin girls, born in Bridgeport 12 days ago, died at Yale-New Haven Hospital early today of "a severe congenital heart defect." The babies were delivered to Mrs. Michael Daniels, 23, of Southport at Bridgeport Hospital May 2.

Burned to Death

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Police have identified a man burned to death Thursday night when a car was demolished by fire following a two-car collision on the Trans-Canada Highway near here. Dead is Patrick Edward Paiment, 50, of Vancouver. Mr. Paiment, an aluminum awning salesman, was pinned in the wreckage engulfed by flames that shot 30 feet in the air.

Wreck, Bodies Found

SEATTLE (AP)—A seaplane which vanished Friday on a flight from Neah Bay to Seattle was found crashed on a heavily wooded hillside Wednesday just west of Neah Bay. Both occupants were dead. Lee Schubert, 20, was pilot of the craft and his passenger was Richard M. Latschaw, 40, a partner in Elsco Marine Electronics of Seattle.

Victoria's Kipling Retires Next Month

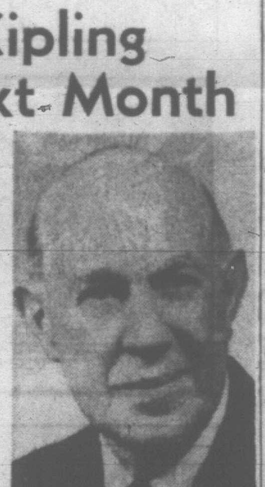
Rudyard Kipling is a world-famous name.

In this case it belongs to the principal of Oak Bay Junior Secondary School, who is retiring at the end of June after 44 years of teaching.

Born in Victoria, Mr. Kipling graduated from Victoria Normal School in 1922 and began teaching at Discovery, B.C., near Atlin, the same year.

He was principal of Squamish Elementary School from 1923 to 1924; a teacher at North Ward Elementary, Victoria, from 1924 to 1928; vice-principal at Victoria West Elementary from 1928 to 1938, and a teacher at Central Junior High School from 1938 to 1943.

Subsequently he was principal of Victoria West Elementary, North Ward Elementary, Willows Elementary and Oak Bay Junior Secondary.



RUDYARD KIPLING
. . . "staff does the work"

CLOSE TIES

Mr. Kepling's ability to get on with parents, teachers and students is well known and he has built close ties between his schools and the PTA organizations.

In 1963 he received a life membership in the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation, sponsored by Oak Bay Junior PTA.

Before he became a teacher, Mr. Kipling stacked green lumber at Port Alice, on the north end of Vancouver Island, for 35 cents an hour.

In 1922 he sailed north to Skagway in the Princess Louise, then went over Whitepass to Atlin and six miles beyond to Discovery.

WENT HUNTING

"About half my students came from one family," he recalls. "When they caught the measles, school closed and I went hunting ptarmigan."

Mr. Kipling became principal of Oak Bay Junior High when it was built in 1952 and he has taken a major part in its development in scholastics, athletics and student activities. But he always gives credit to the staff under him.

"They do the work," he says.

He was active for years in St. John Ambulance Brigade and not long ago was honored with the degree of Serving Brother.

RECEPTION

Mr. Kipling will be guest of honor at a reception in the school auditorium Monday, June 6, at 8 p.m. It is hoped as many of his former students, fellow teachers, staff members and PTA members will attend.

After that, Mr. and Mrs. Kipling will take car trips to different parts of B.C. and the Western United States.

LANGFORD FIREMAN'S 3RD

Baby Born in Ambulance

Fireman Stewart Campbell of Langford Volunteer Fire Department has a new title today.

His mates are calling him "doc" after his successful delivery of a baby girl by turning a speeding ambulance into a maternity ward Thursday afternoon.

Driver Phil Goldie was going full tilt toward Royal Jubilee Hospital, but he didn't even come close to making it on time.

The baby, born to Mrs. Janet Stimson, 646 Atkins, arrived en route on the Trans-Canada Highway.

SHE HELPED

Fireman Campbell described the mother as "a wonderful person" and "a real help."

It was the third time he lost the battle to the stork. He delivered two babies while working ambulances back on the prairies.

But it was a first in the 15 years of ambulance service at Langford.

ELEVATOR

"The last time we came close the baby was born in the elevator," said Chief Allan LeQuesne.

Mrs. Stimson and her nine-pound-three-ounce daughter are reported "doing very well" by hospital officials.

Zap! Pow! Bop! Ouch! But Dad Watched TV

TORONTO (CP) — Nothing, but nothing disturbs Roger Goudeit in his pursuit of the late show.

Downstairs neighbor John Lyons burst into the Goudett apartment and punched Gaudett's wife, Ruby, in the mouth, loosening three teeth.

His wife hit Lyons on the head with a hammer.

Lyons smashed furniture and chinaware before Mrs. Gaudett brought an end to the action by slamming Lyons over the head with a broom and punching Mrs. Lyons in the stomach when she came to her husband's aid.

Gaudett testified he did leave the TV set once but did not interfere because Lyons was "a friend."

Lyons was fined $100 and Mrs. Goudett $50 on assault charges.

Court Finds Defence Is Defective

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) Witnesses Thursday told magistrate's court that defects in the Corvair, a General Motors automobile, could cause carbon monoxide fumes to leak into the car through the heating system.

Ralph L. Jones, 45, of Beamsville, was charged with impaired driving after a crash in St. Catharines on March 9. He pleaded not guilty.

Tom Hills, a service salesman at a General Motors dealership here, said the Corvair heating system could draw carbon monoxide into the car, if the cylinder head gasket was faulty.

Jack Phelan, a St. Catharines service station proprietor, said a broken tailpipe in the exhaust system could also result in dangerous fumes being sucked into the car.

Both men said they repaired Jones' Corvair for these defects.

Jones said fumes from the engine caused him to lose control and cause the crash, although he said he had three drinks before getting into the car.

Magistrate Harley D. Hallett said he felt fumes were not to blame and fined Jones $154.

City Residents Attend Potlatch At Alert Bay

Relatives from Victoria and the mainland attended a potlatch in Alert Bay Wednesday to mourn the passing of Mrs. Grace Matilpi.

The 63-year-old widow was the sister of chief Tommy Hunt, of Victoria, and mother-in-law of famed Indian carver Henry Hunt.

In addition to a sister, Mrs. Agnes Cranmer, of Alert Bay, and a daughter, Mrs. Helen Hunt, of Victoria, Mrs. Matilpi left four sons and three other daughters, 56 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Pipe, Fittings Stolen From New House

About $60 worth of copper water pipe, fittings and a basin were stolen from a house under construction at 635 Vanalman, Saanich police were told Thursday.

In other area thefts, Allan Longley, 3233 Shelbourne, told city police a tape recorder valued at $93 was taken from his car while it was parked at Victoria High School Wednesday night.

Naval Vessels Home Tonight One Day Early

Three navy ships were due back in Esquimalt tonight — a day ahead of schedule.

The destroyer-escort Yukon, ocean-escort Sussexvale and submarine Grilse have been taking part in week-long exercises in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

They were to have returned Saturday but a naval spokesman said they had apparently completed exercises sooner than expected.

The Yukon will dock at 6 p.m., the Sussexvale, at 7 and the Grilse at 7:30.

Careless Drivers

Fined in central court Thursday for careless driving:

Florence Clarke, 809 Selkirk, rear-end collision Johnson St. April 5, $35.

In central court Wednesday:

Leslie Stewart, 1571 Hampshire, struck a fire hydrant, stopsign and shelves outside a grocery store at Oak Bay Ave. and Bank St. April 4, fined $40.

CHARLIE'S AMBITION

'Keep Batteries Charged'

LONDON (AP) — Charlie Chaplin has finished shooting his first movie in a decade and says he hopes to start another before long.

"You've got to keep the mental batteries charged," he said Wednesday night, "and there's nothing like activity for doing that. People are telling me I look much better than when I started this movie."

Chaplin, 77, was speaking at a small dinner celebrating the end of studio work on A Countess of Hong Kong. He wrote and directed the film, which stars Sophia Loren and Marlon Brando.

"It's amazing what this picture has done for him," said Chaplin's wife, Oona. "He looks so much younger and yet he's been working harder than anyone — six and sometimes seven days a week."

Chaplin said he will go to his home in Switzerland for a few days, then come back to London to edit the picture and complete the musical score. He said he plans to spend some time with his family, "then I want to make another picture."

SOLUTION MONDAY

ask Andy
HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Mark Flessner, age 7, of Peoria, Ill., for his question:

Is it true that the male sea horse gives birth?

The top half of a sea horse looks like a miniature pony, and his other half tapers to a monkey-type tail. He is not related to the horse, but he does live in the sea. Actually he is a most unusual fish—and baby sea horses are born in a most unusual way.

There are about 50 different sea horses, and the giant of the family is 12 inches tall and lives in the Pacific Ocean. The dwarf sea horse lives in the warm waters of Florida and measures only an inch and a half. In the blue-green water there are tangles of brownish-green seaweed and patches of gold sand. There may be glossy pebbles and rainbow-colored clumps of coral. And a sea horse tends to match these colors. He may be black or greenish-brown, milky white or brilliant red.

The mamma and the papa look alike, but the papa has a pocket on his tummy and the mamma does not. This pocket is the brood pouch and the male sea horse uses it to brood or incubate the eggs. Of course, two eggs are needed to start a baby, one from the mother and one from the father. They join to make a fertilized egg.

Family life begins when the female is ready to lay her eggs. She goes courting to find a father for her young. She coaxes him to let her put her eggs into his pouch. This pocket on papa's tummy has a tiny hole and the mamma pokes into it a few eggs at a time. The dwarf sea horse lays maybe 10 eggs, and larger sea horses lay 150 or 200 eggs.

Eggs Sealed in Pouch

The little hole in he brood pouch then seals itself shut. The eggs inside become fertilized and begin to develop. This may take from a week to three weeks. The youngsters hatch from their eggs still sealed in pap's pouch. Perhaps they wriggle and squirm because the father sea horse seems to become very uncomfortable.

He bends and jerks and pushes his swollen tummy against a stone. Somehow he seems to know that the time has come for his children to be born, for he finds shelter in a tangle of floating seaweed. The hole in the pocket comes unsealed and the little sea horses pop out like tiny bubbles. Papa jerks and twists his body to help them. The youngsters soon lose themselves in the ferny tangle and twine their tiny tails around scraps of seaweed.

The baby dwarf sea horses measure no more than a quarter of an inch. They are perfect copies of their parents and all ready to take care of themselves. The babies of the bigger sea horses may be a half inch long. Some males give birth to one or two batches of babies during the summer. The tiny dwarf sea horse broods one batch of babies after another through most of the year. However, from November to February he rests from his family duties.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Jean McCabe, age 11, of St. Paul, Minn., for her question:

When was oxygen discovered?

The 18th century was a great age of chemical discoveries. In France the brilliant Antoine Lavoisier looked for chemical properties and relationships while in America Benjamin Franklin probed the secrets of lightning. Scientists of different nations began to exchange their ideas. In England, Joseph Priestly became interested in gases and gave up his career as a clergyman to become a chemist. In 1772, he discovered the so-called laughing gas, nitrous oxide.

Two years later he published his discovery of a gas he called dephlogisticated air. Lavoisier put this lively air to chemical tests and promptly named it oxygen, the acid former. But Karl Scheele, working in Sweden, knew nothing of the newly found gas. In 1777, three years after Priestly's discovery, Scheele's work led him to the second discovery of oxygen.

Church Taxing Urged

TORONTO (CP)—A. J. B. Gray, Metropolitan Toronto assessment commissioner, said Tuesday tax-exempt properties should be re-examined because the city is losing about $6,000,000 annually because of them. He said in an interview churches and hospitals might pay civic taxes, as some had sold their tax-exempt land for handsome tax-free profits.

Taking Extra Water For Kidney Stones

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

Alvarez

People write to say that they have some kidney stones and their doctor says that they must drink at least eight glasses of water a day. I know that this is the custom, but I am pretty sure that the water will not dissolve the stones. About all it can do is to get the person up several times at night, and that means poor sleep and poor rest, and so I prefer not to give this advice.

Curiously, even authorities in medicine say that when a person has a cold, he or she should drink much water. This is an ancient idea, but so far as I can find out, there is no proof that it is needed, or that it does any good. We doctors used to say that it "flushed the kidneys," but today expert physiologists tell me that the kidneys are not flushed; the kidneys have to work hard to get rid of extra water.

In my youth I had four bad colds a year; I never drank water, and usually I was well in a week or 10 days; I couldn't have expected to do better with any kind of treatment.

I was happy recently to read an article by Dr. M. Peters, of the University of Toronto, who says that in the past 20 years, there have been many reports of patients treated for Hodgkin's disease — patients who have survived for more than 10 years, some as long as 20 years, with no recurrence.

At the Ontario Cancer Institute, 82 of the 319 patients treated for Hodgkin's disease before 1955 have survived now for more than 10 years. As Dr. Peters says, Hodgkin's disease in some ways resembles a cancer, and in some ways a virus infection. Often the first sign is an enlargement of some of the lymph nodes, or so-called glands, in the side of the neck.

Dr. Peters says wisely that for treatment, Hodgkin's disease can be divided into three stages: the early, the intermediate, and the late. Patients with early Hodgkin's disease rarely have symptoms all over the body, and they are the ones who can be greatly helped if enlarged nodes are quickly treated with powerful radiation.

Patients with intermediate disease have mild systemic (all over the body) symptoms, with enlargement of some of the nodes (glands). Patients with late disease often come in with serious illness, with fever, generalized itching and loss of weight. It is sad that often then it is very hard to help the person. In this late stage, the best treatment seems to be, first, with drugs, and then with X-rays. If a patient is well treated at the start, three out of four will survive five years, and half of the apparently cured will then remain free for 20 years or more. If the disease remains controlled for 10 years it can be considered cured.

One great difficulty is that unfortunately, only a third of all patients with Hodgkin's disease have the diagnosis made early enough; too many have the diagnosis made in their late, and largely incurable stage.

Anyone who finds a big node or gland somewhere in his neck or armpit or groin, and notes that it doesn't quickly start to disappear, might do well to have the lump removed and examined under the microscope.

Report Expected Shortly On Seven Days Hassle

OTTAWA (CP) — Stuart Keate is "getting along well" in talks with CBC management and producers over their differences, Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons today.

Replying to Stanley Knowles (NDP — Winnipeg North Centre), Mr. Pearson said he expects a report from Mr. Keate shortly.

Mr. Keate is on leave of absence as publisher of the Vancouver Sun to assist in settling issues surrounding the dismissal of the co-hosts of the public affairs television program This Hour Has Seven Days.

Mr. Keate had asked for help of a "general and administrative character" from someone with knowledge of broadcasting and the government had loaned him William Neville, executive assistant to state secretary Judy LaMarsh.

CBC management and producers met jointly with Mr. Keate Thursday.

Mr. Keate said the "atmosphere is amicable." Talks continued during the evening and were to resume today.

He said he will fly to the West Coast on the weekend to begin writing his report on the dispute to Prime Minister Pearson.

The prime minister announced May 1 that Mr. Keate would meet both parties to determine whether a "comprehensive review" of the dispute could be agreed.

The announcement prompted the Toronto Producers Association to suspend a strike deadline of 10 p.m. EDT May 1. It threatened to walk out when the corporation refused to reconsider a decision to renew the contracts of the program's co-hosts, Laurier LaPierre and Patrick Watson.

SAYS IT'S TOO SOON

Asked if either side was giving ground, Mr. Keate said it still is too soon to predict the outcome.

CBC President J. Alphonse Ouimet and Guy Coderre, vice-president for administration, represented the corporation at the meetings. President Tom Koch led a three-man delegation from the producers.

It Took a Strike To Silence Tables

NORTH LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Casino dealers stopped shuffling the cards and passing the dice Thursday night when Nevada's first dealers' union staged a sit-down strike.

Twelve blackjack and crap table dealers stopped working at 8 p.m., when Jerry's Nugget, a medium-sized casino, was filled with customers.

It marked probably the first halt of gambling in Nevada's casino history because of the sit-down by dealers.

Nevada gamblers, infamous for letting nothing stand in the way of placing a wager, leaned on crap tables and sat at the 21 tables—staring back at the idle workers.

"When the gambling stopped, some customers went to the bar and had a drink. Others played the slot machines and a few left," said North Las Vegas Police Chief Jack Janise.

Frank Steffan, a casino operator, said he closed down the pit shortly before midnight. "Nobody was mad, it all was very calm," he said.

Tom Hanley, head of the American Federation of Casino and Gaming Employees, posted a picket line outside the gambling hall. He said the sit-down was staged because management failed to sign a contract with the union.

Hanley, who has been successful in organizing five of the casinos in the state, began a drive several years ago to unionize casino workers for the first time in Nevada history.

Students Control University

CHICAGO (UPI)—Rebellious American students protesting University of Chicago policies toward the draft kept firm control of the school's administration building today and said their seizure of the facility might continue through next week.

The students said they were receiving telegrams of support from universities across the nation.

University president George W. Beadle, whose staff was barred from its offices Thursday, scored the sit-in as a "coercive tactic . . . unacceptable in a university devoted to inqury and discussion." But no move was made to dislodge the protesters.

FORMER naval commander, Capt. Victor Browne, 47, has been appointed deputy director of operations at Cornwall for the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority. He served in the RCN for 29 years and was stationed after the war in Esquimalt.

MINISTER SAYS B.C. GOOD PLACE TO LIVE

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA—Immigration Minister Jean Marchand Thursday gave B.C. his stamp of approval as a place to live.

He was asked by George Chatterton (PC—Esquimalt-Saanich) about reports that Canadian immigration officers in Britain recently advised people against settling in B.C. and recommended Winnipeg, Calgary and Toronto.

Marchand said he knew nothing of the reports but would check them.

He added: "I can assure all immigrants that it is a very nice province and there are a lot of opportunities in it."

CABBIES FOLLOW BUS MEN

More Strikes Hit N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — New Yorkers awoke today to Friday the 13th—for them just another hard luck day in a year in which they have been hit with one major strike after another.

Sporadic violence was breaking out in the latest strike—by taxicab drivers.

Mass resignations of city-employed nurses are threatened for May 23.

Already 1,400 of the 3,500 registered nurses in 21 municipal hospitals have tendered their resignations, effective that date. They want more pay and better working conditions.

City hospitals are preparing to evacuate convalescent patients early next week and will halt admissions of non-emergency cases Monday unless there is substantial progress in contract negotiations with the nurses.

The city's residents no sooner get over one labor crisis than along comes another.

STARTED JAN. 1

First, it was the 12-day city subway and bus strike that began Jan. 1. Between then and now, there were strikes by:

—Hearse and funeral limousine drivers.

—Trainmen on the Long Island railroad — the country's busiest (175,000 riders daily) commuter line—one in the midst of the transit tieup, the other last Tuesday.

—Airport bus drivers, whose walkout eight days ago has left air travellers heavily dependent on taxicabs. And while that situation continues . . .

—The fleet cab drivers, seeking more pay, also went on strike Wednesday night, leaving only about one-fifth of the city's 11,700 taxis — independent drivers—still rolling.

—Members of the Newspaper Guild of New York, whose April 24 strike against a newly organized publishing firm, the World Journal Tribune Inc. has kept two daily newspapers and one Sunday paper from getting out even a single edition.

First LSD Charge Laid in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bail was set at $5,000 Thursday when Larry Anders, 29, appeared in court charged with unlawfully selling the hallucination-producing drug LSD.

Police said it was the first charge of its kind laid in B.C.

Anders was arrested May 5 when police seized capsules allegedly containing the drug from a west end suite.

Anders was remanded to May 17. No plea was entered.

ROAD HOGS ALL OVER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Schuylkill Expressway, a main artery into Philadelphia, had more than its share of road hogs Thursday.

Brakes and pigs squealed all over the superhighway when a tractor-trailer carrying 211 market-fattened porkers urned over.

Traffic on the six-lane road was halted for an hour as 100 police worked on the roundup.

Worker Need Quebec Goal

Adult Education Key To Progress, Lesage

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Lesage said Thursday night education is the key to the success of French-speaking Canadians, and his education minister, Paul Gerin-Lajoie, said a complete adult education program will be his department's goal during the next four years.

Mr. Lesage, who was making a campaign swing through Megantic riding for the June 5 provincial elections, told a rally of 550 at Thetford Mines there is only one way for French-speaking Canadians to be ready to assume positions of command—through education.

He promised that his government's policy on manpower would be "geared to keeping the labor supply in line with its demand." He said the workers are the primary resource in the development of industry and manpower "is an essential element in economic development."

He pledged the manpower policy would strive to place qualified manpower at the disposal of industry, aside from the prime necessity of providing workers with work.

Mr. Gerin-Lakoie, speaking at Roberval, said two pilot adult education projects will be started this fall in the Saguenay - Lake St. John and the lower St. Lawrence regions.

He outlined four stages for the projects: Assessing manpower needs for regional economic development, screening workers for retraining, integrating the projects into regional school commissions and initiating accelerated education programs.

HURLS CHALLENGE

Daniel Johnson, leader of the Union Nationale party, hurled a challenge at Premier Lesage Thursday night to answer questions concerning the Sidbec project to establish a basic steel industry at Becancour.

Speaking at a rally in Drummondville, Mr. Johnson asked: "What have you in mind, Mr. Lesage? Do you plan to establish an integrated complex that would start with the melting of raw materials and end with the finished products?"

He challenged the government leader to answer three more questions:

—Will the Dominion Steel and Coal Company and the Steel Company of Canada take part in the enterprise?

—Will the complex be wholly state-owned or mixed with private enterprise?

—Does he intend farming out the iron-smelting to private enterprise or does he intend to make the complex fully public-owned?

He said for six years the government has studied, formed commissions, formed committees and promised again and again to bring the complex into operation and he said he had been asking for results of the studies for four years.

Mr. Johnson also said it was abnormal that, in a province like Quebec, workers were obliged to stage as many strikes and he reproached Mr. Lesage for not intervening in some of the recent labor disputes.

STATUS A MYTH

Pierre Bourgault, leader of the separatist Rassemblement pour l'Independance Nationale, told a rally of 100 at Lauzon, the province has paid billions of dollars over the last 100 years to support the myth of a "particular status."

He said the government gives the province its special status by setting up similar services to those of the federal government, thus "permitting" the citizens to pay twice as much for the same service.

Mr. Lesage, later Thursday night, told a rally of 1,500 at Lac Megantic that his government plans to set up an office for the protection of the consumer with inquiry, research and information services.

He also said a law would be adopted clarifying contracts by money lenders. Another law would allow sales contracts to be cancelled within three days of signing to protect anyone being forced to buy something by high-pressure salesmen.

Mr. Lesage expressed confidence that the government and the various medical organizations would be able to come to an agreement on the establishment of a provincial health insurance program.

He said he felt sure Quebec would not see incidents such as had accompanied the establishment of the health insurance plan in Saskatchewan.

RADIOACTIVITY PEAK WILL COME IN 10 DAYS

TOKYO (UPI)—A leading Japanese scientist said today there is no need yet for serious concern over "death ash" from Communist China's big nuclear blast Monday. But he warned that the peak period of radioactive fallout will come in a week to 10 days.

Shokichi Uehara, director of the Science and Technology Agency, said the level of radioactivity reaching Japan has decreased since Wednesday, when some fallout was found 100 times more radioactive than debris from Red China's first two nuclear explosions.

Precautions that were ordered Thursday include the washing of fresh foods and fish and the filtering of rain water used for drinking.

GOLD AND DIAMOND GANGS

Thieves Hitting Airports Hard

LONDON (AP) — Insurance companies are pressing international airlines to adopt stricter security measures to cut thievery which has given some of the world's biggest airports reputations as "pilferer's paradises," especially for gold and diamond gangs.

A Swiss insurance source has called London Airport the world's No. 1 pilferage point—"even worse than the docks."

But the air expert of one of the world's leading insurance companies denies this, saying "our biggest losses this year are at Orly Airport, Paris."

"Thievery is worst at airports which have traffic in diamonds, gold, platinum and jewelry—like London, Paris, New York, Geneva, Rotterdam and Brussels," the expert said.

This insurance man contends some big airlines don't even bother to screen their employees to keep out people with criminal records and so pay bonus premiums equivalent to a percentage on their total freight revenues.

Airports have become rich pickings for small pilferers and organized gangs because "nobody ever envisaged air freight volume would grow so big so fast," an insurance man said. That's one reason airport security has lagged.

Some airlines are insisting that the shippers pay extra premiums for added security—say, for an armed guard to fetch the cargo to the airport for shipment and from the destination airport for delivery to consignee.

A specialist says the biggest pilferage now is from cargoes after they leave the airport and are being truck-delivered to consignees.

But insurance men insist the real clue to increased security—and reduced losses—lies with the big airlines.

"Often on long hauls involving trans-shipments we just don't know where the stuff disappears," said an expert. ". . . All we know is that too often some doesn't arrive at the consigned destination."

Civil Rights Girls Surprised in South

By FRANK CAREY

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—White female civil-rights workers in the southern United States are experiencing tension-provoking hostility from a source they had little expected—the Negro community itself, a psychiatrist said today.

White girls who go to the southern states "place themselves in a social and psychological cross-fire that for most of them is emotionally shattering," said Dr. Arvin Poussaint of Tufts Medical School in Boston, who also is southern field director of the Medical Committee for Human Rights of Jackson, Miss.

In a report to the annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association, said:

"Not only must they withstand the rejection of the white community, but the Negro community as well, because as white women they are the symbol of the 'southern-way-of-life', their interpersonal relations with Negroes become marred by the scars that centuries of racism have wrought on both their psyche and that of the Negro.

"They are disturbed, feared, hated, adored, and worshipped all at the same time by their black co-workers."

FEW CAN COPE

He said that few of the girls are able to cope with the personal tensions generated by both facets of the white-black "cross - fire" besetting them—and "most of these girls leave the south in less than six months."

A number of the girls "often contribute to their own difficulties in the Negro community," he said, adding:

They may bring with them certain psychological attitudes—often unconscious and in different degrees—which can generally be referred to as the "White African Queen complex".

"At the centre of this 'complex' is commonly found a tabooed and repressed fantasy of the intelligent, brave, and beautiful white woman leading the poor, down-trodden, and oppressed black man to freedom."

Tory Accuses Hellyer Of Misleading House

OTTAWA (CP) — Gordon Churchill, former Conservative defence minister, today accused Defence Minister Hellyer of misleading the Commons "through ignorance."

Mr. Hellyer said in the Commons Thursday that in the first three months of this year there were 2,398 releases from the armed forces and 2,546 enlistments.

Associate Defence Minister Cadieux informed the Commons Monday there were 4,071 releases in this period and 2,546 enlistments.

Mr. Churchill, MP for Winnipeg South Centre, asked today that Mr. Hellyer supply "accurate information."

Mr. Hellyer suggested the question go on the order paper for a written reply.

Mr. Churchill said Mr. Cadieux had already given a written reply on the order paper Monday.

Mr. Hellyer said it was a question of semantics. He had been talking of "voluntary" releases. He would give a "more definitive" reply Monday.

Erik Nielsen (PC — Yukon) said Mr. Hellyer had promised Thursday to do this today.

Mr. Churchill said Mr. Hellyer had misled the Commons through ignorance and had completely disregarded the rights of Parliament.

Eric Winkler, Conservative whip, asked whether Mr. Hellyer knew what effect his attitude was having on the morale of the armed forces.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux cut in and stopped further discussion.

'Blood Must Be Spilled'

LUSAKA (AP)—Military action is the only answer to the Rhodesian problem and blood must be spilled, Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda said Thursday.

Kaunda told a press conference that however the situation works out, through armed intervention or Negro resistance with the white-minority-ruled colony of Rhodesia, blood would be spilled.

"Either way blood has got to be spilled," he said. "Blood is the foundation of any freedom movement."

Kaunda predicted the current London talks between Britain and Rhodesia would not amount to anything because, he said, Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith is playing for time.

FESTIVAL OPENS SUNDAY

Drama Experts Arriving For 'Overture'

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Experts in various fields of drama from all parts of Canada converged on University of Victoria's Phoenix Theatre this morning.

Their arrival marked the beginning of a triple theatre conference that will serve as overture to the opening Sunday night of the Dominion Drama Festival finals at McPherson Playhouse.

This is only the second time in DDF history since it became a full-length play festival in the late 40s, that the finals have been held in Victoria.

100 REGISTER

The three preliminary days of joint conference of Western Canadian Educational Theatre, Canadian Child Drama Association and Dominion Drama Festival, drew early registration this morning of close to 100, but many more were expected to arrive later in the day and on Saturday.

Theme for the opening address was a broad one — Canadian Theatre, Here and Now. Speaker was Tom Hendry, executive secretary of the Canadian Theatre Centre and founder, with John Hirsch, of the Manitoba Theatre Centre.

Mr. Hendry referred to the Canada-wide burgeoning of theatre activity and the role played by some provincial governments—particularly Ontario, Quebec, Saskatchewan and Manitoba—where notable leadership has been shown.

ONE IN 20

But he balanced his optimism by pointing out only one million, or one in 20 Canadians go out to see live theatre, opera and ballet.

No one seems to know the reason why, he commented, but he felt that leadership at a provincial level, such as legislation to form a government arts council, would have an important bearing on the problem.

Tonight playwrights will gather in a workshop session with one of Canadian theatre's most outstanding women, Norma Springford, who was a DDF regional adjudicator last year.

Saturday's sessions will see the opening of the DDF conference with a keynote address by Guy Beaulne, Director General of Artistic Training, Department of Cultural Affairs, Quebec.

In the evening there will be a special conference performance of Ionesco's Rhinoceros by the Uvic Campus Players.

Driver of Fire Truck Charged

VANCOUVER (CP)—A summons, charging criminal negligence has been issued against fireman James B. McGuckin, alleged driver of a fire truck involved in a collision which claimed two lives.

Police said the fire truck's full emergency equipment was operating March 10 when the truck, en route to a sawmill yard fire, smashed into the side of a car driven by Douglas Hoyt, 50, of Vancouver. Hoyt was killed.

Fireman Donald McCavour, 44, of suburban Burnaby, was thrown to the roadway on impact and died in hospital five days later.

The summons charges two counts of criminal negligence.

Thatcher Firmly Opposed To Export of Water to U.S.

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Saskatchewan government feels Canadian waters are not continental waters and would strongly oppose any program to export water to the United States, Premier Ross Thatcher said today.

Mr. Thatcher, speaking to the Canadian Club here, said there have been suggestions Canada should participate with the United States in a giant $100,000,000,000 research and diversion program but Canada must look after its own needs first.

"Let us not as a people lack the courage to make whatever investment is required to utilize this valuable resource. We can be pretty certain that if we don't develop our water resources sooner or later the Americans will."

He said there are 30,000 gallons of water available daily for per capita consumption in Canada compared with 5,000 gallons in the United States and 2,000 gallons in Europe.

"Let us make certain we conserve and make good use of this priceless resource."

Irrigation projects such as the South Saskatchewan irrigation project and plans to study the Nelson-Saskatchewan River basin will transform the Prairie economy but, Mr. Thatcher said, have only scratched the surface.

The premier said in view of the increasing water shortage throughout the world and the problem of water pollution, the Prairie Economic Council should give the matter top priority.

On taxation, Mr. Thatcher said present corporation tax rates of 51 or 52 per cent work a major hardship on expanding industry.

Egg Heads Talk It Over Before Hatching

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Margaret Vince of Cambridge University says she has proved quail eggs send signals to one another in the 48 hours before they hatch.

She says they do this to make sure they all hatch together, although they were laid at different times.

The scientist has been working on this project for three years and reported in an interview Thursday:

"We have discovered that synchronization of the hatching in some species of birds —such as quail and one or two others—is due to the activity of the embryos themselves.

"The embryos make a clicking noise and these signals mean the embryos can either bring forward or retard the hatching time."

She said they can slow the hatching time of an advanced embryo.

"We have found they make sounds and movements almost continuously in the two days before hatching," she added. "Moreover, we can feed artificial signals to the embryos. We do this on a machine which amplifies the noises we have recorded from other embryos."

By tricking the eggs in this fashion, the scientist said, she and co - workers have been able to bring forward the hatching time.

"We have experienced trouble in trying to retard it," she added.

She said she believes the embryos make their signals by breathing and not by knocking on the inside of their shells.

"The eggs must be in actual contact with one another in the nests," she explained, "for the signals to get through."

She described her three years' work as fundamental research and said that she hopes in the years to come to discover much more about the hatchability of eggs and what effect the signals may have on the birds in later life.

In hatchings under natural conditions, the shorter the over-all time between the appearance of the first and the last chick, the lighter the nesting burden on the hen, which would be hard-pressed to guard and feed a lively bunch of chicks while still keeping unhatched eggs warm.

BIGGEST OF WAR

Massive Air Raid Hits N. Viet Nam

135 Missions Blast Targets

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots hit North Viet Nam with 135 missions in the greatest air raid of the Viet Nam war, a military spokesman said today.

The American air armada raged up and down the Communist nation Thursday, smashing military and communication targets and shot down a Communist MiG that Red China claims was hers.

The air force sent 86 missions and 7th Fleet carriers 49 missions over North Viet Nam, striking bridges, storage areas and automatic weapons sites near Hanoi, Dong Hoi and Vinh.

150,000 LABORERS

The pilots also returned to the Mu Gia Pass that leads into the main infiltration routes to the segments. The pilots have been hitting the pass regularly for weeks, but the Communists consider it so important they have put an estimated 150,000 laborers to work clearing it.

It was 50 miles south of Red China and 105 miles northwest of Hanoi that a Phantom Jet blew apart a MiG-17 with a heat-seeking Sidewinder missile.

Communist China claimed American jets violated its air space and shot down the Communits plane while it was on a training mission in southern Yunan province 25 miles on their side of the border.

Meanwhile a Washington warning that North Viet Nam's three jet airfields may be bombed raised the possibility today of a stepped-up air war in Southeast Asia.

U.S. officials implied that the bombing of the airfields—an action which could be regarded as a major new step in the Viet Nam war—might take place if American planes began to suffer losses from MiG fighter attacks.

This was the first time the prospect had been raised that bombs would be dropped on the air bases, which are situated within a dozen miles of the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi.

Officials said the raids on N. Viet Nam Thursday destroyed two anti-aircraft sites, 18 railway boxcars, 13 warehouses, dozens of junks and cargo barges, several bridges and military warehouse. The navy struck along the coastal areas and the air force ranged further inland.

The largest previous U.S. air assault on North Viet Nam was on April 4, 1965, when U.S. pilots flew 250 sorties against the Communist nation.

Internal Split Complicates Lenkurt Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—A bitter labor dispute that has produced two days of chanting picket lines and open clashes with RCMP erupted in a different direction Thursday night.

A union business agent was deposed by international officers and some rank - and - file members chased after the man who said he was taking over.

The dispute started April 26 at the big electronics plant of Lenkurt Electric Co. in suburban Burnaby when about one-quarter of the 800 workers walked off their jobs in a disagreement over working overtime.

Lenkurt termed the walkout illegal and promptly fired all of the strikers, members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (CLC).

Scuffles that broke out Wednesday morning on the picket line changed Thursday morning into battles with three dozen RCMP officers called out to help non-striking Lenkurt employees get into the plant.

Eight pickets were arrested for obstructing or assaulting police officers. The pickets included members of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, the International Woodworkers of America and the Vancouver Labor Council.

STRIPPED OF POWERS

Thursday night an open split developed between Angus Macdonald, IBEW local president, and business agent Art O'Keefe. International IBEW officers stripped O'Keefe of his powers and gave them to Macdonald.

At a member's meeting Thursday night, Macdonald was thrown out, and O'Keefe accused international union leaders of breaking the union's constitution by interfering with the local's affairs.

MAP shows area where a U.S. jet Thursday shot down a Communist MiG jet using an air-to-air missile. The U.S. has strongly denied Peking's charge that the U.S. fighter intruded into Red China to shoot down the MiG.

'Next Few Months Critical'

HONOLULU (AP)—Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, expects the next few months to be critical in the war, but adds "the war will not be over in a matter of months."

Westmoreland spoke to reporters in Honolulu Thursday on arrival for a week of conferences.

Asked if he had enough manpower to win the war he replied: "That depends entirely on the action of the enemy and the way the war develops during the future months."

There are indications, Westmoreland said, "that the North Vietnamese army forces are down in the south in strength and will attempt some major initiatives in the monsoon season."

The monsoon season has arrived and Westmoreland said it is "much more intensive this year than last year."

Westmoreland said "the political unrest seems to have settled down quite a bit although it remains quite a problem . . . in the three northern provinces."

"We're mired down in mud more than political problems at the moment," he said.

China 'Invasion' Denied

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Air Force today strongly denied Peking's charge that American fighters intruded into China to shoot down a Chinese plane Thursday.

The air force said one of its missile-firing F - 4C Phantoms brought down a Communist MiG-17 over North Viet Nam 20 to 25 miles south of the Chinese border. A U.S. spokesman indicated the Americans think the plane was North Vietnamese, not Chinese.

China's first acknowledgment of any plane losses in the Vietnamese war placed Thursday's air battle northeast of Makwan, 25 miles north of the border, in China's Yunnan province. It called the incident "an act of war provocation" and said "the debt in blood owed by U.S. imperialism to the Chinese people must be cleared."

The spokesman said the American pilots did not see the markings on the Communist jets. The closest they got to any of the MiGs was 1¼ miles.

MARKINGS SIMILAR

North Vietnamese and Chinese aircraft markings are strikingly similar and would be difficult to distinguish at the supersonic speeds involved, he said.

Maj. - Gen. Gilbert Meyers, deputy U.S. Air Force commander in Viet Nam, cast doubt on speculation that the Chinese had committed their planes to the war. He told reporters: "We have no evidence that the Chinese have come in."

Meyers also said it was "inconceivable" that the Phantoms could have strayed into China Thursday. He said they were with an RB-66 which carries a highly experienced navigator and advanced radar and electronic gear.

Peking's New China news agency said five U.S. fighters attacked a training flight of Chinese planes at 4:17 p.m. Thursday and shot down one of the aircraft with an air-to-air missile. The type of plane was not specified.

The broadcast said the Chinese planes counter - attacked but the American aircraft fled to the southwest. No U.S. planes were reported shot down.

Invitation Rejected

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China has rejected an invitation to send a delegation to the 15th Congress of the Soviet Young Communist League, the New China News Agency (NCNA) said today.

New Proposal Raised To End Civic Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new proposal for ending a civic outside workers' strike was presented by the union Thursday while the strikers staged a mass demonstration around the City Hall.

Their placards read: "City Council Settle Strike by Negotiations."

City council, meanwhile, scheduled a special meeting Monday to discuss the new union approach—a suggestion that the council and the union ask the provincial labor department to appoint a mediator.

Jack Phillips, secretary of the Civic Employees' Union (Outside Workers), declined to discuss the proposal so that nothing "provocative" might be said "in view of the fact we are moving close to a settlement."

POLICEMAN INHERITS VAST KING FORTUNE

CHICAGO (UPI)—A spinster heiress to the King ranch fortune in Texas has willed her entire estate, which may be worth $10 million, to a Chicago policeman, "my dearly beloved friend."

Miss Alice B. Atwood, who died last Dec. 11 at the age of 85, was the granddaughter of Capt. Richard King, founder of the famed King ranch. The ranch once totaled more than a million acres.

The policeman is Michael J. de Bella, 34, father of five children. He has been on the police force for eight years.

De Bella is not related to Miss Atwood but had been friends with her for a number of years.

The will stated Miss Atwood's intention and desire to specifically disinherit two brothers and a sister. It was dated Dec. 2, 1964, and was admitted to probate April 1.

Most of Miss Atwood's wealth reportedly was her interest in about 100,000 acres of the King ranch, which has extensive oil production as well as cattle.

De Bella refused to discuss the matter.

STRIKES PRIMITIVE SAYS UNION CHIEF

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joe Tonelli, president and secretary of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, says strikes are "primitive."

"We don't like to strike," Tonelli told a press conference Thursday. "We are a responsible union. But we have to resort at times to doing things the primitive way."

Tonelli, who lives in New York, said his union is seriously considering organizing pulp and paper workers in Europe to combat North American firms who open mills there to take advantage of lower European wages.

The unions could either organize workers in countries like France, Spain, Germany or Italy, or lobby Canadian and U.S. governments for tariffs to prevent dumping of European pulp and paper he said.

Negotiations between the union and eight B.C. pulp and paper firms have broken down. The union, along with the United Papermakers and Paper Workers representing 7,000 men, seeks a 10 per cent wage hike. The companies have offered four per cent.

Current base rate for pulp workers is $2.44 an hour. Journeymen mechanics receive $3.44 hourly.

Waterfront Strike Claimed Illegal Act

MONTREAL (CP) — Judge Claude Prevost, federal conciliator in the contract dispute between the International Longshoremen's Association (CLC) and the Shipping Federation of Canada, declined Thursday to rule on the legality of the current walkout of 4,250 union members in the province.

The strike began Monday when 3,500 ILA members walked out, tying up the port here. Another 750 walked out in Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres Tuesday, also tying up those ports.

Paul Renaud, lawyer for the federation, asked the conciliation hearing, which opened Thursday, to recommend that the men involved in the illegal strike return to work before the hearing continued. He said the hearing would be condoning an illegal act if it continued to sit while the strike continued.

Judge Prevost ruled that it would not be within the hearing's jurisdiction to declare whether the strike was illegal or not.

Phil Cutler, lawyer for the ILA, had protested Mr. Renaud's recommendation, maintaining that the hearing had been given an unconditional mandate by the minister of labor.

STRIKE NOT SANCTIONED

The strike, which was not called by the ILA, was precipitated by the action of National Harbors Board police who ticketed union members cars they felt were illegally parked at the waterfront, a union spokesman said earlier.

However, the spokesman said the contract dispute was a major factor in the calling of the strike action.

The demands by the union for a new working agreement include better working conditions and pay increase. Federation offers to date have been turned down by the union. The exact terms of the demands and offers have not been made public.

Meanwhile, the sprawling port facilities here were idle for the fourth day Thursday. A total of 89 ships were affected in the port, 18 of them bulk carriers waiting to load grain, and there were reports that shipping in the river is backed up all the way to Quebec City.

Members of the union executive will meet today and a general meeting of the union membership will be held Sunday.

Libel Claim Rejected

NEW YORK (AP)—In a 10-to-2 decision, a federal court jury found there was no libel in a Columbia Broadcasting System television show against Representative James B. Utt (Rep. Calif.), who had sued CBS for $5,250,000. Utt, 67, had charged that a 1963 televised show, entitled "Case history of a rumor," implied that he was responsible for a rumor that a planned army manoeuvre was part of a United Nations plot to take over the United States.

Wilson Steps In To Avert Strike

By GRANVILLE J. WATTS

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Wilson cancelled a meeting today with Cassius Clay and Henry Cooper to meet instead with union leaders threatening a British shipping strike.

The executive council of the 65,000-member National Union of Seamen decided Thursday to go ahead with a strike next Monday for more pay. Wilson called the 48-man seamen's executive to 10 Downing Street to emphasize that a shipping strike now would do irreparable damage to the national economy.

The immediate effect of the strike would be to hold up nearly 300 British ships in home ports. If prolonged, it could hit the summer transatlantic passenger trade and cripple Britain's export trade, valued at $40,000,000 a day.

Basic food stocks in Britain are ample unless the strike lasts for many weeks, but there could be an immediate shortage of imported fresh fruit and vegetables.

The government has worked out emergency plans with the Royal Navy and the RAF should a strike drag on.

The navy is expected to use its tugs and minesweepers to haul abandoned merchant ships clear of shipping lanes while RAF transports would bring in vital supplies.

William Hogarth, general secretary of the seamen's union, claims his men have enough funds to stay on strike for 12 weeks "without any worries."

The basic seaman's wage in Britain is £15 ($45 a week). Overtime and other benefits bring this to an average of about £20.

The union is demanding a 40-hour week instead of the present 56 hours. Overtime would result in a wage increase of 17 per cent.

The shipowners are offering an immediate five-per-cent increase plus further increases during the next two years.

Pine Point, Pyramid Eye Merger

Pine Point and Pyramid mines, with rich lead-zinc properties in the Northwest Territories, are considering a merger, it was reported today.

J. G. Jewitt, president of Pine Point, a subsidiary of the giant Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. (Cominco), said talks are under way but that a final decision has not yet been reached.

He said directors of Pine Point will consider the proposition at a meeting in Montreal Monday.

SUMMARIES

Wall St. Slips Again

Wall Street was heading for another loss today but selling pressure had eased despite continued bad news from the car industry.

Light losses were reported in Vancouver and Toronto.

New York trading volume headed for the 8,000,000 level, slightly higher than Thursday.

Stocks were battered downward in the morning with the ticker tape five minutes late and some leading issues losing several points. Trading slackened, the tape came abreast of transactions and many issues improved from their lows of the day.

Despite the selective improvement, Xerox was still down 6, Texas Instruments 6, Chicago and North Western 3, New York Central, General Electric and Boeing 2 or more.

The news that car sales for the first 10 days of May were below the like period a year ago was linked with the decline. General Motors and Chrysler cut their losses to a shade below a point; Ford, the one firm with a rise in sales, traded about unchanged.

There was no arguing with the general bearishness, however.

AT VANCOUVER 16 stocks dipped to new lows in dull trading before noon today.

Most of the losses were in the mining section, where 13 of the new lows were recorded.

Cariboo-Bell was off 15 to $2.25; Cascade down 12 to $1.18; Endako off 25 to $11.75; Galaxy off one to 35, and Homestake off three to 37.

Jersey was off three to 34 cents; Mt. Washington down one to 32 cents; Madrona off five to 90 cents; Nadina down 15 to $2.15; National Exloration off ½ to 13½ cents; Peso off five to $1.10; Silver Titan off 10 to $2.90 and Utica down two at $1.36. All were new lows.

Brenda slipped 20 to $6.80; Bethlehem was off 25 to $5.85, and Bornite lost four to 43 cents. Croydon was up 10 to $1.05.

In the industrials, Centennial Mortgage dropped 10 to $1.55; B.C. Telephone lost .50 to $64, and Massey-Ferguson was off 75 to $34.75.

In oils, Fort St. John was at a new low of 95, off six, and Futurity dropped four to $1.01.

The industrial index, a measure of key stock movements was only down .43 to 161.49, although it had reached a low of 161.19 before snapping back.

Volume appeared headed for its lightest turnover this year as a total of 1,790,000 shares changed hands compared with 1,951,000 at the same time Thursday.

In the main list, Interprovincial Pipe Line and B.C. Telephone dropped 1 each to 79 and 63, and Alcan Aluminium and Canadian British Aluminium a ½ each to 39⅛ and 23. Bell Telephone was up ⅝ to 51⅛.

AT MONTREAL utilities were up, but most other sections moved fractionally lower in light trading.

Papers were off, with Domtar and Great Lakes each dropping ¼ to 18 and 27 respectively.

AT LONDON the end of the account brought quiet conditions on the stock market today. Some of the international favorites recovered from Thursday's softness but price changes overall were small.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, MAY 13, 1966—PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

It occurs to me that our quaint city tucked away in the lotusland of the farthest west is doing rather well for itself these years.

Its Maple Leafs have proved themselves more formidable at ice hockey than any other team in their league, trampling boastful Vancouver and humbling proud Portland.

We have a civic theatre that has defied the gloom criers by stubbornly refusing to fold. Adjoining it is a superb new downtown square, and another is coming along. We are hosts to an expanding university.

Also, we have a scad of eating places of unimpeachable quality, motor hotels in the modern manner, a major waterfront development projected for the Inner Harbor, and a population total which I predict will surprise us mightily at the next census.

I could go on, but my point requires no further elaboration. For better or worse, and like it or not, Victoria is growing up.

Eventually, I suppose the log barge will take over from the log boom, but from our windows overlooking Haro Strait, the creeping tug with its lengthy tow is still a familiar fair-weather sight.

During dinner the other evening, we kept casual track of a large, red-funneled towboat as it crept along the strait with its long train following meekly several hundred feet astern.

Between glances, the picture changed. The boom was of a sudden drastically shorter. We got up for a better view, and across a widening gap, saw the rear portion of the tow adrift on the tide.

Up ahead, the towboat skipper was losing no time. He had turned the forward portion of his raft loose, and his workhorse craft was heading briskly down toward the strayed sections.

It wheeled neatly alongside them. Through the glasses that longshore folk keep handy, we saw a crewman scampering across the logs. While he toiled, the tug inched the truant sections toward a union with the rest of the boom.

The man on the logs poked and prodded the stragglers back into their pen. Presently he was joined by a second catfoot off the tug, and between them, they made all secure.

With daylight still in hand, and a job of marine trail-herding smartly accomplished, the tug plodded on north.

Later, I learned she was the Island Navigator, a 1,300-horsepower member of the brawny Island Tug and Barge fleet. At Saanichton, veteran captain John Webb put in to make permanent repairs, and by now, I expect those logs are safely delivered to Island and Fraser River mills.

"The moving finger writes," we are reminded by Omar Khayam, a Persian poet who liked his wine, "and having writ moves on; nor all our piety and wit shall (something-something) cancel half a line nor all our tears wash out a word of it."

However, times change, and it has become common practice in Communist lands to rewrite history as political expediency dictates.

Stalin, for instance, did a pretty thorough job of sponging out Trotsky, and come to think of it, when did Stalin's name last turn up in a Soviet dispatch?

This useful erasure of embarrassing or awkward records now seems to have been adopted at Ottawa, where the National Battlefields Commission proposes to amend the outcome of the Battle of the Plains of Abraham as recorded on Wolfe's monument at Quebec City. This will be accomplished by dropping the word "victory."

The red-haired Englishman who stormed the heights won't care, and if this nonsense serves the cause of unity, good enough. At the same time, let the new Canadian history at least record that Wolfe the dauntless didn't get licked!

Bennett Cagey About Side-Trip to Los Angeles

PREMIER BENNETT
. . . 'didn't see Mickey Mouse'

By JOHN MIKA

Premier Bennett Thursday returned from New York and a mysterious side trip to Los Angeles without a $100 million loan for power development and without an immediate election announcement.

He did, however, reiterate his appeal for labor-management "restraint" in wage negotiations and his warning the government is studying cutbacks on some public works because of high prices.

The premier told reporters he did not make any formal requests for loans when he met with Wall Street bankers because he only went to New York with deputy finance minister Gerald Bryson to "study the (bond market) situation, not to test it."

'VERY FRIENDLY'

He said he was satisfied that American financial houses are "very friendly" to B.C.

But he still has not decided whether he will borrow money from them, from Canadian investment firms or put up provincial funds to cover the $100 million gap still left in financing $310 million for Peace and Columbia construction projects during the current fiscal year.

In any event, he said, the government would not try to float a $100 million loan in one stroke but would phase it out over several bond issues.

Mr. Bennett confirmed speculation that he had flown direct to Los Angeles from New York Wednesday before returning here.

He said he had been on the go for 20 hours to make the unannounced side trip before returning but would only reveal he had been "seeing industralists" in Los Angeles.

"I did not see Walt Disney and I did not see Mickey Mouse," he quipped. But he would say no more.

Mr. Bennett shrugged off opposition demands that B.C. Hydro and provincial finances were in trouble and that he would call a snap election on his return.

CAGEY REPLY

"I came back and I haven't announced one," he said, but when asked if this meant there was no chance of a June election the premier replied: "I didn't say that."

He said opposition critics would claim it was extravagant boasting but "the government has never been in as good financial shape as now" and B.C. Hydro is in no difficulty.

"Within weeks the opposition parties will say we have too much money," he predicted.

Mr. Bennett said the government at this moment has $100 million invested in short-term securities on top of the advance payment received from the U.S. for the Columbia project.

But he said the government would prefer to keep the nest egg "intact" as a reserve for contingencies on the power project construction so it may try to borrow the money for current bills if the market rate is favorable.

The premier, in response to questions, said he did not intend to interfere in the looming labor-management crisis in which key unions such as the woodworkers, carpenters, pulpmakers, longshoremen and miners — totalling about 50,000 workers —

Committees To Recruit Harvest Help

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter today announced manpower committees will be set up in the lower mainland and southern interior to help meet a harvest help crisis.

"There are recognized critical areas where labor will be urgently required to harvest crops such as strawberries," he said.

Mr. Richter said these crops will ripen by early June on Vancouver Island and mid-June in the Fraser Valley if the weather continues warm.

"Until students are available the situation could be critical without the co-operation of all available persons in the area," he said.

CONSTANT PRESSURE

"Increased vegetable and berry acreage, a return to normal crops in the tree fruit areas and a record grape crop will mean a constant pessure for labor to handle the various crops in all parts of the province."

He said the two regional advisory committees will be set up by the new federal-provincial manpower organizations after consultation with producer organizations and the B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

The regional advisory committees will try to stimulate recruitment of harvest help, act as a clearing house on labor supply and demand and recommend programs to the federal-provincial body.

Calgary Man Admits Theft Of $400 Radio

Earl Keats was remanded to May 20 for sentence.

Detective Walter Calwell testified Keats sold his car which contained the radio in Calgary April 16.

He had it installed here in August for $19 and was to pay $20 per month to the telephone company. Only one payment was made.

Keats said he "just took off to Calgary" after he had a fight with his wife.

They are Mrs. K. D. Stone, president; Mrs. P. J. Vaucher, first vice-president; Mrs. E. Young, second vice-president; Mrs. E. E. Bridgen, secretary; Mrs. O. Matson, membership secretary; Mrs. J. Schleicher, treasurer; Miss J. Leach, assistant treasurer.

Ask The Times

Q. Which city or area in Canada had the highest accident rate in 1965? P.O.

A. That was the district of Surrey with 2.7 fatalities per 10,000 population, according to a Canadian Highway Safety Council survey.

Victoria's rate was .7 fatalities for every 10,000 persons.

Q. How many lanes will the proposed new Gorge bridge have? R.A.

A. Four, say Saanich planning officials.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

100th Birthday For Adventists' Medical Mission

Seventh-Day Adventists throughout the world will celebrate the 100th anniversary of their medical work Saturday.

This work now extends to 189 countries.

B.C. Adventists, with the Victoria church at 983 Pandora Avenue, operate the picturesque Rest Haven Hospital at Sidney, which has a staff of 78 full-time employees under the administration of T. J. Bradley.

Pastor Arthur Spenst will pay tribute to the hospital at the 11 a.m. service in the church and a procession of physicians, specialists, dentists, nurses and hospital workers will join in the centennial service.

Medicos and their wives will sing In the Service of the Lord. Miss Audrey Jackson, director of nurses at Rest Haven, will sing It May Be Today.

17,500 WORKERS

"More than 13,500 medical workers are now employed full time by the Adventist Church," Pastor Spenst said.

Last year, he added, Adventist-operated hospitals, clinics and dispensaries treated nearly 4,000,000 people.

It was on May 14, 1866, that the Adventist Church voted to build a health centre and publish a health journal.

Battle Creek Sanitarium, Michigan, the first of 128 hospitals and sanitariums to be established by the church, admitted its first patient on Sept. 5, 1866.

MEDICAL SCHOOL

The church also operates an accredited medical school 34 schools of nursing, 146 clinics and dispensaries, 35 retirement homes and orphanages, 19 medical launches and 15 major health food companies.

Pastor Spenst says Adventists consider the New Testament text, 1 Corinthians 6:19 and 20 is a clear directive for healthful living:

"Glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's."

UP IN THE CLOUDS are former Victoria rider Jean Dunbar and her 17-hand Palomino gelding, Crown Royal, in what could be called a $3,000 jump at the Calgary Spring Horse Show. Now living at Haney, Miss Dunbar and her "Crown" took THE CROWN in the $3,000 McMahon International Jumping Sweepstake, sailing over the 5-foot 9-inch jumps of the course to beat out 21 other competitors. Earlier in the show Crown Royal cleared a 6-foot 3-inch jump with an 8-foot spread to hang on to second place in the highly contested Puissance Jumping. Miss Dunbar will be returning to her old "stomping grounds" at Victoria Riding Academy for the annual Victoria Day show on Monday, May 23, when a big entry is expected.

Immigration Increases Sharply

Immigration to Canada rose by 8,000 persons in the first quarter of this year compared with the same period last year, the federal immigration department said today.

The total was 30,713 against 22,279 in the first quarter of 1965.

Bulk of the immigrants — 8,455 — came from the United Kingdom with Italy second at 6,104.

Most of the immigrants — 17,007 — went to Ontario. Quebec attracted 6,071 and B.C. 4,243.

Two-thirds of the immigrants were under 39 years old, with the biggest single group — 5,630 — coming in the 20 to 24 age bracket.

Half the immigrants were destined to become part of the labor force, but the others — mainly wives and children — were not.

By occuption, 5,476 of those who will work were in the manufacturing, mechanical and construction fields.

Second-biggest occupational group was professional and technical, 3,488, followed by clerical, 1,910.

Eaton's Plan Saanich Store

Developers Bid For Expansion

By ROGER STONEBANKS

Expansion of the T. Eaton Company here may be officially announced soon.

The expansion would be in the form of a warehouse and sales outlet in Saanich near the Town and Country Shopping Centre.

It would be supplementary to the existing downtown store.

An announcement would end months of rumors of a second outlet for the department store.

Several developers are known to be bidding for the planned expansion, but none of them will confirm or deny what has become common knowledge in real estate circles.

The only comment locally is: "Any service building area very often sells appliances and things of a heavy goods nature."

Two potential sites are understood to be on Oak Street on both sides of Valley Avenue, and the east side of the 800-block Seymour.

Rezoning applications for both sites have been made to Saanich.

NEXT MONTH

The application for the 800-block Seymour is from Dominion Construction of Vancouver. It is expected to come before council next month prior to a public hearing.

The second rezoning application is from John Bull Construction, also of Vancouver. Decision on this one was tabled at a recent public hearing.

Spokesmen for Dominion Construction were not available for comment.

But a spokesman for John Bull, asked if his application was for a second Eaton's site, replied: "You said it, I didn't."

Because both sites are within half a mile of a junction with an arterial highway, the provincial highways department has the final say in any approval.

And a complicating factor is that the final location of the Patricia Bay Freeway has not been chosen.

OFF DOUGLAS

Last year's metropolitan traffic study by a Toronto research company recommended the freeway swing off Douglas St. just south of Swan Lake and cut behind the Town and Country Shopping Centre to link up with the Rose-Blanshard extension.

'Bogey of Failing' To Disappear For Slow Learner

By DESMOND BILL

Two schools in Greater Victoria this fall will introduce a program of continuous learning that will remove the necessity for children to repeat grades if they are slow learners.

The experiment—which fits education to the child instead of forcing youngsters to fit into the grade mold—is going into practice at View Royal and McKenzie elementary schools.

The policy of continuous promotion is now followed by all elementary schools in the language arts (reading, writing, spelling).

But Irvine Dawson, principal of View Royal school, said today in September his school and McKenzie school, under principal Ronald J. Berod, will follow the policy in the new maths program as well.

In the past a child unable to keep up with his grade's reading program had to repeat the work the next year. He fell behind a grade.

NO GRADES

The continuous learning program does away with grades. Instead, the work formerly covered in the first three grades is split up into seven levels.

Children are expected to complete the seven levels in three years but in practice about one third move ahead faster and one third fall behind. Formerly the slow would have been failed and the brighter youngsters would have been held back.

AT OWN SPEED

Under the continuous promotion policy, however, each child proceeds through the levels at his own speed. Some might take four years to complete the program and others do it in two years.

The wide discrepancy in learning ability was shown in a survey last fall by Mr. Dawson of Grade 6 students. He found some able to read at Grade 10 level and others only up to the level they should have reached in Grade 3.

Mr. Dawson now scrambles all the students in his school in language arts. Instead of following the program for their grade, they are put in the class at their own reading level.

Said Mr. Dawson: "Every one is a lot happier and they are all learning more."

The same sort of thing will now be done with the new maths program, said Mr. Dawson. There will be this difference that, instead of seven fairly definite levels, the maths classes will be divided into two groups.

"This is experimental. We are not sure exactly how the program will develop. Essentially each student will complete a basic maths program, using the new text books, in their first three years," Mr. Dawson explained.

ENRICHED PROGRAM

As in the language arts classes, the maths students will make progress at their own speed. But there will be more opportunity for teachers to give the brighter students an enriched program in the subject.

Mr. Dawson said the policy of continuous promotion means a child who fails what would formerly have been the program in one grade, now simply picks up the following year at the level where he stopped the year before. In the old days the child would have been forced to repeat the year's work.

HIGHER GRADES

The policy has implications for the whole school program, said Mr. Dawson.

"If it is worthwhile, and it obviously is going to be, it will likely be carried on into the higher grades."

Mr. Dawson said that since ability varies from one subject to another, it is likely that some students may be studying language at an advanced level and maths at a much lower level.

Students to Sell Firewood Saturday

More than 150 Esquimalt High School students are expected to turn up at Clover Point Saturday for a saw and chopping log bee.

The firewood will be sold to the public at $1 a car-trunk load.

Proceeds will go towards the school's scholarship fund.

Six Months For Passing Bad Cheques

Gordon McKay, 2665 Florence Lake Road, received a six-month jail term in central court today after pleading guilty to writing a series of cheques on a bank account which had less than $1 in it.

Saanich detective Norman Baker told the court the accused admitted using the worthless cheques to buy shoes, gasoline and receive change in cash early this month. The cheques totalled $50.

McKay also used two bad cheques totaling $40 to buy goods from Langford Building Supplies, 940 Goldstream, earlier in April.

The court was told he was serving a suspended sentence for a similar conviction at the time he cashed the current series of bad cheques.

Week Remand In Custody For Shoplifting

Shoplifting goods worth $2.42 Thursday meant a week in jail to await sentence for a woman who pleaded guilty in central court today to theft.

Mrs. M. Grover, Victoria, pleaded guilty to taking a hair brush, nail varnish, hair tonic and elastics from the Hudson's Bay Co., 1701 Douglas.

STORE DETECTIVE

A store detective caught her as she was slipping the brush up her coat sleeve, court was told.

Misusing Credit Card Puts Woman In Jail 4 Months

A woman who admitted using a credit card she found in her new apartment to buy close to $300 worth of goods was sent to jail for four months today.

Margaret Mueller received similar jail terms on each of eight counts of false pretences when she appeared for sentencing in central court.

"It's regretful to see a woman of your background and intelligence in this situation," Magistrate William Ostler told her in passing sentence.

At her trial a week ago Miss Mueller pleaded guilty to the offences. She used the credit card to buy $288.53 in goods from the T. Eaton Co., including the dress she wore in court.

Wall St. Slips Again

Wall Street was heading for another loss today but selling pressure had eased despite continued bad news from the car industry.

Light losses were reported in Vancouver and Toronto.

New York trading volume headed for the 8,000,000 level, slightly higher than Thursday.

Stocks were battered downward in the morning with the ticker tape five minutes late and some leading issues losing several points. Trading slackened, the tape came abreast of transactions and many issues improved from their lows of the day.

Despite the selective improvement, Xerox was still down 6, Texas Instruments 6, Chicago and North Western 3, New York Central, General Electric and Boeing 2 or more.

The news that car sales for the first 10 days of May were below the like period a year ago was linked with the decline. General Motors and Chrysler cut their losses to a shade below a point; Ford, the one firm with a rise in sales, traded about unchanged.

There was no arguing with the general bearishness, however.

AT VANCOUVER 16 stocks dipped to new lows in dull trading before noon today.

Most of the losses were in the mining section, where 13 of the new lows were recorded.

Cariboo-Bell was off 15 to $2.25; Cascade down 12 to $1.18; Endako off 25 to $11.75; Galaxy off one to 35, and Homestake off three to 37.

Jersey was off three to 34 cents; Mt. Washington down one to 32 cents; Madrona off five to 90 cents; Nadina down 15 to $2.15; National Exloration off ½ to 13½ cents; Peso off five to $1.10; Silver Titan off 10 to $2.90 and Utica down two at $1.36. All were new lows.

Brenda slipped 20 to $6.80; Bethlehem was off 25 to $5.85, and Bornite lost four to 43 cents. Croydon was up 10 to $1.05.

In the industrials, Centennial Mortgage dropped 10 to $1.55; B.C. Telephone lost .50 to $64, and Massey-Ferguson was off 75 to $34.75.

In oils, Fort St. John was at a new low of 95, off six, and Futurity dropped four to $1.01.

AT TORONTO stocks recovered some of their earlier losses in light mid-afternoon trading.

The industrial index, a measure of key stock movements was only down .43 to 161.49, although it had reached a low of 161.19 before snapping back.

Volume appeared headed for its lightest turnover this year as a total of 1,790,000 shares changed hands compared with 1,951,000 at the same time Thursday.

In the main list, Interprovincial Pipe Line and B.C. Telephone dropped 1 each to 79 and 63, and Alcan Aluminium and Canadian British Aluminium a ½ each to 39⅛ and 23. Bell Telephone was up ⅝ to 51⅛.

AT MONTREAL utilities were up, but most other sections moved fractionally lower in light trading.

Papers were off, with Domtar and Great Lakes each dropping ¼ to 18 and 27 respectively.

AT LONDON the end of the account brought quiet conditions on the stock market today. Some of the international favorites recovered from Thursday's softness but price changes overall were small.

Pine Point, Pyramid Eye Merger

Pine Point and Pyramid mines, with rich lead-zinc properties in the Northwest Territories, are considering a merger, it was reported today.

J. G. Jewitt, president of Pine Point, a subsidiary of the giant Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. (Cominco), said talks are under way but that a final decision has not yet been reached.

He said directors of Pine Point will consider the proposition at a meeting in Montreal Monday.

Firm Locates Nickel, Copper

CALGARY (CP) — Rainbow Oil Ltd. today reported a find of nickel and copper, more than 100 feet thick in places, in the Otter Lake area of northeastern Saskatchewan.

However, company president L. C. Morrisroe said the exploration program was halted by spring breakup. "The results obtained to date are not sufficient to warrant any definite conclusions."

Scurry planned to continue drilling this summer. It said four of five holes found copper-nickel sulphides. Deposits have not been assayed and there was no estimate of reserves.

Also entertained at the coffee party in Government House, Thursday morning, were the wives of the delegates attending the Shipbuilding Association of Canada conference, which was held in the Empress Hotel Wednesday and Thursday. Delegates were representing the major shipyards across Canada. Pictured are some of the wives from eastern Canada: left to right, Mrs. Burton Frellick, Halifax; Mrs. C. D. Atkins, Montreal; Mrs. Carl A. Shore, St. Catharines, Ont., and Mme. Laurent Marchand, Sorel, P.Q.

SAYS PROFESSOR EMERY:

Snobbery Has No Place in Arts

A plea to divorce the arts from snobbery was made by Prof. Anthony Emery when he spoke at the annual dinner meeting of the Victoria Home Economics and Dietetic Association, held in the Colony Steak House, Wednesday evening.

Emphasizing that art appreciation was the right of all people and not to be confined to certain privileged groups, Prof. Emery also advised, "Anyone can enjoy the arts if they are willing to invest something in the quest of knowledge. You're not going to learn anything unless you're prepared to look foolish."

A professor in the fine arts department of the University of Victoria, the speaker noted that North America was experiencing "an incredible upsurge" in appreciation of all the arts and many of his students had obviously been given a good grounding at the high school level.

He was impatient with those "who are constantly digging up the seed of Canadian culture to examine it" and stressed that the arts are flourishing in Canada. He continued, "The big job of all of us is to create demand by buying and so stimulate artistic growth."

The speaker, who received most of his education in England, felt that Europe was lagging behind North America in its ability to 'marry' arts to the masses. "There, the Establishment dies hard and it is sitting on the artistic digestion."

Speaking on "Arts and the Home," the professor made these recommendations.

"Start buying, pottery or ceramics is a good way to begin. Drawings and prints can also be bought at prices geared to most families' incomes.

Prof. Emery also pointed out that the gallery shows changed every three weeks. He also corrected the misconception that, in order to attend the university's fine arts course, would-be students must have normal qualifying education.

"You can be an auditor student and, if attending day sessions is impracticable, you can always enroll in our night courses."

The speaker was introduced by Miss Joan Groves and thanked by Mrs. M. Head.

President Mrs. W. C. Horning introduced head table guests and Miss H. Campbell said grace.

During the business meeting which preceded Prof. Emery's talk, Mrs. K. Bradley moved a motion that $150 be sent to the University of British Columbia for a bursary. In her treasurer's report, Mrs. Bradley announced a bank balance of $107.31, $305.63 set aside for bursaries and bonds amounting to $3,000.

Other reports were given by Mrs. J. M. Kennaird, program: Mrs. J. Warrington, social and convener of the dinner meeting; Miss Nora Vicars, publicity, and Mrs. R. G. Brewer, judging. Others on last year's executive were Mrs. G. Whittaker, secretary; Mrs. T. Scrase, newsletter, and Mrs. G. MacKenzie, hospitality.

Mrs. D. Kirshner was installed as the new president. Serving with her will be: Vice-president, Mrs. Scrase; treasurer, Mrs. Bradley; secretary, Mrs. J. Clay; program, Mrs. Kennaird; publicity, Miss Vicars; judging, Mrs. Brewer; social, Mrs. N. Graham; past president and hospitality, Mrs. Horning.

Victoria Man Married In Vancouver Ceremony

Many Vancouver Island residents travelled to North Vancouver recently to hear vows exchanged between Janet Hogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hogg of North Vancouver, and Brian Frederick Dennison Caddick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Caddick, 504 Constance Avenue, Victoria. They included Mr. and Mrs. T. Harper, Rear-Admiral T. B. McLean and Mrs. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. W. Putt, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Speller, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. E. Woolley, Mr. and Mrs. G. McIlvenny, Mrs. F. Maybee and Mr. and Mrs. H. Ward.

Others from out-of-town were Mrs. G. Hamilton, London, England; Mrs. and Miss C. Badgley, Mr. and Mrs. Norris, Miss H. McDougall, Mr. and Mrs. K. Longridge, all of Winnipeg; Mrs. J. Simmons, Calgary, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Trythall of Fraser Lake.

Easter lilies and spring flowers decorated St. John's Anglican Church for the ceremony at which Canon L. A. Smith officiated. "Green Sleeves" and "Jerusalem" were played during the late-afternoon service.

Mr. Hogg gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a full-length gown of satapeau, styled with lily point sleeves and a chapel-length train extending from an empire waistline. A hand-made rose and lily of the valley held the bouffant cathedral-length veil of nylon illusion. In addition to an all-white bouquet of orchids, stephanotis and lily of the valley, the bride carried a silver horseshoe which had been carried by her mother at her own wedding.

Floor-length gowns of daffodil yellow dotted Swiss over taffeta were the choice of the bride's attendants who were matron of honor, Mrs. Keith Morrison, and bridesmaids, the Misses Cynthia Badgley, Donna McDougall and Jean Morris. Fern accented their white daisy bouquets.

A reception followed at the Coach House in West Vancouver where the bride's table had a decor of yellow marguerites, daisies and ferns. W. Popham of Bournemouth, England, proposed the toast to the bride.

The newlyweds will make their home in Montreal.

TO PLAY HOOKY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Lyndon Johnson's daughter Lynda Bird may play hooky on graduation day at the University of Texas.

Informed sources say that Lynda is thinking of skipping the commencement ceremony at Austin June 4 to get an early start on her planned trip to Europe—a long-promised graduation gift from her parents.

Sources explained that since Lynda's graduating class in the Liberal arts college of the university is quite large she is thinking of bypassing the traditional graduation exercises.

Dominion Drama Festival Begins Week-Long Round of Entertaining

The Dominion Drama Festival governors, competing casts and out-of-town guests attending the festival this coming week will find their social calendars crowded with events, beginning today.

This morning about 150 visitors from across Canada gathered in Victoria for the Western Canadian Educational Theatre conference and opening meet of the festival itself. The affair is taking place in the University of Victoria Phoenix Theatre, directed by conference chairman Carl Hare.

The conference will conclude with a luncheon, Sunday in the Empress Hotel ballroom from 12:30 to 2 p.m. Guest speaker will be Marius Goring, well-known British actor, who will be adjudicating during the week.

Monday, the opening day of the festival, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes will entertain the governors, casts and out-of-town guests at tea in Government House, from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

The following day, refreshments will be served and a tour of Butchart Gardens given by Mr. and Mrs. Ian Ross, from 3 to 6 p.m., Wednesday the group will tour the Canadian Services College Royal Roads, at 2:30 p.m. Tea will be served.

The governors' court, the annual business meeting, will be held at 10 a.m. in the Empress Hotel.

Lady Laura Maze, festival governor-at-large, will entertain Saturday morning at a coffee party in her home at 1121 Beach Drive, for past Canadian Drama Award winners who are in the city.

Every evening the Playhouse Green Room will be open for hospitality for governors and casts.

During the week, the individual hostesses of each visiting drama group will entertain the group in her home. The hostesses are Mrs. Malcolm Taylor, Mrs. W. H. Hickman, Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mrs. W. L. Fahey, Mrs. Burton Kurth and the Uvic Players Club, Mrs. D. Mason Hurley and Mrs. Graham Harper.

Centennial Tea

As their main fund-raising project for the year, members of the Victoria Council of Women will hold a centennial tea next Wednesday, in the new Goodwill Enterprises building, corner of Bay Street and Wilson Street.

The major portion of the proceeds will be used to help the national council project of establishing the Lady Aberdeen Memorial library in the University of Waterloo, Toronto.

Mrs. C. R. Oxtoby, president of the Quita Nichol auxiliary to Goodwill Enterprises will open the affair at 2 p.m. and council president, Mrs. Bert Noel will receive the guests.

Among the featured attractions of the event will be a home-cooking stall, convened by Mrs. Freeman King, raffles and door prizes. Co-conveners of the tea are Mrs. E. L. Johns and Mrs. S. T. Morrow.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Daniel, 825 Foul Bay Road, announce the recent marriage of their elder daughter, Pamela Joan, to Mr. William F. G. Bunce, Toronto. The wedding took place in St. Peter's Anglican Church, Erindale, Ont., and a reception followed in the Willow's Credit Valley Golf Club. The couple left for a honeymoon trip to Bermuda and will make their home in Toronto when they return.

Giant Raid Rips North Viet

135 Missions Blast Targets

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots hit North Viet Nam with 135 missions in the greatest air raid of the Viet Nam war, a military spokesman said today.

The American air armada raged up and down the Communist nation Thursday, smashing military and communication targets and shot down a Communist MiG that Red China claims was hers.

The air force sent 86 missions and 7th Fleet carriers 49 missions over North Viet Nam, striking bridges, storage areas and automatic weapons sites near Hanoi, Dong Hoi and Vinh.

150,000 LABORERS

The pilots also returned to the Mu Gia Pass that leads into the main infiltration routes to the South. The pilots have been hitting the pass regularly for weeks, but the Communists consider it so important they have put an estimated 150,000 laborers to work clearing it.

It was 50 miles south of Red China and 105 miles northwest of Hanoi that a Phantom Jet blew apart a MiG-17 with a heat-seeking Sidewinder missile.

Communist China claimed American jets violated its air space and shot down the Communits plane while it was on a training mission in southern Yunan province 25 miles on their side of the border.

Meanwhile a Washington warning that North Viet Nam's three jet airfields may be bombed raised the possibility today of a stepped-up air war in Southeast Asia.

U.S. officials implied that the bombing of the airfields—an action which could be regarded as a major new step in the Viet Nam war—might take place if American planes began to suffer losses from MiG fighter attacks.

This was the first time the prospect had been raised that bombs would be dropped on the air bases, which are situated within a dozen miles of the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi.

Officials said the raids on N. Viet Nam Thursday destroyed two anti-aircraft sites, 18 railway boxcars, 13 warehouses, dozens of junks and cargo barges, several bridges and military warehouse. The navy struck along the coastal areas and the air force ranged further inland.

The largest previous U.S. air assault on North Viet Nam was on April 4, 1965, when U.S. pilots flew 250 sorties against the Communist nation.

China 'Invasion' Denied

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Air Force today strongly denied Peking's charge that American fighters intruded into China to shoot down a Chinese plane Thursday.

The air force said one of its missile-firing F-4C Phantoms brought down a Communist MiG-17 over North Viet Nam 20 to 25 miles south of the Chinese border. A U.S. spokesman indicated the Americans think the plane was North Vietnamese, not Chinese.

China's first acknowledgment of any plane losses in the Vietnamese war placed Thursday's air battle northeast of Makwan, 25 miles north of the border, in China's Yunnan province. It called the incident "an act of war provocation" and said "the debt in blood owed by U.S. imperialism to the Chinese people must be cleared."

The spokesman said the American pilots did not see the markings on the Communist jets. The closest they got to any of the MiGs was 1¼ miles.

MARKINGS SIMILAR

North Vietnamese and Chinese aircraft markings are strikingly similar and would be difficult to distinguish at the supersonic speeds involved, he said.

Maj.-Gen. Gilbert Meyers, deputy U.S. Air Force commander in Viet Nam, cast doubt on speculation that the Chinese had committed their planes to the war. He told reporters: "We have no evidence that the Chinese have come in."

Meyers also said it was "inconceivable" that the Phantoms could have strayed into China Thursday. He said they were with an RB-66 which carries a highly experienced navigator and advanced radar and electronic gear.

Peking's New China news agency said five U.S. fighters attacked a training flight of Chinese planes at 4:17 p.m. Thursday and shot down one of the aircraft with an air-to-air missile. The type of plane was not specified.

The broadcast said the Chinese planes counter-attacked but the American aircraft fled to the southwest. No U.S. planes were reported shot down.

'Next Few Months Critical'

HONOLULU (AP)—Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, expects the next few months to be critical in the war, but adds "the war will not be over in a matter of months."

Westmoreland spoke to reporters in Honolulu Thursday on arrival for a week of conferences.

Asked if he had enough manpower to win the war he replied: "That depends entirely on the action of the enemy and the way the war develops during the future months."

There are indications, Westmoreland said, "that the North Vietnamese army forces are down in the south in strength and will attempt some major initiatives in the monsoon season."

The monsoon season has arrived and Westmoreland said it is "much more intensive this year than last year."

Westmoreland said "the political unrest seems to have settled down quite a bit although it remains quite a problem . . . in the three northern provinces."

"We're mired down in mud more than political problems at the moment," he said.

FESTIVAL OPENS SUNDAY

Drama Experts Arriving For 'Overture'

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Experts in various fields of drama from all parts of Canada converged on University of Victoria's Phoenix Theatre this morning.

Their arrival marked the beginning of a triple theatre conference that will serve as overture to the opening Sunday night of the Dominion Drama Festival finals at McPherson Playhouse.

This is only the second time in DDF history since it became a full-length play festival in the late 40s that the finals have been held in Victoria.

100 REGISTER

The three preliminary days of joint conference of Western Canadian Educational Theatre, Canadian Child Drama Association and Dominion Drama Festival, drew early registration this morning of close to 100, but many more were expected to arrive later in the day and on Saturday.

Theme for the opening address was a broad one — Canadian Theatre, Here and Now. Speaker was Tom Hendry, executive secretary of the Canadian Theatre Centre and founder, with John Hirsch, of the Manitoba Theatre Centre.

Mr. Hendry referred to the Canada-wide burgeoning of theatre activity and the role played by some provincial governments—particularly Ontario, Quebec, Saskatchewan and Manitoba—where notable leadership has been shown.

ONE IN 20

But he balanced his optimism by pointing out only one million, or one in 20 Canadians go out to see live theatre, opera and ballet.

No one seems to know the reason why, he commented, but he felt that leadership at a provincial level, such as legislation to form a government arts council, would have an important bearing on the problem.

Tonight playwrights will gather in a workshop session with one of Canadian theatre's most outstanding women, Norma Springford, who was a DDF regional adjudicator last year.

Saturday's sessions will see the opening of the DDF conference with a keynote address by Guy Beaulne, Director General of Artistic Training, Department of Cultural Affairs, Quebec.

In the evening there will be a special conference performance of Ionesco's Rhinoceros by the Uvic Campus Players.

File Closed

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP) — The file on an air crash in which 118 persons died, was finally closed when a coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

The coroner's inquiry opened Dec. 3, 1963, three days after an Air Canada jet airliner crashed at nearby Ste. Therese on a flight from Montreal to Toronto.

POLICEMAN INHERITS VAST KING FORTUNE

CHICAGO (UPI)—A spinster heiress to the King ranch fortune in Texas has willed her entire estate, which may be worth $10 million, to a Chicago policeman, "my dearly beloved friend."

Miss Alice B. Atwood, who died last Dec. 11 at the age of 85, was the granddaughter of Capt. Richard King, founder of the famed King ranch. The ranch once totaled more than a million acres.

The policeman is Michael J. de Bella, 34, father of five children. He has been on the police force for eight years.

The will stated Miss Atwood's intention and desire to specifically disinherit two brothers and a sister. It was dated Dec. 2, 1964, and was admitted to probate April 1.

Internal Split Complicates Lenkurt Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—A bitter labor dispute that has produced two days of chanting picket lines and open clashes with RCMP erupted in a different direction Thursday night.

A union business agent was deposed by international officers and some rank-and-file members chased after the man who said he was taking over.

The dispute started April 26 at the big electronics plant of Lenkurt Electric Co. in suburban Burnaby when about one-quarter of the 800 workers walked off their jobs in a disagreement over working overtime.

Lenkurt termed the walkout illegal and promptly fired all of the strikers, members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (CLC).

Scuffles that broke out Wednesday morning on the picket line changed Thursday morning into battles with three dozen RCMP officers called out to help non-striking Lenkurt employees get into the plant.

Eight pickets were arrested for obstructing or assaulting police officers. The pickets included members of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, the International Woodworkers of America and the Vancouver Labor Council.

STRIPPED OF POWERS

Thursday night an open split developed between Angus Macdonald, IBEW local president, and business agent Art O'Keefe. International IBEW officers stripped O'Keefe of his powers and gave them to Macdonald.

At a member's meeting Thursday night, Macdonald was thrown out, and O'Keefe accused international union leaders of breaking the union's constitution by interfering with the local's affairs.

Sentence Commuted

EDMONTON (CP)—The death sentence passed on Lloyd Dennis Lyding, 26, of Edmonton, for the Oct. 19, 1964, killing of his wife, was commuted by the federal cabinet today to life imprisonment.

Lyding is in Fort Saskatchewan, Alta., jail, where the death sentence was to have been carried out early next Wednesday.

Refinery Blasted

ADEN (UPI)—An explosion believed triggered by hand grenades or a time bomb blasted an oil refinery today, destroying two large tanks at the British Petroleum Co. plant. No casualties were reported.

Strike Called Off

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Belgian doctors today called off a scheduled 24-hour strike after the government agreed they could raise their fees.

Real Tension

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev is believed to have returned in unusual secrecy from his mysterious mission to Romania, diplomatic sources said today.

Brezhnev has made past secret trips to other eastern European nations. But in each case, the trip has been publicly announced almost immediately after his return to Moscow.

The sources said the unusual secrecy was a further indication of real tension between Russia and Romania.

Egg Heads Talk It Over Before Hatching

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Margaret Vince of Cambridge University says she has proved quail eggs send signals to one another in the 48 hours before they hatch.

She says they do this to make sure they all hatch together, although they were laid at different times.

The scientist has been working on this project for three years and reported in an interview Thursday:

"We have discovered that synchronization of the hatching in some species of birds—such as quail and one or two others—is due to the activity of the embryos themselves.

"The embryos make a clicking noise and these signals mean the embryos can either bring forward or retard the hatching time."

She said they can slow the hatching time of an advanced embryo.

"We have found they make sounds and movements almost continuously in the two days before hatching," she added. "Moreover, we can feed artificial signals to the embryos. We do this on a machine which amplifies the noises we have recorded from other embryos."

By tricking the eggs in this fashion, the scientist said, she and co-workers have been able to bring forward the hatching time.

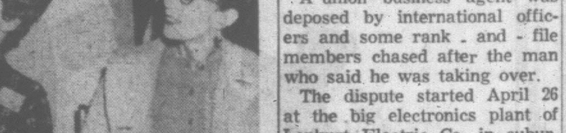
"We have experienced trouble in trying to retard it," she added.

She said she believes the embryos make their signals by breathing and not by knocking on the inside of their shells.

"The eggs must be in actual contact with one another in the nests," she explained, "for the signals to get through."

She described her three years' work as fundamental research and said that she hopes in the years to come to discover much more about the hatchability of eggs and what effect the signals may have on the birds in later life.

In hatchings under natural conditions, the shorter the over-all time between the appearance of the first and the last chick, the lighter the nesting burden on the hen, which would be hard-pressed to guard and feed a lively bunch of chicks while still keeping unhatched eggs warm.



We ought t' act our best while th' Dominion Drama Festival folks are in town—like goin' t' see 'em.

BUT HARD TO PROVE

Cancer Researchers Think Serum Answer

An immunity against cancer? Researchers are highly intrigued by that question today, and slowly, some answers may be forthcoming.

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In dozens of laboratories, scientists are focussing on one question: Does man harbor a secret defence against cancer — and can it be called upon to fight against tumors.

Most researchers believe the answer is yes, but the way of proving it is elusive.

No one at present can tell how close or how far research is from a proven vaccine against cancer, or a proven anti-serum agains tumors.

This month at Wayne State University in Detroit one research team told of preliminary work on a small number of cancer patients and a tentative effort to prod their body defences against their disease.

YOUTH IN OLD FIGHT

The group is young. Dr. Norbert B. Czajkowski, a resident at Detroit Receiving Hospital, and Dr. Fred R. Cushing, a resident at Harper Hospital, are 27. The group's immunologist, Melvyn Rosenblatt, a sophomore medical student at Wayne State, is 29. But the group has some experienced overseers.

They have treated 20 patients with what they hope is an anti-body-stimulating method. Two had complete loss of tumors, eight showed some tumor abatement, and 10 others died.

Even critics concede that the work could hold an interesting idea on how the body's defences might be mobilized against cancer.

The Wayne researchers sought a way of doing this by linking sample cells from a patient's tumor to material the body would recognize as foreign — and by reinjecting the linked material into the patient.

To obtain known foreign material, they chose the rabbit — clearly a genetic stranger to man. From the rabbit they took globulin, a protein part of the blood.

The cancer cells then were injected back into the same a patient. Researchers believe they recognized a spectrum of anti-bodies — including agnaets against the rabbit globulin, against the tumor itself, and against the larger, complex molecule.

MAY AWAKEN DEFENCES

There would be two items of import in the Detroit work, besides a usable therapeutic technique. First, the doctors may have demonstrated that human tumors do have the ability to awaken the anti-body defences. Second, the presence of the more-recognizable rabbit protein may have enhanced the body's anti-body response.

But the human patient is already a part of other experiments, although information is scarce. At Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y., several studies involving humans have been performed recently.

Dr. Sigmond H. Nadler and Dr. George E. Moore reported they had exchanged small parts of tumors between individuals to try to get one cancer patient to develop antibodies to the tumor of another. Then, they reaped the white blood cells from each cancer patient and reinjected them into the original tumor donor. They have been quiet about results. Of 26 full-term patients, seven showed some response, two showed complete loss of tumor at least temporarily, and five showed some decrease in tumor size. All but one case was black cancer of the skin.

SEARCH FOR PROD

Besides these rather spectacular approaches, there are a hundred more quiet projects involving long and difficult serum work, trying to determine whether cancer cells do have a prod that the body's defences will recognize.

Some researchers have found immune proteins produced by leukemic cells, and suggest that such cells might be mobilized to produce large amounts of anti-bodies in test tubes when challenged by other tumors.

Whatever the approach, the impact of the slightest hint of good news often brings a great but premature reaction from patients prepared to grasp at a straw.

After one recent report, one hospital recorded 1,200 telephone calls and hundreds of telegrams and letters, most of them pleading for the yet-incomplete experimental material. In this and similar cases, researchers must reply that access to the experimental work is simply impossible.

And none of the immunity techniques to date are desirable for use on human patients at the expense of conventional treatment, they emphasize.

First Find Customer For Shark

OTTAWA (CP)—The fisheries department has an idea how to solve the problems West Coast fishermen are haying with dogfish sharks: Sell them.

Markets are developing in the United Kingdom, Japan and Germany for dogfish meat products. And the fisheries price support board suggests a $10 a ton subsidy.

But there's no guarantee dogfish will ever become a popular catch, says I. S. McArthur, support board chairman.

Fishermen have a long-standing grudge against the 18 to 24-inch sharks. They blame dogfish for stealing bait and fouling nets.

He told the Commons fisheries committee Thursday marketing is the most effective way. It worked well before—so well that dogfish were almost eliminated—and it can work again.

ALMOST EXTINCT

The population recovered when synthetics and cheaper sources took over the vitamin A market. And in 1955, fishermen started complaining about dogfish in their nets.

Mr. McArthur said outside the committee fishermen reap only modest returns now, but a subsidy and success with other experiments could make the fish marketable. He said carning experiments have met limited success.

West Coast fishermen want the sharks destroyed as a nuisance, he said.

Wreck, Bodies Found

SEATTLE (AP)—A seaplane which vanished Friday on a flight from Neah Bay to Seattle was found crashed on a heavily wooded hillside Wednesday just west of Neah Bay. Both occupants were dead. Lee Schubert, 20, was pilot of the craft and his passenger was Richard M. Latschaw, 40, a partner in Elsco Marine Electronics of Seattle.

might wind up in strikes this summer.

"I am not getting involved in it at all," he said.

CUTBACKS

But to give leadership to a policy of anti-inflationary restraint, the premier said he has ordered the public works department to examine its projects to see which could be suspended or cut back.

"But there has been no holdup in health or mental health facilities and there won't be," he added. "They have Number 1 priority."

(Works Minister Chant revealed that the examination includes a review of the centennial museum-archives complex here to see if it could be redesigned for economies; the Duncan courthouse design has been revised but new tenders have not been called; the Vancouver courthouse fountain may be cut back on landscaping.)

The premier said he did complete the formalities in New York for a previously arranged $20 million borrowing on behalf of B.C. school district construction programs. He said the 20-year serial bonds were sold for "about 5½ per cent" interest.

He Didn't See What Was Coming For Looking In

A man with a record for breaking and entering was sentenced to 45 days in jail in central court today on a loitering charge.

Dennis Dunbar, 23, of 529 Comerford St., pleaded guilty at an earlier hearing.

Dunbar had a conviction for breaking and entering in Duncan in 1964, court was told.

Thomson Buys Head

LONDON (AP) — Canadian-born publisher Lord Thomson today paid £5,040 ($15,120) for Sir Jacob Epstein's bronze head of Sir Winston Churchill. A spokesman for Christie's, the auctioneers, said: "Lord Thomson bought the bronze to give to Churchill College, Cambridge. As Sir Winston was a contributor to The Sunday Times, Lord Thomson thought it would be a nice gesture."

Inventory Post For Ex-Victorian

W. Arthur Benson, 42, a native of Victoria, has been appointed chief of Canada Land Inventory in the federal forestry department, Ottawa.

He holds a bachelor of science degree and a master of science degree from the University of British Columbia. He majored in botany and zoology and also did post-graduate studies in ecology and business administration at Iowa University.

From 1950 to 1957 Mr. Benson was chief biologist with the Saskatchewan department of natural resources.

Impaired Drivers

Thomas Hurtack, 1275 Glen Rd., swerving and weaving on Government St. early today, $350, licence suspended.

Kenneth Roy Suddaby, 4193 Carey Rd., weaving on Douglas April 16; sentenced to 20 days for second offence and prohibited drom driving except for business for six months.

Siamese Twins Die

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) —Siamese twin girls, born in Bridgeport 12 days ago, died at Yale-New Haven Hospital early today of "a severe congenital heart defect." The babies were delivered to Mrs. Michael Daniels, 23, of Southport at Bridgeport Hospital May 2.

Burned to Death

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Police have identified a man burned to death Thursday night when a car was demolished by fire following a two-car collision on the Trans-Canada Highway near here. Dead is Patrick Edward Paiment, 50, of Vancouver. Mr. Paiment, an aluminum awning salesman, was pinned in the wreckage engulfed by flames that shot 30 feet in the air.

Victoria's Kipling Retires Next Month

Rudyard Kipling is a world-famous name.

In this case it belongs to the principal of Oak Bay Junior Secondary School, who is retiring at the end of June after 44 years of teaching.

RUDYARD KIPLING
. . . "staff does the work"

Born in Victoria, Mr. Kipling graduated from Victoria Normal School in 1922 and began teaching at Discovery, B.C., near Atlin, the same year.

He was principal of Squamish Elementary School from 1923 to 1924; a teacher at North Ward Elementary, Victoria, from 1924 to 1928; vice-principal at Victoria West Elementary from 1928 to 1938, and a teacher at Central Junior High School from 1938 to 1943.

Subsequently he was principal of Victoria West Elementary, North Ward Elementary, Willows Elementary and Oak Bay Junior Secondary.

CLOSE TIES

Mr. Kepling's ability to get on with parents, teachers and students is well known and he has built close ties between his schools and the PTA organizations.

In 1963 he received a life membership in the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation, sponsored by Oak Bay Junior PTA.

Before he became a teacher, Mr. Kipling stacked green lumber at Port Alice, on the north end of Vancouver Island, for 35 cents an hour.

In 1922 he sailed north to Skagway in the Princess Louise, then went over Whitepass to Atlin and six miles beyond to Discovery.

WENT HUNTING

"About half my students came from one family," he recalls. "When they caught the measles, school closed and I went hunting ptarmigan."

Mr. Kipling became principal of Oak Bay Junior High when it was built in 1952 and he has taken a major part in its development in scholastics, athletics and student activities. But he always gives credit to the staff under him.

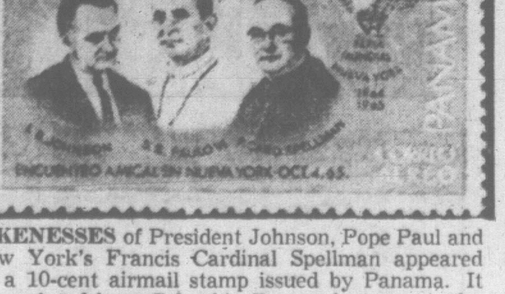
"They do the work," he says.

He was active for years in St. John Ambulance Brigade and not long ago was honored with the degree of Serving Brother.

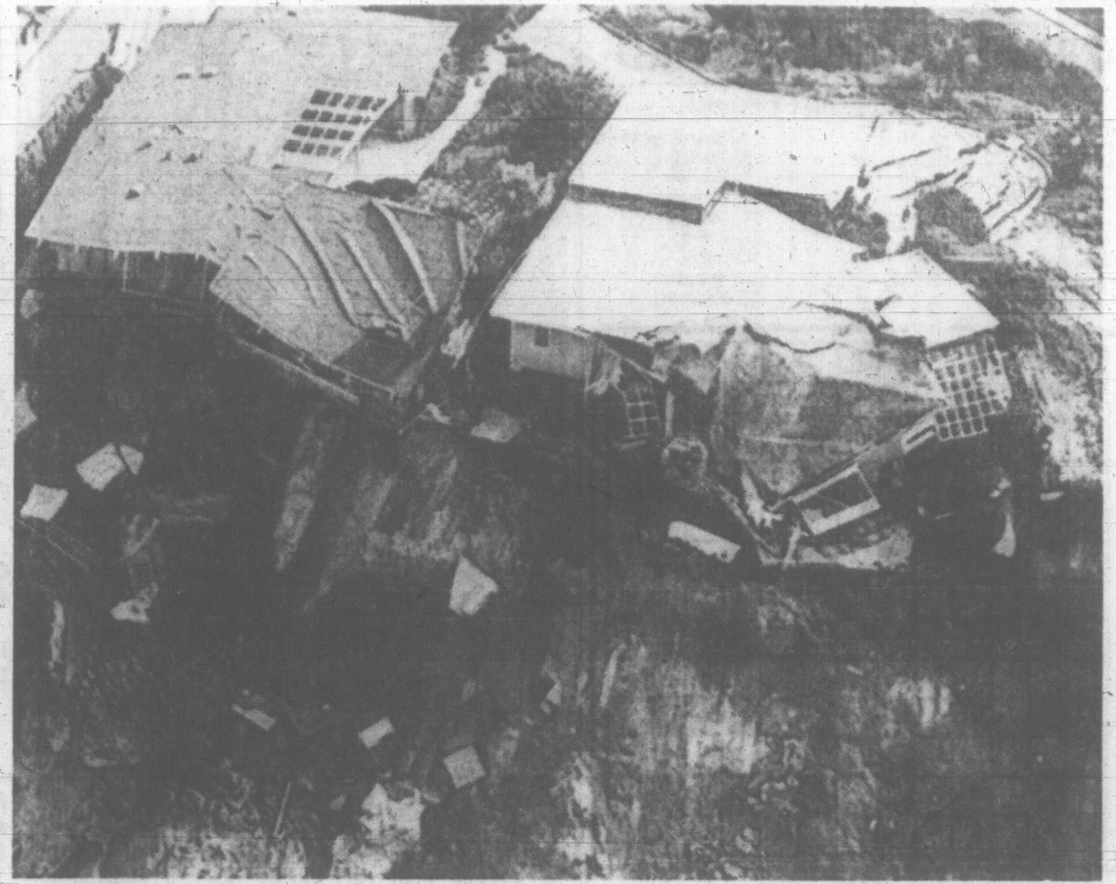
RECEPTION

Mr. Kipling will be guest of honor at a reception in the school auditorium Monday, June 6, at 8 p.m. It is hoped as many of his former students, fellow teachers, staff members and PTA members will attend.

After that, Mr. and Mrs. Kipling will take car trips to different parts of B.C. and the Western United States.



LIKENESSES of President Johnson, Pope Paul and New York's Francis Cardinal Spellman appeared on a 10-cent airmail stamp issued by Panama. It was printed by a Colombia firm and was part of a series commemorating the Pope's visit to the United Nations. Only trouble was, their hair turned auburn. Postmaster-General David Amado of Panama said the original drawing showed their hair in natural color, but it apparently turned auburn in the printing process. (AP Wirephoto.)



TWO HOMES, valued at more than $50,000 each, continued an inch-by-inch slide to destruction and other homes were imperiled as landslides continued to chop away at the exclusive bluffs section of San Clemente. The two houses began sliding down the 150-foot cliff last weekend. (AP Wirephoto.)

LANGFORD FIREMAN'S 3RD

Baby Born in Ambulance

Fireman Stewart Campbell of Langford Volunteer Fire Department has a new title today.

His mates are calling him "doc" after his successful delivery of a baby girl by turning a speeding ambulance into a maternity ward Thursday afternoon.

Driver Phil Goldie was going full tilt toward Royal Jubilee Hospital, but he didn't even come close to making it on time.

The baby, born to Mrs. Janet Stimson, 646 Atkins, arrived en route on the Trans-Canada Highway.

SHE HELPED

It was the third time he lost the battle to the stork. He delivered two babies while working ambulances back on the prairies.

But it was a first in the 15 years of ambulance service at Langford.

ELEVATOR

"The last time we came close the baby was born in the elevator," said Chief Allan LeQuesne.

Mrs. Stimson and her nine-pound-three-ounce daughter are reported "doing very well" by hospital officials.

Zap! Pow! Bop! Ouch! But Dad Watched TV

TORONTO (CP) — Nothing, but nothing disturbs Roger Goudett in his pursuit of the late show.

Downstairs neighbor John Lyons burst into the Goudett apartment and punched Gaudett's wife, Ruby, in the mouth, loosening three teeth.

His wife hit Lyons on the head with a hammer.

Lyons smashed furniture and chinaware before Mrs. Gaudett brought an end to the action by slamming Lyons over the head with a broom and punching Mrs. Lyons in the stomach when she came to her husband's aid.

Gaudett testified he did leave the TV set once but did not interfere because Lyons was "a friend."

Lyons was fined $100 and Mrs. Goudett $50 on assault charges.

FINED $154

Court Finds Defence Is Defective

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) Witnesses Thursday told magistrate's court that defects in the Corvair, a General Motors automobile, could cause carbon monoxide fumes to leak into the car through the heating system.

Ralph L. Jones, 45, of Beamsville, was charged with impaired driving after a crash in St. Catharines on March 9. He pleaded not guilty.

Tom Hills, a service salesman at a General Motors dealership here, said the Corvair heating system could draw carbon monoxide into the car, if the cylinder head gasket was faulty.

Jack Phelan, a St. Catharines service station proprietor, said a broken tailpipe in the exhaust system could also result in dangerous fumes being sucked into the car.

Both men said they repaired Jones' Corvair for these defects.

Jones said fumes from the engine caused him to lose control and cause the crash, although he said he had three drinks before getting into the car.

Magistrate Harley D. Hallett said he felt fumes were not to blame and fined Jones $154.

City Residents Attend Potlatch At Alert Bay

Relatives from Victoria and the mainland attended a potlatch in Alert Bay Wednesday to mourn the passing of Mrs. Grace Matilpi.

The 63-year-old widow was the sister of chief Tommy Hunt, of Victoria, and mother-in-law of famed Indian carver Henry Hunt.

In addition to a sister, Mrs. Agnes Cranmer, of Alert Bay, and a daughter, Mrs. Helen Hunt, of Victoria, Mrs. Matilpi left four sons and three other daughters, 56 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Pipe, Fittings Stolen From New House

About $60 worth of copper water pipe, fittings and a basin were stolen from a house under construction at 635 Vanalman, Saanich police were told Thursday.

In other area thefts, Allan Longley, 3233 Shelbourne, told city police a tape recorder valued at $93 was taken from his car while it was parked at Victoria High School Wednesday night.

Naval Vessels Home Tonight One Day Early

Three navy ships were due back in Esquimalt tonight — a day ahead of schedule.

The destroyer-escort Yukon, ocean-escort Sussexvale and submarine Grilse have been taking part in week-long exercises in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

They were to have returned Saturday but a naval spokesman said they had apparently completed exercises sooner than expected.

The Yukon will dock at 6 p.m., the Sussexvale, at 7 and the Grilse at 7:30.

Careless Drivers

Fined in central court Thursday for careless driving:

Florence Clarke, 809 Selkirk, rear-end collision Johnson St. April 5, $35.

In central court Wednesday:

Leslie Stewart, 1571 Hampshire, struck a fire hydrant, stousign and shelves outside a grocery store at Oak Bay Ave. and Bank St. April 4, fined $40.

CHARLIE'S AMBITION

'Keep Batteries Charged'

LONDON (AP) — Charlie Chaplin has finished shooting his first movie in a decade and says he hopes to start another before long.

"You've got to keep the mental batteries charged," he said Wednesday night, "and there's nothing like activity for doing that. People are telling me I look much better than when I started this movie."

Chaplin, 77, was speaking at a small dinner celebrating the end of studio work on A Countess of Hong Kong. He wrote and directed the film, which stars Sophia Loren and Marlon Brando.

"It's amazing what this picture has done for him," said Chaplin's wife, Oona. "He looks so much younger and yet he's been working harder than anyone — six and sometimes seven days a week."

Chaplin said he will go to his home in Switzerland for a few days, then come back to London to edit the picture and complete the musical score. He said he plans to spend some time with his family, "then I want to make another picture."

First U.K. Polaris

LONDON (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother will launch Britain's first Polaris submarine at Barrow-in-Furness on the northwestern English coast Sept. 15, it was announced today.
